FARM AND GARDEN.

A Successful Farmer Makes His Plans Long in Advance.

INTERESTING FARM BREVITIES.

Save the Liquid Manure by Using Some Absorbent Material for Bedding-How to Feed.

"Ventilation" does not mean drafts on the stork. So chink up the cracks, When pruning remember a low, compact, vigorous tree will give better re-suits than a tall, sleader one.

Many insects will be killed if land infected with plant lice, cut worms, etc., is plowed before freezing weather sets in. There cannot be a thoroughly good arm unless there is a good water supply. If your farm is wanting in this, spare no fort to correct it.

The 1890 butter product in this coun-try would require 1,000 freight trains of thirty cars each and each car carrying twenty tons to transport it.

The money expended for pure-bred male animals is one of the best invest-ments that can be made, and gains compound interest in a short time.

Sow some clover seed in autumn on winter grain. This may do south of the latitude of Southern Kansas, but north of that line better wait until April.

The modern fruit grower must constantly use insecticides. Get all the in-formation possible this winter so as to intelligently combat fruit pests next sea-SOIL.

One thousand Virginia farmers within a radius of twenty miles of Norfolk are said to have shipped $5,000,000 worth of

If you have an old lot or abandoned road which is to be cropped next season, plow it this fall so the frosts will have an opportunity to mellow the ground. Plow again in the spring.

Save the liquid manure by using some absorbent material for bedding which can be spread over the fields. Straw, sawdust, old hay, leaves, etc., are good and most of them obtainable in all places.

When green cropt are plowed under for the purpose of enriching the soil an application of lime will often be of the greatest benefit. It helps to correct the acidity of the soil that often results from the too rapid fermentation of the green stuff.

The fence law which works the greatest good to the greatest number is which compels a man to fence his own cattle in rather than to fence other people's out. Where this is once tried it is not easy to persuade people to go back to the old way.

A heavy clay soil will hold water like a basin, and no crop can do its best if the plants have wet feet. A subsoil plow that will break deeply without lifting the under soil will make the cropping o such land much more profitable than it has been before. In order to be wholly successful a farmer should make his plans a long time in advance of the day when they must be put in operation. The best way is to mature a plan of operations that will require some years for fully carrying out. This brings better results than the changeable way that some have of trying one way this year and another the next.

The next harvest I shocked it in rows, turned the stubble under with three horses on July 2, rolled and dragged the soil, and put on a light coat of ma-nure again. On the 4th I planted from five to seven grains of corn in hills two feet apart in rows four feet wide; plowed three times, and the horse could not get through any more. I cut it just at frost, laid it in bunches for two days, and then put it in shocks. Resowed the land to wheat. Last harvest I cut my wheat as high as I could. Had a big yield. Put on some more manure; planted in corn the same way; only drilled the grain one foot apart. This year is still better, and (aspberries, $2.40; pineapples, $2.25% 2.80; apricots, $1.65. The interior arrangements of these " infernal regions " are rendered remark-ably effective by the highly colored stalactites which hang from the walls, and which seem to extend for miles, almost, away in the distance. This perspective is produced by means of mirrors. There are mirrors on every hand, and never before has there been a better utilization of the looking glass for illusionary pur-poses. Hidden lights are made use of to add to the effects of the scene, and inand half a dozen skeletoas, dancing gro-tesquely in the foreground, are so relected by mirrors that their number seems to be "legion." At another point after traversing several tortuons avenues the visitor comes upon a clever construc-tion of mirrors above and below and with lights so arranged that there really seem to be no top or bottom to the place, and hence the name of the "Bottomless Pit. Only a little farther away the visitor comes to the "Endless Cave," produced in the same way and quite as interesting.

As the visitor to this remarkable place progresses from point to point, he rises to a higher elevation, and by traversing an almost imperceptible grade he finally finds himself on the shores of a great lake, into which pours a fall of lava, and it is here perhaps that he gets the best dea of this representation of the "in-fernal regions." The effect is produced. fernal regions." of course, by colored lights playing upon the decorations of the structure and by divers and sundry devices for the en-
