SOMETHING NEW! ANTIFERMENTINE

Preserves Fruit, Cider, Milk, Butter, Eggs, Tomatoes, Catsup, Pickles, Etc.

What is it: It is a simple, harmless preparation, free from taste, smell and color, that has the properties of stopping and preventing fermentation in all vegetable and animal foods.

What it does: It is especially useful for preserving fruits of all kinds without cooking, retaining their natural fresh appearance and taste.

Its Use does away with labor, and makes what has been a hot, disagreeable task, a delight and a pleasure. It substitutes for the Summer heat of the kitchen the cool shade of a lawn or piazza.

Its Results are never doubtful when used according to directions, and Plum Puddings, Peach and Berry Pies can be had in Winter as well as in Summer.

Its Use is profitable and economical, for it saves one-half of the sugar, saves the jars broken by heat, saves the fruit cooked away, and saves the time and labor lost by the old methods.

For Cider it unsurpassed. It stops fermentation at any point desired, and produces a sparkling beverage like Champagne.

The question is sometimes asked, "Is it injurious?" To allay all doubts on that score, we would say that we have consulted many of our most eminent Chemists and Physicians, and all unite in pronouncing the use of ANTIFERMENTINE as a preservative, a perfectly safe and harmless preparation.

The Expert's Report.

The expert, which was hired at an expense of $250 and paid out of the depositors money, has made report and the result has been just what has been feared by many of the defrauded depositors. A mass and array of figures are made which are truly formidable especially to the depositor who had his all in that concern, and most of them pause to wonder, after reading the report, "where they are at." Well, let's take the expert's figures and reckon things in a common sense way a little. The capital stock of the bank on the day of closing was ostensibly $40,000, but the Job brothers owed the bank at that time on notes and accounts $24,456.78, leaving actually but $15,543.22 of capital stock remaining. There was another shortage and charged to the "long and short account" of $2,638.32, which reduced the capital stock to $11,904.90. Not much of a capital stock for a bank whose head man made a business of buying in railroads at two million dollars each. The Niagara mill steel would not whiten, in spite of the expert's evident intent to do so. That $43,634 is a standing evidence of depositors money misappropriated. The report shows that while the Job's had really but $11,904.90 they still inventory $26,246 in real estate, $43,634 in the mills, and converted or conveyed $24,315 in notes to some source to which they are not traceable. The expert "guesses" that they traded them for real estate. It is also stated that $4,976 was paid out for real estate of which there is no record. This makes a total investment for their own benefit of $77,267 in excess of the capital stock, or in other words, made with depositors money. The report concludes with the admission that the moneys invested in the mill property and the other real estate were diverted from the proper care and custody of the bank, but still asserts that the bankers were strictly honest and "relied implicitly on each other." They could afford to.

The report, while trying to make a good showing, proves beyond doubt that the bank of Hamilton, Job & Co. was run by a set of swindlers or by a set of the most totally ignorant men that ever tried to do business in the state of Oregon. The idea of never having a trial balance made of the book in seven years! Was it honest to loan money to each other out of the funds of the bank without security even after the capital stock had long been invested in private wild cat schemes? What has become of the $24,000 and over that are short in the note accounts? The proper court should ask the gentleman to explain.

The report explodes the oft told tale that they hoped to pull through. Any man with a spoon full of brains could have told that the thing was to fall to pieces of its own rottenness. They could not help but know that the bank was going to bust, and every dollar they received on deposit during at least the last week, or month, should lay them open to prosecution for receiving deposits when in an insolvent condition.

Mark the result: There is a man in jail at Corvallis for stealing a suit of clothes. He has no money, and we assert that he will be sent to the pen, and deservedly, too. What then will be the penalty of the promoters of the giant outrage that robbed men, and women, even orphan children of their all. Will they go free?

Surveyor-General Byars has been notified that the survey of townships 12, and 13, south, range 10, west made by A. C. O'Neil has been accepted, and in due time will be thrown open for filing. This will be good news to many of the settlers in these two townships, which are in this county, as there are many of them who have already resided on their lands the required five years. This will add considerable taxable property to Lincoln county next year.

A Friendly Visitor.

This office was visited yesterday morning by R. E. Mulcahy, superintendent of the Oregon Pacific railroad, who took the opportunity to draw the poor, defenseless editor of this paper over the coals in a reckless manner for his utterances of the past few weeks regarding the railroad question. Mr. Mulcahy objected quite seriously to the statement that a free excursion and free dance was given to a lot of Salem boys and girls. He asserted that he paid the musicians for the dance out of his own pocket, and that the other part was done as an advertisement for the Oregon Pacific road, and to increase its traffic and earnings.

