The O. A. C. President.

The board of regents of the Oregon Agricultural college held a meeting last Tuesday afternoon, at which time they elected a president of that institution to succeed Prof. J. M. Bloss, who recently resigned. The principal candidate for that position was Hon. H. B. Miller, of Grants Pass, and Mr. Miller was the successful candidate also. In the selection of a president a strong fight was made, some of the regents feeling that it would be to the best interests of the school to place a man of known reputation as an educator at the head of the institution. However, this element of the board of regents was voted down by a vote of eight to five.

The action of the board in the selection of Mr. Miller, as president, does not give satisfaction to friends of the school in this county. Mr. Miller has many warm political friends here, and is esteemed as a gentleman of honor and integrity, but there is a firm belief that he has no qualification as an educator. There is also a strong belief among the friends of the O. A. C. in this county that there should be an absolute divorce of the school from politics, and the selection of Mr. Miller is generally looked upon as a political deal. This belief is reinforced by the very recent resignation of Mr. Miller as one of the regents, and the appointment of Mr. Hughes, of Washington county, to fill the vacancy. Mr. Hughes cast the decisive ballot for Mr. Miller, as the vote would have stood six and six had Mr. Miller been one of the regents and not voted for himself.

We cannot help but feel that there has been a very unfortunate mistake made in the selection of a president. There is a certain feeling against the Agricultural college in existence throughout the state already. This feeling was in a fair way of being overcome by the careful management of the school, and had the standard of the school and its officers been kept high, this feeling would have soon died out. But as it is now all the old antagonism will be aroused.

At the meeting besides selecting a president the board also chose Miss Helen V. Crawford, of Albany as instructor of elocution; H. F. Condon, of Eugene, was made stenographer, bookkeeper and purchasing agent; Prof. Berchtold, was made dean of the college, and Geo. Clark and Lester M. Leland were given charge of the printing department.

Astoria Regatta.

Astoria will hold its third annual regatta during the week of August 18-22, which will include the State Firemen's tournament. The battleship Oregon will be in the harbor during the week, and one of the features will be an ocean race between two of the fastest schooners on the Pacific coast. Astoria is making great preparations for the event, and expects to entertain at least 20,000 people.

The sea-otter catch for 1895 was only 1200 skins, and the average for several years past has been 1000 skins. The otters are found now only on the Pacific coast between Gray's harbor and Cape Flattery and in Alaskan waters. There used to be a great many killed along the North China coast, but they have entirely disappeared from there.

Illinois A Doubtful State.

The Times-Herald, the great McKinley organ of Chicago, reports Mr. Jameson, chairman of the republican state committee of Illinois, as saying: "Illinois is not in the republican column today." He says it is a time for plain speaking and he tells the republicans that "that young firebrand, Bryan, will land himself in the white house if the republicans continue to underestimate the force of the movement behind him." They don't seem to be able to realize that the country has gone from bad to worse under their financial management until there is a general revolt among the common people. The people may not know what the proper remedy is, but they know the republicans are responsible for the present condition of affairs and they think any change is better than
