

Demand for Our Goods in Mexico.
A member of a prominent clay manufacturing company of Kansas City, recently returned from Mexican a business tour, states that Mexicans want our goods, "and never hesitate to spend the money for them, and they have got the money, too. Take farm machinery for instance. One ranch man will buy a carload at a time for his own use. They need plows and pumps and windmills and ice plants, and, in fact, all kinds of modern machinery. The trade is there and has long been neglected. We can get it by studying the needs of the republic and catering to its people."

The Difference.
Little Harry—Papa, what's the difference between a financier and an economist?
Papa—An economist will walk three squares to save a nickel. A financier will hop on a car and beat somebody out of a quarter while riding those three squares.—Cleveland Leader.

There lives in Sedalia, Mo., an old gentleman who was tutor to the late King Alfonso XII of Spain. His name is Col. Van B. Wisker, an American, born of English parents.

A new and scientific treatment of all diseases of the genito urinary organs at once thorough, quick and sure is that of Dr. Foote and Staff, of 161 Adams St., Chicago. The doctors believe in prescribing as little medicine as is consistent with certain cure. They are old practitioners and years of experience in their specialty has taught them the needs of every individual case, and how best to treat it to effect a complete eradication of the disease germ. Dr. Foote's Syphala is a well-known and efficacious cure for all blood diseases, while his Vigorala stands foremost among restoratives and invigorators of the nervous system.

TO MRS. PINKHAM

From Mrs. Walter E. Budd, of Patchogue, New York.

Mrs. Budd, in the following letter, tells a familiar story of weakness and suffering, and thanks Mrs. Pinkham for complete relief:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I think it is my duty to write to you and tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I feel like another woman. I had such dreadful headaches through my temples and on top of my head, that I nearly went crazy; was also troubled with chills, was very weak; my left side from my shoulders to my waist pained me terribly. I could not sleep for the pain. Plasters would help for a while, but as soon as taken off, the pain would be just as bad as ever. Doctors prescribed medicine, but it gave me no relief.
"Now I feel so well and strong, have no more headaches, and no pain in side, and it is all owing to your Compound. I cannot praise it enough. It is a wonderful medicine. I recommend it to every woman I know."

WHIPPLE'S CLOSE SHAVE.

One of the Men Whom Bullets or Fevers Cannot Get.

I was overjoyed the other day to meet in Boston one of the noblest soldiers whom the commonwealth sent out to fight the nation's battles in Cuba—Maj. R. A. Whipple of Adams and the Second, says the Boston Transcript. I had not seen the major since I had the good fortune, on one wearisome day in the Santiago campaign, to be able to introduce him to a sustaining Scottish beverage which was freshly off one of the press boats plying to Jamaica. Maj. Whipple, though a veteran of the civil war, and consequently not so young a man as some who went out from the State, outmarched, outworked and outlasted all the young men in his regiment. A soldier to the core, he filled all the regulars who met him, as I had occasion to know, with high respect for the sort of officers which Massachusetts sometimes puts into the field.

I have spoken of Maj. Whipple as a veteran of the civil war. A tragedy of patriotism hangs by that circumstance. After serving his country well as a young man in that war, he went out again promptly to this one, and this time he took with him his son in his own regiment. The son lost his life in the terrible Santiago campaign, but the father came back again; he is alive and reports himself well to-day, insisting that he is none the worse for his two wars. There are some men whom neither bullets nor fevers can get at. They can come near them, but they cannot touch. I have a story of the major to prove this.

When the Second Massachusetts was under fire before Santiago and the men were lying flat on the ground, Maj. Whipple stood up looking through a field glass at the enemy—and he made a good mark, for he is six feet high and broad-shouldered. As he was peering thus something struck him in the face and eyes with such force and violence that for the moment the major had no sort of doubt he had been killed. The missile, whatever it was, stung like fire and one of his eyes pained him as if it had been pierced. He put his hands to his face, took them away and looked at them. There was no blood. Then he looked around wonderingly, as much as to say: "What was it?" A soldier was able to answer the question. "Here it is, major," he said, and he picked up a chip that a Mauser bullet had clipped off a tree close by and brought along with it. The bullet could not touch the major with the charmed life, but it spitefully flung the chip in his face as it passed by.

LAW AS INTERPRETED.

The right of the creditors of an insolvent to the proceeds of his life insurance is denied, in Roberts vs. Winston (Tenn.), 41 L. R. A. 275, where the only premium he has paid is by a worthless check.

The negligence of a contractor or his employe in blasting rock on a vacant city lot, causing damage to a building upon an adjoining lot, is held, in Berg vs. Parsons (N. Y.), 41 L. R. A. 391, to give no right of action against the proprietor of the premises.

