EDITORIAL AND COMMENT.

Before another number of THE LEADER is before you, our great nation will have celebrated another national holiday. To our younger people the celebration of the 4th day of July, 1899, will mean more than it ever has before in their lives. New conditions have brought to their minds the fact that war, even to the victors, is a terrible thing, and that a kind Providence must have kept a protecting watchcare over us since 1621 to see that our young, liberty-loving republic made no grievous errors. Look at other countries, other forms of govern-ment. In none of them, not even the best, can be found such favorable conditions as here abound. Think on these things, and celebrate Tuesday earnestly and patri-otically and let your heart be full of thankfulness to Almighty God that you live in a land which nurses Admiral Deweys in abundance, in which freedom and love of liberty are daily taught by the view of Old Glory waving from hundreds of thousands of school houses scat-tered far and wide over the length and breadth of this great land. It is no small honor to have been reared in such a country, and it is also no trifling matter to so live as to honor such a grand country and inspiring flag. May she ever wave while time shall last, to lift higher each son of toil, whose eyes, with loyal love feast upon her ever wav-ing folds.

The peace conference at The Hague is not doing much. Russia proposes a standstill for three years. It will do no harm to look carefully at Russia's plan for the three years of standstill before taking any de-cisive move.

In order to accommodate the growing demand on the part of Portland people for facilities to reach Yaquina bay in the bathing season without so much loss of time from business, the Southern Pacific has arranged with the Corvallis & Eastern so that a night train will run between Portland and Yaquina. It will leave the union passenger depot, Portland Saturday evening at 7, and arrive at Yaquina at 6:30 Sunday mornings. Return-ing, it will leave Yaquina Sunday evenings at 9 and arrive in Port-land the next morning at 7:45. For these Saturday-Monday excur-sions, $6 will cover the entire cost of transportation.—Oregonian.

The Sultans Gifts To Uncle Sam

On the seventh day of the month of Schawwal, in the 1254 of the Hegira—which is the Arabian way of writing December 25 1839—the Sultan of Oman, whose name was Seyyid Saood, Bin Sultan Bin Ahmed, addressed a gracious letter to "His Excellency, Martin Van Buren, President of the United States of North America," in which he informed the President that he had sent him by the Royal ship "Sultane" a few trifles as a token of friendship and good feeling. These trifles consisted of two Ara-bian horses and their groom, one bottle of attar of roses, two pieces of gold, five demijohns of rose-water, one Persian carpet, one gold ornament with a silk tassel, four camel's-hair shawls, one gold-mounted sword, two large pearls, a string of one hundred and fifty pearls, one gold plate, one bottle of diamonds, one gold snuff-box stud-ded with precious stones, and one box of mixed pearls and diamonds. Under the constitution, the Presi-dent is prohibited from accepting a personal gift from any foreign State or Power, and as the Sultan's gifts had arrived in New York and the Commander of the "Sultane" would not leave the country with-out presenting his master's offer-ings, an embarrassing complication was the outcome. The matter was finally referred to Congress, and after three months of correspon-dence, red tape, diplomacy and legislation the Sultan's Christmas presents were finally accepted; and then the President was put to the trouble of selling the horses, the shawls and the rose-water, while Uncle Sam was given the further trouble of finding a suitable place to store the remaining gifts, and was afterward put to great expense in capturing the thief who carried off the entire collection in a bag and was only caught after a long chase.—Ladies' Home Journal.
