Everywhere the great globe is dotted with graves; in countless cemeteries emerald mounds stand out from the earth's surface to tell us that beneath is a tranquil and painless rest. The illustrious and the obscure, the rich and the poor sleep side by side, for there is neither caste class or discrimination among the dead. Epitaphs are not sought, nor narratives upon monumental columns consulted, to ascertain the character and deeds of those who have lived, worked and died. Neither the inscribed monolith nor eulogies traced on brass perpetuate the memory and work of a human being. What he did, what he accomplished for the elevation and advancement of mankind makes a mortal remembered. And the few who stalk out of all the centuries which have gone before us show how few of all the billions who have lived have worked and achieved for the race.--The Conservative.

HAVING A GREAT RUN ON CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

Manager Martin, of the Pierson drug store, informs us that he is having a great run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sells five bottles of that medicine to one of any other kind, and it gives great satisfaction. In these days of la grippe there is nothing like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to stop the cough, heal up the sore throat and lungs and give relief within a very short time. The sales are growing, and all who try it are pleased with its prompt action.—South Chicago Daily Calumet, For sale by O. O. Krogstad, druggist.

The highest tribute to the New Year's issue of The Oregonian is the fact its perusal in the east impresses readers principally with the resources and prosperity of this region. It is not so much the publication itself as the subject-matter it contains. Thrs is the object of the annual number. It is of no consequences what Eastern readers think of The Oregonian. The prime desideratum is to get them interested in Oregon.—Oregonian.

A few dozen eggs put on the market each week will do the liquidating act of the grocery bill. In some sections where eggs are only 7, 10 or 12 cents a dozen is no reason for believing that there is no money in them; if this matter were carefully figured out it would be found that 6 cents per dozen is a profitable price for eggs produced on many farms. —Northwest Pacific Farmer.
