STATE NOTES.

McKinley's cabinet is hurrying the embarkation of Spaniards in Cuba and Porto Rico.

Canada gave a strong majority in favor of prohibition, but the government will ignore the vote.

Sol. King has been offered 12 1/2 cents for 20,000 pounds of hops, by Faber & Zeiss, of Albany, but has not accepted.—Corvallis Union.

A man down at Eugene swallowed a penny and the doctor made him cough up three dollars. Wonder if he was a free silver man.—Plain Dealer.

The Salem wollen mills are running on full time, employing 100 people constantly. The mills are kept busy running day and night on a fine line of cloth, blankets, flannels, etc.

There is talk of rebuilding the mechanical hall of the O. A. C. of stone. Right idea. Lincoln county can furnish the finest stone in the state and deliver it cheaper than any other bidders.

There is no doubt that better times have come to Dallas. Improvement in a substantial way is observable on every hand. Building progresses with a spirit unknown for years. Confidence is manifested in manifold ways. Prosperity is here.—Observer.

Ike Howard expects to ship about 200 dozen turtles to the San Francisco market about November 1st. All told he has on his ranch about 4,000 turtles, all sizes, from four-bit pieces to a cow boy hat. The turtle industry is a new thing for this neighborhood and we hope Mr. Howard will strike a good market.—Junction City Times.

The war lasted 114 days. Its actual expense was $141,000,000; resultant future expenses seven times that much. Thirty-five Spanish vessels were destroyed; no American vessels. Men killed so far as known 279 Americans and 2119 Spaniards, wounded 1465 Americans and 2043 Spaniards. Territory lost by Spain, 45,475 square miles.

When General Gordon was killed by the fanatics of the Soudan his head was cut off and carried to the conquering Mahdi. That was barbarism. The other day the conquering Englishmen destroyed the tomb of the Mahdi, and now we read that his head has been cut off and is being sent to the Royal College of Surgeons in London. This is civilization and science.

Once in a while Mark Twain has taken a hand in politics. On one occasion, being invited to speak in the interest of his fellow-townsmen, General Joseph Hawley, who was a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate, he said, in the course of a droll address: 'General Hawley deserves your support, although he has about as much influence in purifying the Senate as a bunch of flowers would have in sweetening a glue factory. But he's all right; he never would turn a beggar away from his door empty-handed. He always gives them something—almost without exception a letter of introduction to me, urging me to help them.—October Ladies' Home Journal.

 Editor LEADER:—

I noticed an article in your issue of September 23d which stated that John Stimpson had gone to Liverpool mainly to interest an English syndicate in canning and preserving all kinds of the natural products of Yaquina Bay. You claim that the present inhabitants have neither the capital nor experience necessary to care for such products, when the facts are right to the contrary. The people have the experience, and the capital lies in the fish, clams and oysters themselves. Otherwise no syndicate would pay any attention to them. Timber is plentiful to build with, and all that is lacking is the work, which the inhabitants will have to do anyway. So I say, let the present owners form a syndicate of their own and own their own property. The same state of affairs exist on Alsea Bay. Co-operation will do it.

Now I would like some one able to write the matter up to do so. Republicans must work for the people.

R. ROWIN.

To properly handle the enterprise referred to in the above letter, at least $50,000 are necessary. A cannery must be built and equipped for canning salmon, herring, sardines and for the proper preparation of halibut and cod for market. Then the matter of deviling crabs, and canning shell fish must also be looked after. To make the enterprise a success this company must have ample cold storage in order to keep the fresh market supplied regularly. In this matter it would necessarily have to own and operate several fishing smacks each of which would cost $800 to $2,000. So, when our friend Rowin says the capital is in the water, we believe, so far as developing this industry is concerned, he is wrong. Fish in the ocean and crabs and clams in the bay will never buy lots upon which to build, will never pay for buildings and machinery, will never hire men to do the work. Round dollars are needed, in no small amount, at the very outset. The ocean, the fish and the timber have been here a long time. The country has been settled nearly as well as at present for many years. Yet have we not seen such an industry. And further, we believe that these conditions might exist right under our own noses for another century and without enterprising capital came here to start the works, no such industry would ever be developed.

The experience necessary to this industry may be found in our county, we doubtless have plenty of salmon canners, but when the other material came in, we believe Lincoln county experience would prove to be largely experiment. It might succeed—we doubt it.

Mr. Rowin thinks co-operation will do it, so do we. We believe the co-operation of somebody's capital (which we have not) and the labor (which we have in abundance) would make this industry succeed. And we also believe that in securing the necessary capital for this undeveloped enterprise, we are working for the direct benefit of every man, woman and child in Lincoln county.

Our columns are open for the discussion of this subject and we shall welcome any article more plainly explaining Mr. Rowin's theory. Send them along.
