Jas. McDonald, of Simpson creek, the veteran goat raiser of Lincoln Co., was a visitor in our city Tuesday. His business was the purchase of supplies for his home, and of course he came where he could buy to the best advantage.

The house of David John at Siletz was entirely destroyed by fire Thursday of last week. This was a great loss to him for it was a good frame building; much better than ordinarily seen on farms in this portion of Oregon.

THE LEADER is informed that no celebration will be held at Newport as it stated last week. Plans have been changed and none will be held, so go where you please. The Siletz will celebrate, but as yet we have no knowledge of the character of the program.

Among the numerous deaths which have occurred at Siletz recently was little Jimmie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Lane. He was a general favorite among the Siletz people and, is greatly missed by them. Scott and his wife take his death very severely and cannot be comforted.

Mrs. S. M. Mason and her son Charles, of Spring Valley, Minn., arrived in this city Saturday. Mrs. Mason is a sister of Old Man LEADER and comes to this section of Oregon to look for a suitable home for her family where fruit and vegetables are more plentiful and cyclones and cold waves are less frequent. They will doubtless remain during the summer and be joined by Mr. Mason later in the season.

Sam Owen has made discovery that will be of vast importance to Eastern Oregon farmers in all dry seasons. He has found by planting onions and potatoes in the same field in alternate rows the onions become so strong that they bring tears to the eyes of the potatoes in such vast volumes that the roots of the vines are kept moist and a big crop raised in spite of drouth. Sam tells us that Jack Allphin is trying an experiment, too, but says he don't think it's any good. He has crossed the early egg plant with the milk weed, hoping to harvest custard pies.

Send THE LEADER to a friend.