A gratuitous lender of brackets for use in a staging is held, in Gagnon vs. Dana (N. H.), 41 L. R. A. 389, not to be liable to a servant of the borrower for a defect in the brackets which the lender did not actually know.

The construction of an insurance policy as to fires set by steam engines other than those "using coal for fuel, with sufficient wood to kindle or start the fire," is held, in Thurston vs. Burnett & B. D. F. M. F. Insurance Company (Wis.), 41 L. R. A. 316, to be a question solely for the court.

A statute prohibiting the deposit of sawdust in the waters of a lake, or in tributaries thereto, is held, in State vs. Griffin (N. H.), 41 L. R. A. 177, to be a proper exercise of the police power. With this case is a note on the statutory protection of water used for supplying a municipality.

The fall of a staging built in a new building for use by a servant of a manufacturer of whom decorations have been ordered for the building is held, in Channon vs. Sanford company (Conn.), 41 L. R. A. 200, to give no right of action against the manufacturer, who told the servant the builder would see to the staging, although his foreman told him it would be safe.

Getting Rid of Friction.
A novel invention has been exhibited before a large number of persons by J. M. Alves, a Russian civil engineer, in St. Petersburg. With this invention he proposes to revolutionize wheel locomotion. By attaching it to the wheels of any vehicle friction is reduced to its lowest possible limit. To the amazement of the spectator an ordinary horse easily drew a wagon loaded with two and a half tons of goods. The mechanism of this device was kept a secret, the wheels being covered with a wooden framework. This precaution on the part of the inventor, it was explained, was because he had just applied for a patent and did not wish his invention made public until it had been protected by the patent.

ADVERTISING DOCTORS.

A Palpable Reason Why They Should Not Be Adjudged Impostors.

Their testimonials alone are sufficient to bear witness to the assertion that they perform the cures and relief they advertise to, because they are from people within reach, who can be referred to, and represent cures made years ago, that are shown to be permanent, as well as those of recent date. Dr. Darrin has been practicing in Oregon for 11 years, and is now located at 265 Morrison street, Portland. The following cards are selected from thousands:

To the Editor: Before going under Dr. Darrin's treatment I had been suffering great pain in my head. Nothing seemed to help me until taking the doctor's electric and medical treatment. It's all gone now. Address, Wilhoit, Or.

Dr. Darrin: The one minute operation for cross-eye on my boy was successful. He had been cross-eyed since birth. Refer any one to me at 267 Hall street, Portland.
MRS. T. MAYHEW.

Mrs. G. Karg, of Leland, Or., writes Dr. Darrin as follows: After walking with a cane for months from the effects of sciatic rheumatism, "I am improving every day; I am going to Grant's Pass next week. I think the people there will stare at me more than they did the 28th of September, the day I took the first treatment by electricity of you. They will think I walk more like a girl of 20 than an old cripple of 45. I hope you will live many years to do for others as much as you have done for me."

Dr. Darrin gives free consultation to all, and, when necessary, gives medicines in connection with electricity. The poor treated free from 10 to 11 daily. Those willing to pay, 10 to 5; evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 12. Errors of youth, impotency, varicocele, hydrocele and stricture a specialty. All chronic and private diseases treated. No cases published only by permission of the patient. All business relations strictly confidential. Letters of inquiry answered. Circulars and question blanks sent free. Batteries and belts furnished by the doctor.

The young Chinese emperor, having outlived the reports that he had committed suicide or been assassinated, is now described by Dr. Dethere, a Frenchman, who is one of his physicians, as merely a sufferer from fits of depression and lassitude, his real ailment so far as there is any, being abnormal melancholia.

While on the bench Associate Justice McKenna, of the United States supreme court, is the personification of dignity, in private he is the most democratic member of "the highest tribunal in the land." Society Women and, in fact, nearly all women who undergo a nervous strain, are compelled to regretfully watch the growing pallor of their cheeks, the coming wrinkles and thinness that become more distressing every day.

Every woman knows that ill-health is a fatal enemy to beauty and that good health gives to the plainest face an enduring attractiveness. Pure blood and strong nerves—these are the secret of health and beauty.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People build up and purify the blood and strengthen the nerves. To the young girl they are invaluable, to the mother they are a necessity, to the woman approaching fifty they are the best remedy that science has devised for this crisis of her life.

Mrs. Jacob Weaver, of Bushnell, Ill., is fifty-six years old. She says: "I suffered for five or six years with the trouble that comes to women at this time of life. I was much weakened, was unable, much of the time, to do my own work, and suffered beyond my power to describe. I was downhearted and melancholy. Nothing seemed to do me any good. Then I made up my mind to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I bought the first box in March, 1897, and was benefited from the start. A box and a half cured me completely, and I am now rugged and strong."
