

Snow & Son.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED A NEW STOCK OF

Dry Goods, Clothing, Spring and Summer goods.

Our Stock is now full and Complete all Lines. We invite you to call and at our prices. We know we can suit you.

The Cheapest Store in Town.
Snow & Son,
TOLEDO, ORE.

Wear Off

The man with the tattoo marks on his skin would be foolish to attempt to wear them off by hard work. The person with a severe cough or cold is about as unwise to attempt to wear that off. This "wear off" idea has cost many a life.

Scott's Emulsion.
of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, gives immediate aid by smoothing the cough and supplying tonic remedies to the weakened system. It prevents consumption by promptly curing these colds and supplying the preventive power by which the system can withstand disease.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been endorsed by the medical profession for twenty years. Ask your doctor. This is because it is always palatable—always uniform—always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby.

Oregon Central & Eastern Ry.

YAQUINA BAY ROUTE

Connecting at Yaquina Bay with the San Francisco and Yaquina Bay Steamship Company

STEAMSHIP PARALLON,

Sails from Yaquina every 8 days for San Francisco, Coos Bay, Port Orford, Trinidad and Humboldt bay.

Passenger accommodations unsurpassed.

Shortest route between the Willamette Valley and California.

Fare from Albany or points west to San Francisco:

Cabin,	$6.00
Steerage	4.00
To Coos Bay and Port Orford:
Cabin,	$6.00
To Humboldt Bay:
Cabin,	$8.00
Round trip good for sixty days—Special.

RIVER DIVISION.
Steamers "Albany" and "Wm.
M. Hoag" newly furnished, leaves Corvallis daily except Saturdays at 7:00 a. m., arriving in Portland at 4:30 p. m. the same day. Returning boats leave Portland at p. m. the same as above at 6:00 a. m., arriving at Corvallis at 9:00 p. m.

EDWIN STONE, Manager.
J. C. MAYO, Supt. River Div.
WM. SCHMIDT, Agt.,
Occidental hotel, Corvallis.

R. A. PARENT, M. D. C. M.,

Special attention given to Diseases of Women, and Surgery.

Toledo, Oregon

H. DENLINGER,
Attorney-at-Law,
TOLEDO, OREGON.

YATES & YATES,
LAWYERS,
CORVALLIS, OREGON.

Scientific American
Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 Broadway, New York.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America.
Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., Publishers, 361 Broadway, New York City.

Remember that One Million Dollars has been appropriated to improve Yaquina Bay.

Kilfeather's Views.

Mr. Edward Kilfeather, democratic candidate for presidential elector, had the following to say as to the result of the Chicago convention:

"The battle of the standards is on, and the people will now have to range themselves either on the side of humanity, or on the side of a grinding money monopoly.

"The men who composed the convention at Chicago should take rank with those who formulated the Declaration of Independence for us—independence of the foreign money power which has long had its yoke on the necks of our oppressed people.

"The platform is one of the most important documents that has been given to us since the early days of the republic. There is no doubt or equivocation about it. It is a clear-cut declaration in favor of the interests of the laboring and producing masses, and against those who would, by a single gold standard, reduce them to degradation and slavery.

"Our standard-bearer is one of the ablest statesmen of our times, a man who, when elected, will not fill his financial system with the putrid waters of Wall street, but will drink of the life-giving fountains of pure democracy. He is a democrat who believes that the long night of the British gold standard should be cleared by the dawn of American bimetalism, that will shed the light of hope and cheer in the hearts of the American toilers. He is a democrat who will put it beyond the power of any politician or platform orator to truthfully say that all the favors of the law should be accorded to corporations and monopolies, and that the just and righteous demands of the American mechanics and artisans should be resisted by the cold steel of the national dragoons.

