EDITORIAL AND COMMENT.

THE LEADER would not be greatly surprised if the board of engineers appointed to investigate the status of this harbor, made a favorable report. Hearing statistics read and seeing the ground with your own eyes are two different things. A comparison of the figures of this with Coos and other places had much to do doubtless with the result in the house. These comparisons were detrimental to this project because misleading. The freight shipped out of Coos is lumber, coal largely, and agricultural products. The shipments effect only Coos bay and its immediate vicinity. Its benefits are purely local. In this sense it is more deserving of improvement than Yaquina. The resources of Lincoln county are very limited at present and do not embrace either lumber or coal, of which products as many tons could be shipped over Yaquina bar at present as over Coos. But the improvement of Yaquina bar would open the gateway for the entire Willamette Valley, the Santiam lumber region, Eastern Oregon wheat, wool and live stock farms, and save to them hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. It would assure the extension of the C. & E. railway to an eastern connection with some trans-continental line and when this was accomplished this road with its steamer route would be the rate maker for the entire Pacific coast, because much shorter and more inexpensive. No place in the world can handle freight so cheaply as Yaquina. It is unloaded direct from the cars to the steamer's hold. This saves warehouse rent and also much labor connected with loading. Forty minutes from the time a steamer leaves the wharf at Yaquina she is over the bar and "squared away" for Frisco. These facts have all been laid before congress but when the figures are compared with other places these facts are hidden from view—are completely covered from the congressman's eye and he at once fears a job. But when the board arrives and these things are pointed out to them, they cannot fail to see that our wished improvement and its beneficial results are no poet's dream or flights of a greenbacker's imagination. Being unprejudiced, they will make a favorable report, and if the report is unfavorable it is prima facie evidence that their decision was made in Washington. The LEADER believes the board will consist of most honorable men only, and that they will see the benefits to result from the improvement of Yaquina Bay bar, as our people see them. Should these facts be seen as our people see them nothing but a favorable report will be the result.

Pendleton will erect $50,000 worth of new buildings during the coming summer. Pendleton is doing a thriving trade and the prosperity of her people is general. The only other town so thriving is Toledo although the amount will not be so great.

Governor Geer has appointed William Olsen, A. J. Cohn and Claude Thayer as president, vice president and secretary of the Port of Tillamook commission. The object of the commission is to raise by taxation of the city and other means money to improve the harbor without the aid of the general government. It is a worthy object and merits success. Tillamook is one of the most prosperous counties in Oregon and Lincoln county settlers may well emulate her example.

Following is the amendment made in the senate to the house bill and passed. Our readers will then be able to understand the matter as well as THE LEADER: "Yaquina Bay, Oregon: The secretary of war is hereby authorized to appoint a board of three engineers, who shall make examination thereof, with a view to ascertaining the desirability of prosecuting the work authorized by the river and harbor act of 1896, or such modification thereof as, in the judgment of said board, may be desirable for the commerce of said bay, together with an estimate of the cost of such work, and until such report shall have been made and acted upon by congress no further action shall be taken by the secretary of war in pursuance of existing law, and $5,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated to pay the expenses of such examination." Of the board engineers appointed by Gen. Wilson, chief of engineers, under a provision of the river and harbor bill, to visit Yaquina bay and report upon the advisability of carrying out the proposed further improvement of the channel at the entrance of the bay. Colonel Mansfield is division engineer in charge of the Pacific coast division, Captain Harry Taylor is engineer in charge of government works in the state of Washington, stationed at Seattle, and Captain W. W. Hart, is stationed in Portland, and has charge of government works on the coast of Oregon, as well as the Cascades locks and boat railway at The Dalles.
