

Life at Newport.

A correspondent, at Newport, writing to her home paper, the Times-Mountaineer, of The Dalles, has the following to say of Newport:

"As I have given you an extensive pen picture of this popular summer resort in former communications, a repetition is not necessary. It may not possess all the advantages of its Eastern neighbor on the Atlantic, yet our Newport, easy to access for we Oregonians, where one is lulled to rest by the splashing and dashing of the restless Pacific, is becoming more famous, and has its share of pleasure seekers and those in search of that greater boon, health.

"The climate is delightful, people kind, and amusements numerous, board easily obtained and very good, at rates satisfactory, and if one does not bring a good appetite, he will surely be the possessor of one or more after a brief walk on the beach, where the silvery breakers send forth their glittering spray, and where miles seem a short stroll. The tables are well supplied all kinds of fish, clams, crabs, etc., fresh from their watery beds.

"It is quite 'Dewey' here and the Stars and Stripes which wave proudly over many homes are kissed by the dewdrops and strong 'Sampson' like sea breezes, and many of them are rent asunder, but their glory shines forth through the tattered stars and stripes, and while strolling about, we notice much patriotism displayed, and many of the canvas houses have been christened 'Camp Manila,' 'Kamp Dewey,' etc.

"The Corvallis & Eastern R. R. Co., under management of Edwin Stone, runs daily trains to Yaquina, and the officials on this line are kind and courteous to travelers, and the trip is a pleasant one.

"A party of twelve chartered a wagon and visited the lighthouse, a distance of four miles. The keeper in charge is very kind to visitors, and after registering our names we were escorted to the top, a distance of 81 feet, where the immense lamp was explained to us. Seven gallons of oil are consumed every night."

When the Spanish ship Vizcaya visited New York a few months ago, a reporter asked Captain Eulate to release from the cage as that vessel departed, two carrier pigeons. "These white birds will be symbolical of peace," said the reporter. Captain Eulate agreed, but when the basket was opened, the pigeons were found to be black as coal. Today the Vizcaya is a wreck and her captain a wounded prisoner. Were the dark pigeons hoodlums?—Ex.

Commodore Watson, the grizzled veteran who was Farragut's right hand man in the rebellion and performed feats of personal daring unexcelled in the history of naval warfare, has been given no opportunity to distinguish himself during the present war. But what business has a man to be a Kentucky democrat like Watson, or a Virginia democrat like Fitzhugh Lee, anyway!

Manager Stone of the C. & E. Ry. is at 'Frisco to charter one or more vessels to run in the grain trade from Yaquina Bay. The S. P. Co., has made a rate of $4 a ton from Oregon to 'Frisco and common points on grain and flour.—Capital Journal.

A courageous newspaper correspondent asked Cervera for his explanation of how it happened. The Spanish admiral is said to be strongly of the opinion that it did not 'happen' at all, but that it was done malice aforethought.

Nobody doubts Mark Hanna's patriotism although he failed to go to war as Wm. J. Bryan did. Mark very unselfishly induced his brother (also a gold standard patriot) to sell his $40,000 yacht to the government for $115,000.

Malheur Still in the Lead.

There are liars and then some. But the following debate, which took place at Ontario last Saturday between a gentleman from John Day, in Grant county, and a Malheur rancher, undoubtedly has some merit in exaggerated prevarication.

The subject under discussion was the comparative merits of Malheur and Grant counties as agricultural regions. The gentleman from John Day stated with some warmth that he had to dig through the apples on his place last year to get to the land for planting his winter wheat. Whereupon the man from Malheur related that he had a ten-acre tract of wheat this year upon which the wheat grew so rank that the weight of the heads broke the stalks in two in the middle, so he could not cut it. When it grew ripe he concluded to tramp it out on the ground, and for this purpose he turned in 85 head of horses and drove them back and fourth over the field for a few hours. When he turned them out and raked off the straw, the wheat was up to the second wire of the fence. And the man from John Day subsided.

The war with Spain begun and ended with the brilliant achievements of Admiral George Dewey, and to him will even be attributed the honor of being the hero of 1898. On May 1st it was the thunder of Dewey's guns that sounded the first notes of the war, and on August 13th he closed the war with the bombardment of Manila. His acts were daring and decisive, his service to the nation was greater than any of our other great leaders. While Shafter, Schley and Sampson come in for a just amount of praise, their names will never occupy the same place in history as that of Dewey. They will be accredited with having won wreaths of laurels, but Dewey will be known as the man who opened and closed the war.

Captain Lloyd Clark, keeper of the United States lighthouse supply station at St. Joseph, has received a telegram from his brother, Captain Clark, of the battleship Oregon, now at Montauk Point, L. I., in which he stated that he was convalescent and that his physicians say his condition is much improved by the few days rest he has had since leaving his ship. Captain Clark says the quarantine will be raised to day, and he will than proceed to the Brooklyn navy hospital, where he will pass a medical examination. In view of the fact that he will probably be detained several days at the Brooklyn hospital Captain Clark has asked his family to proceed to New York and meet him there. After a possible short stop at Washington, the party will go direct to St. Joseph, where the captain will spend several days with his brother and other relatives. Lloyd Clark does not regard his brother's condition as serious, and thinks by the time his six months' furlough has expired he will have regained his usual state of health.

Suffered 20 Years.

MRS. MARY LEWIS, wife of a prominent farmer, and well known by all old residents near Belmont, N. Y., writes: "For twenty-seven years I had been a constant sufferer from nervous prostration, and paid large sums of money for doctors and advertised remedies without benefit. Three years ago my condition was alarming; the least noise would startle and unnerve me. I was unable to sleep, had a number of sinking spells and slowly grew worse. I began using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills. At first the medicine seemed to have no effect, but after taking a few bottles I began to notice a change; I rested better at night, my appetite began to improve and I rapidly grew better, until now I am as nearly restored to health as one of my age may expect. God bless Dr. Miles' Nervine."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address, DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.