"Let us examine the complexion of the two conventions—that at St. Louis and that at Chicago.
The republican convention was composed of 78 railroad attorneys, 71 brokers, 116 bankers, 126 trust officers, 54 aliens, who just got their first papers, and the balance of the vote was cash. Look at the democratic convention. The men who nominated Bryan were the laboring men and farmers, and the yeomanry and life of the nation.
There were no $50,000 a year railroad presidents, and no frog-faced noblemen fresh from the gilded parlors of the Bank of England.

"Let all those who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow, the laborer, the mechanic, the farmer, the clerk, and all those whose firesides are darkened by the shadow of want, stand together, and with a mighty effort, roll up a majority for Bryan and free silver.
In order that happiness and prosperity will light up every household in the land."

Napoleon Davis, member of the national democratic congressional committee, for Oregon, said:

"I regard the platform just adopted at Chicago as the most forcible declaration of principles ever put forth since the adoption of the Declaration of Independence in 1776. It is a most admirable document—the sneer of ex-Governor Flowers to the contrary notwithstanding—and one that will prove a turning point in the history of the political parties of the United States.

"While I feel disappointed that ex-Governor Penneyer did not receive the nomination for president, yet I am greatly pleased that the choice has fallen upon so gifted, so worthy and so acceptable a man—a man so eminently qualified for the high position—as W. J. Bryan.

His nomination will long be regarded as one of the phenomena—a political phenomenon—of the age.
Young in years, having barely passed the constitutional age, coming from a despised Western state, under the ban of the present gold administration, without any pre-concerted plan of action, securing the nomination as he did, may be taken as an augury of the result that is most surely to follow his elevation to the office of president of the United States."

The last thing written by Mrs.
Harriet Beecher Stowe, only a few days before her death, was a loving acknowledgment to the public for fond remembrances and tokens and expressions of affectionate esteem, on her 85th birthday, which she sent to 'The Ladies' Home Journal.
In the next issue of this magazine it will be published in fac simile.
It reflects the beautiful nature of the gifted authoress, and by her death has become her last message to the American public.

An Eastern Oregon paper says a man who chewed 20 cents' worth of tobacco in a week concluded to try the tobacco cure. In two weeks he ate up $1.50 worth of the cure and for the next two weeks he used 10 cents' worth of candy, 5 cents' worth of chewing-gum, 5 cents' worth of peanuts and 5 cents' worth of cough drops per day.
During these two weeks he also consumed two large rubber erasers, ate the rubber tips from 14 lead pencils, chewed up a dozen pen-holders and browsed off his mustache as high up as he could reach. He is now chewing tobacco again in the interest of economy.

A great curiosity was presented to the Myrtle Point Enterprise office last week, by Lewis Strong.
It is a limb about five feet in length cut from an apple tree in his orchard on which a swarm of bees had settled and in open air began the work of laying by their winter store. To the limb is attached large quantities of honey-comb, the honey having been robbed from the cells by "pirate" bees as fast as it could be placed there. This certainly is an unusual freak of the little busy bee; at least the first instance of the kind to come to our notice, and proves conclusively, the Enterprise reasons, that Coos county is the ideal land of milk and honey.

Upon the Yakima reservation is an Indian doctor who cures all the ills to which the aborigines are heir. He is a whole system of medical philosophy and drug store combined. He came down to Pendleton the other day, says the East Oregonian, especially to treat Paul Shoaway. Shoaway is the real chief of the Cayuse tribe, and his people recognize this fact.
There is not much in the chieftain-ship business now, and so he does not assert his rights. But they want him to fully recover, and so they sent up to Yakima for an Indian doctor. This Indian doctor's method is as simple as the nature of the child of the forest, and consists only of doing this:
He applies his mouth to a spot on the body directly over the heart, if the heart is affected, and by suction power, draws from the body all the deleterious substance which causes the disease. If the arm is lame, he applies this suction to the part affected, and draws out the pain and the disease. Paul enthusiastically declared that no one could fail to recover when treated by this Yakima doctor, and he expects soon to be as well as ever. Once recovered, said Paul, "I will never again drink whisky. There's nothing in it."