Coming to Oregon, says the Eugene Guard: "Five gentleman from South Dakota, who have been looking at the country, left for their homes today. They say they intend selling out in Dakota and removing to Oregon. They think this a grand country." There are indications of a heavy immigration into Oregon from several of the states east of us.

When the United States, through the fortunes of war, acquired possession of the Philippines, was it their duty to ask the few semi-civilized and the many semi-barbarous inhabitants of those islands, Do you wish to be governed by United States laws? To ask the question is to answer it. Every man, worthy to exercise the rights and perform the duties of an American citizen, knows that under the protection and guidance of the laws of the United States the inhabitants of the Philippines will make greater progress in civilization, in commerce, in manufactures, in arts, in science and in all that goes to make a happy people, than they would in a thousand years of attempts to obtain their own consent to any form of government the brightest and best of them could devise. We believe in continuing to follow the manifest destiny of the United States, carry liberty and happiness to the remotest regions of the earth. That is the legitimate work of the doctrine of the survival of the fittest.—Walla Walla Statesmen.
