Engineers Meet.
 The board of U. S. engineers met at Newport last Friday evening and on Saturday morning made an examination of the works at the mouth of the Bay, and in the afternoon visited the light house at Cape Foulweather. In the evening a meeting was held at the Opera house, at which time the board gave all who desired an opportunity to present any reasons for or against the continuation of the work on the harbor. The first to present a statement was Hon. R. A. Bensell, who gave a brief and concise statement of what had been accomplished and what he believed could be accomplished in the future. He presented cogent reasons for believing that the work had not reached a stage where it was impossible for man to do more.

Hon. W. T. Rigdon, of Salem, then presented a statement from Marion county showing the products of that county and setting forth that their natural route to the markets of the world was through Yaquina harbor. He was followed by Hon. E. Hofer, who gave further statistics concerning Marion county, and the necessity of further improvements of the harbor.
 Hon. H. N. Cockerline, of Eugene, presented in a concise report the amount of products Lane county shipped, and urged that if it was in the power of engineering skill to do so, that further relief be granted to them by deepening the water on the bar, so that the commerce be unrestricted.

In behalf of Benton county Hon. John D. Daly made a strong statement showing the necessity of further improvements. He also depicted in glowing terms what might be expected in the way of commerce when the railroad tapped the great basin of Eastern Oregon, as it was sure to do.

The wealth, commerce and future greatness of Linn county, and the relation of Yaquina harbor to them, was set forth by Mr. C. C. Hogue, of Albany, in a brief and well prepared address. Mr. Hogue went right to the point of the matter and his statement was well received.

Hon. J. K. Weatherford followed the statistical statements with a short speech upon the subject. Mr. Weatherford's voice was not in good shape, but never-the-less he delivered a telling speech. His remarks were pointed and full of dignity and power. Short talks were also made by Mayor McFadden, of Corvallis, Mayor Gatch, of Salem, and others. The meeting was then adjourned.

Senator McBride came over to attend the meeting Saturday evening, but the effort proved too much for him and he was compelled to go to bed upon his arrival at Newport.

Of course it is impossible to predict what the nature of the report of the board will be at this time. The members of the board gave no intimation as to what their findings would be, but those who were most in contact with them when here are very hopeful of a favorable report.
 The board and the members of the various committees returned to the valley on a special train Sunday.

Communicated.
 Editor LEADER:—I having seen several copies of your paper have concluded it was to my interest and also my duty to subscribe for it.
 Through your paper you are working for the development of the resources of the county, and consequently to my interest and every other citizen that has an interest in the county.
 I am a "newcomer," having filed on my homestead here one year ago, and moved here with my family last fall. My wife and I are well pleased with the country, and, although we are poor we are determined if possible to build us up a home. We are desirous also of seeing the country developed in every respect. We want good schools and plenty of them; good wagon roads and bridges; the country settled up with good enterprising people; our present railroad built through to its destination, and another one "to boot;" our coal mines developed; the dairy business built up; several creameries in the county, and more of our rock quarries opened up. We have in a few miles of where we live, near Chitwood station, a rock quarry, owned by the merchant there, which is pronounced by experts to be as good as any in the county, and it is only one amongst many in the county that is only waiting for capital to develop. We need some way of letting people everywhere know just what kind of a country we have got in this "neck o' the woods" and how many natural resources it has got, and it is my candid opinion that there is no better way of doing this than by through a good county paper. And the way to have a good county paper is to support it. Consider that it is a part of our business (which it really is,) and work for it.

 I am willing to do all I can in my poverty stricken condition for advancement of this section of the country for what is the interest of the county is to my interest and to the interest of all living in the county.

Norton Notes.

Many from Norton attended the funeral of Miss Rose Derrick, on May 8th. School was closed that teacher and pupils might pay their last tributes to one who made friends everywhere.

The Norton Sunday school is progressing slowly.

Mrs. Alma Parsons has gone to Kings Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Altree have gone to Toledo.

Mrs. Fred Wagner has been to see Mrs. C. Booth, who is a little better.

Geo. Croxford and family reached Norton last week.

The Norton school ma'am made a trip to her homestead, on Rock creek, last week. Settlers are constantly coming in there.

Pleasure seekers will soon make their appearance for Rock creek is becoming a popular summer resort.

John Skinner is able to be up and out once more.

Hal Skinner returned from Dallas Sunday, where he took teachers' examination.

Mr. Huntington is making improvements on the Brush creek farm.

Two strangers arrived in our neighborhood today, looking for homes.

The Norton store has received its first stock of goods.

During the absence of the family Sunday, Mrs. Porter's house took fire, but was saved by the promptness of Ed. Lyons.
