Mistakes of Orchardists.

Mr. C. L. Whitney, a Walla Walla nurseryman, while at Shelton recently said to a correspondent of the Tacoma Ledger:

"Perhaps one of the greatest mistakes the new beginner makes in planting an orchard is in selecting too great a variety of fruits. Take for an example an orchard of 100 apple trees, and you will often find from 15 to 40 different kinds of apples. Of course, if you are planting a home orchard for your own consumption, this variety may be all right, but if you are planting with a view for profit and to compete in the markets of the world with your apples, you should select a few of the very best and plant plenty of them.

"What kind to plant is a problem which often puzzles the older fruit growers, as well as the new ones. This depends altogether upon your location; for instance, some apples do well in the Yakima and Walla Walla valleys, such as White Winter Pearmain, and Wine Sap, while they grow too small in most parts of the Sound country. On the other hand, the Baldwin and Northern Spy, two of the very best winter apples west of the Cascades, are only fall apples in this locality.

While again other varieties, such as the Yellow Transparent, Gravenstein, Wealthy and numerous other kinds do equally well on both sides of the mountains. Among others the following varieties do extra well west of the Cascade range: Baldwin, Northern Spy, King of Tompkins County, Jonathan, Wealthy, Gravenstein and Ben Davis, East of the divide and throughout the great inland empire, the following apples of the older kinds are planted largely: Ben Davis, Yellow Newton Pippin, Spitzenberg, Rome Beauty, W. W. Pearmain, Red Checked Pippin and Wine Sap, where we have many new apples which are coming to the front to contest for commercial supremacy, such as the Mammoth Black Twig, Arkansas Black, York Imperial, Hoover, Washington and several others.

"The Ben Davis apple has warm friends and bitter enemies. Some people wont plant it at all, while others plant 'Benjamin' by the thousands. Last spring Col. I. N. Peyton, of Spokane, planted 4,000 Ben Davis trees in his 100-acre orchard near Cheney. When they get to bearing, and the tree is a young and regular bearer, he can load a whole train with big red apples and start it across the continent."

Some Modern "Big Things."

Oregon's Disgrace.

The depths of degradation to which a great political party may descend has been illustrated in the chief city of Oregon last week in the struggle for supremacy at the republican primaries.

Never in the political history of the United States has there been noted a more disgraceful scandalous proceeding than that of last Thursday in Portland. It was one long day of rioting, struggling, pushing, crowding and of fraud and intimidation. Hired thugs, pimps, gamblers and all the worst elements of a great city were given control of the very worst elements of our country. So disgraceful was the proceedings that hundreds of honest, respectable republicans went away from the primaries disgusted without casting a vote.

And the saddest part of it was that the bitter disgraceful proceedings were not brought about in a contest for any principle. It was a fight for spoils and nothing else. It was a disgraceful scramble for the offices; for the loaves and fishes. On the one side was arrayed the "ins" of the present city government of the city of Portland, assisted by the district attorney. On the other was the "outs" headed by Joe Simon, Harvey Scott, et al., and assisted by the sheriff of the county. The "ins" were backed, aided and helped by the police force of the city, and the "outs" by a force of deputy sheriffs. It was officials against officials, and to further the contest the aid of all the thugs, thieves, gamblers, black-legs and pimps that infest large cities were called to the aid of both sides. Thugs were at premium and honest men at a discount. On the face of the returns the Simon faction have won, but for the real taxpayers of the city and state it was a barren victory.

In fact a victory of either faction was a smarting defeat for the people. Both should be forever set on by the real taxpayers of Portland.

If it stopped at the city of Portland it would not be so bad, but the political power held by Portland dominates the whole state. What then, can the people expect from such a source. Only continued high taxes.

The disgrace of such proceedings falls upon the whole state for it is upheld and condoned and performed by the dominant party. That party is full of good men, but they have not got control of the party in Oregon.

Spring Time.

Is when nearly everyone feels the need of some blood purifying, strength invigorating and health producing medicine. The real merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the reason of its widespread popularity. Its unequalled success is its best recommendation. The whole system is susceptible to the most good from a medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla taken at this time, and we would lay special stress upon the time and remedy, for history has it recorded that delays are dangerous. The remarkable success achieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla and the many words of praise it has received, make it worthy of your confidence. We ask you to give this medicine a fair trial.

Mr. Luce, who urges that dairy-men to suplicate congress on behalf of an anti-filled cheese law, evidently labors under a misapprehension. Congress is not passing laws this session for the benefit of the people. If the dairy-men will go out in a body and endeavor to whistle down the wind, they may accomplish something; but appealing to the 54th congress for useful legislation would be, in comparison, a work of supererogation.—Oregonian.

And this is the congress that the Oregonian, and other republican papers, assured us would enact wise legislation and bring about needed reforms and good times.

There may be some consolation to the sheep men in knowing that Australia, one of their great competitors, instead of constantly increasing in the number of sheep, are on the decrease, and have probably reached and passed the limit of profitable production. An authority at Sidney, says: "The losses of the past year have been very heavy. We must be short of at least half the usual lambing; that alone gives a shrinkage of 6,000,000 and to this may be added 3,000,000 grown sheep, making quite 9,000,000 short in 1895 as compared with the number we would have had if the season had been normal. Quite as many sheep were killed and got rid of in 1895 as in 1894, so that probably at the beginning of 1896 there are not more than 40,000,000 sheep in the colony. This will leave us short of exportable sheep for the next three years unless we can import from Queensland; but Queensland is in a position somewhat similar to our own, having had a dry time, with considerable losses." Under a later date, February 13, another authority, in alludings to a reduction of 9,244,000 sheep shown in the returns of the chief inspector of stock, compared with the beginning of 1895, says: "This decrease is due almost entirely to the ravages of drouth. With so much leeway to make up, the welcome rains that have lately will make graziers very unwilling to sell, and higher prices will rule, especially for store stock."

The rumor is being freely circulated that a sum of money, stated by some to be as much as $2,000, has been placed in the hands of some of the West Yaquina boomers to be used to corrupt and purchase votes for county seat. What truth or falsity there is in the rumor we are unable to say. It is said that this money is being put up by such men as Dunc. Monteith, of Albany, Jim Cooper, of Independence, and W. P. Keady, of Portland, and is put up by them purely as a speculation to enable them to unload their boom town property on that side of the river. It will be well for every good citizen to keep watch and spot every man who tries to debauch the election by the use of money. That money, if it is here, will be disbursed by men wellknown, and if they undertake it they will be publicly pointed out.

This is the way Baker county republicans talk for free coinage: "The cry of 'fifty cent dollar' and 'going to the silver basis' shall not deter us. With every dollar of our property already on a fifty cent basis, when measured in gold, we are not therefore afraid of the silver basis, for it is, too painfully evident property owners are there now."

Ex-Governor Pennoyer has been nominated by the populists of Portland as a candidate for mayor. His nomination has been endorsed by the taxpayers' league of that city. Pennoyer will probably be elected; and just at this particular juncture it would be a mighty good thing for the taxpayers of Portland if he is.