Now the facts of the case are simply these: The LEADER has never mentioned Mr. Mulcahy's name nor office in connection with the O. P. matters until now, nor did it make any statement about the fiddlers for their free dances. The LEADER don't care anything about what Mr. Mulcahy has done or will do in his private capacity, but will protest and continue to protest against the wasting of the earnings of the road in running excursions of the Salem kind, and does still continue to assert that a very few of the people who composed that excursion were representative Salem business men and shippers, but were instead composed, principally of just what was stated, a lot of Salem boys and girls, who were out for a royal good time. The LEADER did not charge Mr. Mulcahy of being the originator and promoter of the excursion, neither is it going to quarrel with him if he chooses to receive the point of the attack made upon that farce. He stated that it was done to advertise the road. Now we want to assert that the best advertisement the road can get is to pay up their men for the hard day's work they have expended upon their road, and in their shops and offices. Or at least if they can't pay them a portion of their wages each month, their pro rata of whatever the road earned. That is the only right the LEADER has to make. It is a just and honorable fight, and one we are proud to make. And we intend to keep it up, too, visits from the superintendent notwithstanding, until the men are dealt fairly and honorably by. What has become of the August earnings? What has become of the September earnings? What has become of the October earnings? Is it possible the road only earned enough money to pay the laborers on the road only a paltry fifty per cent of one month's earnings? Why were not the men paid their share? Why are they asked to accept a worthless receiver's certificate—doubly worthless because not issued in accordance with the law—for two and a half month's wages? Where has the money gone that should be able to interpret its own laws; a part of it has gone to defray the expenses of a junketing trip of the receiver in the east and the rest has gone only God and the O. P. head men knows where. Deal square with the laborers.

The World's fair closed last Monday.

Special rates on the Southern Pacific to the Midwinter Exposition have been declared. The rate from Albany will be one-half the regular fare with $2.50 added. This will make it $27.35 to San Francisco and return, with the privilege of remaining there ten days, and including five gate coupons, worth $1 a piece, $1 being the regular admission to the entire exposition, without any side show admissions. These special tickets will be limited to continuous trip (i. e. without stop-over privileges) both going to and returning from San Francisco. The return passage coupon will be an order for a return limited ticket, and must be presented and surrendered for exchange to the agent at the Southern Pacific Company's office, in the Midwinter Fair Grounds.

The O. P. employees held a meeting at Yaquina last Friday night and were met by Superintendent Mulcahy. The employees briefly stated that they could not longer live without some different arrangements, as the hotels and boarding houses had shut down on them and the merchants could carry them no longer. Mr. Mulcahy then made them a nice talk in which he promised them almost everything they wanted or could think of. He defended the certificates issued and promised them a half of October's wages on November 8th. What was to be done with August and September he did not say. He did not dispute that the certificates did not read in accordance with the law, but said they were all right and honest. In short he gave the boys every kind of taffy they could want, but if they get that 50 per cent of October pay on the 8th, it will be the only tangible thing they did get.

Repeal Bill Passed.

The long continued fight on the repeal of the silver purchase clause of the Sherman law was terminated on Monday last, when a vote was finally secured in the senate. The repeal was passed by a vote of 43 to 32. Twenty democrats voted for repeal and eighteen against; and twenty-three republicans voted for and nine against, and the five populists all voted against the bill. Dolph, of Oregon, voted for the bill and Mitchell did not vote but paired with Allison of Iowa, who would have voted for the bill, which virtually makes Mitchell's vote against the bill. The bill now goes back to the house for the concurrence of that body on the senate amendment, which will no doubt be speedily done, and when this takes place silver will cease being purchased by the government.

Ben. C. Irwin & Co., have been getting in their work on the city officials as they will be seen by reading the council report. It is strange how men in a public capacity will disregard the local home interests and patronize foreign institutions. The county officers did the same thing. They ordered 5,000 letter heads at, as they say, they supposed, $6 per thousand and when the material was delivered a bill was sent in for nearly $15 per thousand. This is an outrage on the taxpayers and something they should not permit. The above letter heads could have been printed in this city for $30. Instead Barnard & Co., of St. Louis did the work and charged $75.50 and the commissioners audited the bill, so far as we know, without a protest.—Van-couver Independent.

The Corvallis Times throws its columns open for an assault upon the LINCOLN COUNTY LEADER to which the writer is ashamed or afraid to sign his name. The public will please note that the LEADER has not hunted after any game with an anonymous gun. If the Times has anything to say in the defense of the rotten bank which the LEADER has attacked, or in defense of the theory that the taxpayers should lose the money lost by their county treasurer, we stand ready to defend our utterances. But life is too short to chase down every sneak or coward that must hide behind the cover of a non de plume.

The Soldiers' Home is in exactly the same position it was prior to the injunction suit brought before Judge Burnett last spring—that is, the trustees named by the governor can now proceed in the matter of locating the institution. This condition of things was brought about by a decision handed down in the supreme court by Associate Judge F. A. Moore. The title of the case was: D. C. Sherman, respondent, vs. A. J. Fellows, Jas. Byrou, J. W. Mullan, Charles Nickell and S. S. Train, as trustees of the Oregon Soldiers' Home, appellants; appeal from Linn county. Judgment of lower court reversed, demurrer sustained and cause remanded for such further proceedings as are necessary.
