Attest: J. F. STEWART,
City Recorder, Pro Tem.

"If we call the roll of the great teachers of this generation we discern that not one but has had his hours of depression when his reform has seemed failure, and weary of strife, he has asked God to take away his life," writes Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, D. D., of "An Outlook upon the Victory of Optimism," in the October Ladies' Home Journal. "Carlyle enters into gloom saying 'I shall die leaving no man the better for the living.' Spencer, too, in the saddest pieces of writing our generation has seen, affirmed that he had failed to influence his generation, since a philosopher has done little for a man who simply shows him what is right; while Ruskin, like Elijah, bitterly and passionately prays for the end of his career. But in retrospect we now see that in his depressed hour the prophet stood in a golden haze of glory that veiled the future fame and victory. So far from forgetting Turner, England has consecrated the noblest room in her gallery to that man who was the great master of orchestral effects in color. If the sense of failure once choked Ruskin's heart, now we see all economic teachers are writing their philosophy under the influence of his Christian spirit. If Carlyle and Spencer once felt that they looked out upon wild tracts of savagery, ignorance and vice, it is given us to see afar off, like some nebula just swinging into sight, the vision of a new era for man; an era of wisdom and justice and love."

Mary had a little lamb, that time has passed away. No lamb could follow up the pace our Mary sets today; for now she rides the air shod wheel, in skirts too short by half; no lambkin shares her airy flight, but you can see her calf. But who is there that can complain or cry in woe, "Alas!" So long as Mary's calf's all right the lamb can go to grass. So all the men delighted gaze, their joy is not a sham, for while the other critter is out they have no use for lamb.—Long Creek Eagle. Skookum!

Many Thanks.

"I wish to express my thanks to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, for having put on the market such a wonderful medicine," says W. W. Massingill, of Beaumont, Texas. There are many thousand of mothers whose children have been saved from attacks of dysentery and cholera infantum who must also feel thankful. It is for sale by O. O. Krogstad, druggist.
