OREGON'S CHIEF EXECUTIVE

A Glimpse of Gov. Lord and his Family at their Summer Home at Seal Rocks.

Among the many distinguished visitors that visit the beaches and resorts of Lincoln county during the summer season to escape the heat of the towns and cities are Governor Wm. P. Lord and his interesting family. At the cosy, health-giving retreat of Seal Rocks, the Governor owns a neat, comfortable cottage, and here he and his family have spent their summer outing for many years.

The coming of Gov. Lord and family is always looked for with eagerness by the people of Seal Rocks and vicinity, for the Governor has made himself justly popular with these people by his quiet and unostentatious simplicity, and his genial, hearty character, while Mrs. Lord has made herself no less popular by those true womanly qualities which she displays as a good advantage among the country people of that part of Lincoln county, as she displays so well amid the more fashionable scenes of the State's capitol.

The Governor, when he comes to Seal Rocks deports himself in a manner that might shock the mind of the silk-stockinged sycophants that so frequently surround the executive of a great state, but it is a manner that endears and binds him to the honest, solid yeomanry of the country in no unmistakable manner. Dressed in a cool suit of summer clothes, which are not made for show, and a slouch hat, the Governor of the state of Oregon may be frequently seen whipping the waters of Beaver creek and adjoining streams, for the wily trout that lie hidden in the deep pools; and the Governor knows how to cast the fly that will lure to his destruction many a wise old trout that has eluded the bait sent after him by many another fisherman before.

Not infrequently his companion will be some honest, industrious farmer of that region whom the Governor has induced to go with him, and who feels justly honored but not awed by the genial companionship of the man whom the people of the state have honored with the highest office within their gift. Many times it happens that the Governor is accompanied by his wife and family on some of his fishing trips, especially if the trips be made to the beautiful Alsea Bay, where they fish, dig clams, rock oysters, and deport themselves generally in a manner that healthy bodies and minds dictate. And speaking of these expeditions it might not be out of place to say that Mrs. Lord is an acknowledged authority on shell fishes. Born on the Atlantic coast she acquired much knowledge of such fishes, and it is said that she can prepare a crab or a lobster in such a manner as to tempt the appetite of an epicure.

In his mingling with the people Governor Lord loses none of that quiet dignity that marks his demeanor on the bench of the supreme court, or when he occupies the gubernatorial office in the big capitol building in Salem. And in this is shown one of the strongest traits of character of Oregon's governor, and in it is also shown a marked contrast with the two other types of statesmanship. Governor Lord is not of the cold, distant type that feel themselves removed from the people by reason of being preferred for office, neither is he of the effusive, overflowing type that shakes your hand twenty times a day, should you meet that often. On the contrary he represents the happy medium—friendly and responsive without being effusive, dignified without being distant. He keeps in close touch with the common people, and his strength with them seems to be unassailable. While it is outside of this article, we will say that with this strength we would not be surprised to see the legislature of Oregon at its session next winter recognize his worth and send him to the United States senate to succeed Senator Mitchell.

But this article is not intended to be political, and we will close it by hoping that Governor Lord and his family will spend many pleasant summers in their cosy cottage at Seal Rocks, and in this wish we know we receive a hearty second from all the residents in the vicinity of the Governor's summer cottage.

Vacation Time

Is at hand and is gladly welcomed by all, especially those whose duties in life have caused them to greatly run down their system to meet the requirements, physical and mental, forced upon them. With these and others, it is important, whether at home, at the sea shore or in the country, that some thought be given to diet, and as further assistance to Nature, a good building-up medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla has best be resorted to. If the digestion is poor, liver deranged and frequent headaches seem to be the rule, Hood's will change all this and enable everyone to return to their home and business in a refreshed state of mind and bodily health.

The Tug Tonquin Libeled.

The United States marshal took charge of the steamer Tonquin this morning on libel proceedings begun against its owner, John Kierman, and its master, Ernest Loll, by Robt. Sudden, J. H. Jacobs, H. Hacklin, C. Jarvis and A. Johnson for $10,000 damages. The libellants own the schooner Barbara Hernster, 400 tons register and valued at $14,000. Last May the Hernster loaded 180,000 feet of lumber, valued at $720, at Nehalem and the Tonquin was engaged to tow her to sea. While crossing out the Nehalem, the schooner grounded and the lines broke. The tug, it is claimed, refused to throw a second line, and instead towed her to deep water and then claimed $5,000 salvage. The owners of the schooner claim the grounding was caused by the unskilful handling, and estimates the damage caused to their vessel by the accident at $10,000.—Portland Tribune.

There is already a marked change in the tone of the eastern gold press toward the national democratic convention and the platform enunciated by it. At first they were anarchists, populists and every other kind of ist or ism, but now they have largely modified their declarations. The presence of an immense silver faction in the east probably causes this veering on their part.

Capt. Freeman Dodge is still contemplating putting a salmon cannery at some point on Yaquina bay. We believe the venture would be a paying one.
