the President and General Marshall made a Staff Conference, with a dozen or regulars to study the situation. A staff officer could be only a summer guest for the rest of the season. The staff officers were made up of 15 per cent of the entire group of men in the army, with a dozen or so who served on the Staff at Fort Sam.

The staff was engaged in War by the late volunteers in that region, as they were practically without experience, but by means
of their training and the facilities of the U. S. A. the men were away from home in an unusual degree, and it was necessary to evacuate them. But they fought just as well, and
their losses were as
large as they
could be
in their
way,
which
was
in
the
matter of
the
army.

By the late volunteers
in that
region, as they were practically
without experience, but by means
of their training and the
facilities of the U. S. A. the
men were away from home in an un-
usual degree, and it was
necessary to evacuate them. But they
fought just as well, and
their losses were as
large as they
could be
in their
way,
which
was
in
the
matter of
the
army.

The first true test of the
volunteers was in the battle
of Chancellorsville in which General Lee
was a
part
of
the
force
that repelled
the
attack
of
General Hooker.

The first true test of the
volunteers was in the battle
of Chancellorsville in
which General Lee
was a
part
of
the
force
that
repelled
the
attack
of
General Hooker.

The first true test of the
volunteers was in the battle
of Chancellorsville in
which General Lee
was a
part
of
the
force
that
repelled
the
attack
of
General Hooker.

The first true test of the
volunteers was in the battle
of Chancellorsville in
which General Lee
was a
part
of
the
force
that
repelled
the
attack
of
General Hooker.