THE MAINE

TERRIBLE ACCIDEN T

Spanish Treachery is Strongly suspected.

Havana, Feb. 15 .- At a quarter to 10 o'clock this evening a terrible explosion took place on board the United States battle-ship Maine, in Havana harbor. Many were killed or wounded.

As yet the cause of the explosion is not apparent. The wounded sailors of the Maine are unable to explain it. It is believed that the battle-ship totally destroyed. The explosion shook the whole city. The windows were broken in all the houses. The correspondent of the Associeted Press says he has conversed with several of the wounded sailors, and understands from them that the explosion took place while they were asleep, so they can give no particulars as to the cause.

The wildest consternation pre-vails in Havana. The wharves are crowded with thousands of people. in a small powder magazine.

Washington, Feb. 16 .- After a day of intense excitement at the navy department and elsewhere, growing out of the destruction of the battle-ship Maine in Havana harbor last night, the situation tonight, after the exchange of a number of cablegrams between Washington and Havana, can be summed up in the words of Secretary Long, who, when asked as he was about to depart for the day, if he had reason to suspect that the disaster was the work of an enemy,

"I do not; in that I am influenced by the fact that Captin Sigsbee has not yet reported to the navy department on the cause. He is evidently waiting to write a full report. So long as he does not express himthat the magazine exploded. How our government, however For the present, at least, no other warship will be sent to Havana.'

The steamship Olivette arrived here tonight with a large number of wounded and many other survivors of the Maine disaster. The officers were, as a rule, reticent, and followed in line with chief, Sigsbee, in saying that the cause of the explosion could only be ascertained by divers, but many of the sailors were outspoken in their declaration of belief that the explosion was a deep-laid plot of the Spaniards. They are greatly incensed against the Havana people, who have shown them small courtesy, who looked upon their presence as a national affront, and who have published auonymous circulars captioned "Down With Americans!" They believe that the authors of such expressed cowardly hatred pooh the idea of an accident.

The Associated Press correspondent saw Purser Denson, of the Olivette, who gave the following brief account of the disaster:

"The explosion is an absolute mystery to eve.y one. It occurred in the forward magazine, which is just forward of the midships, and below the water line. The coalbunkers are outside, but seperated by two feet of space. According to custom, the magazine was inspected at 8 o'clock in the evening, and the temperature found to be 59. The magazine was locked and the keys given to Captain Sigsbee. The men went to their hammocks in the forward part of the ship after 9 o'clock. 'The explosion occurred at 9:40. About ten men who were in the forward part of the ship were saved, and of these several had their hammocks slung on the lower deck. The explosion split the big ship in two, and these and one marine. wno was sleeping on the superstructure, 40 feet in the air and into the water. In the magazine were 20 tons of coarse powder used for charging the big guns, there being no dynamite, detonating powder nor torpedo heads, nothing in fact that could be exploded by concussion. In the main magazine aft the high explosives were stored, and this magazine did not explode, It is not believed that the Maine was destroyed by a torpedo underneath, as, if this were the case a hole would have been torn in the bottom, and the ship would not have been riven to atoms as was the case. The after part of the ship sank in three minutes."

Key West, Feb. 16.-The correspondent of the Associated Press has been assured in a reliable quarter that Captain Sigsbee is under the impression that the Maine was blown up by a floating torpedo, and that he has communicated his impressions to Washington, asking at the same time that the navy department should send naval engineers and mechanics to investigate the explosion.

He had become fully satisfied that it was only a quistion of a short time until he would have to give up. He had been treated by some of the best physicians in Europe and America but got no permanent relief.
