Circulation Statement.

The circulation statement issued by the Treasury department February 1, 1900, contains some gratifying facts.

The general stock of money in the United States February 1, 1900, was $2,261,957,698. Of this amount there was in circulation $2,003,149,355—against $1,918,260,557 on February 1, 1899, and only $816,266,721 on January 1, 1897.

There was held in the treasury as partial assets of the government $258,808,343. This, observe, does not include the "redemption money"—gold certificates to the amount of $184,882,889, silver certificates in the sum of $396,519,045, and currency certificates (act of June 8, 1872) amounting to $14,580,000; neither does it include deposits of public money in national bank depositories to the credit of the treasurer of the United States, amounting to $107,936,650.

The estimated population of the United States February 1, 1900, was 77,116,000, and this gives us a per capita circulation of $25.98.

THE LEADER respectfully presents these facts and figures in refutation of the assertion that this nation is afflicted with a scarcity of money. There is plenty of money, but a small per cent of the nation's population is unable to get next to it. This is true of every country, is true of the past and present, and will be of the future. It is destiny.

An abnormal and ominous silence has prevailed in Kentucky during the past few hours.

The headlines in a daily newspaper announce that "Bryan consents to talk." This is an age of surprises.

Our democratic and populistic contemporaries are kindly fixing up states and things for the republicans. This is evidence that the "open season" for politics will soon be here.

The famous, or notorious, Johann Most was in Portland the other day and declared that his mission is to "free the human race from the insane asylum into which we have drifted." Herr Most is as modest as ever. Apparently he is the only one left on the outside of the big madhouse.

Reports from South Africa indicate that the British troops are still getting the worst of the argument. They have learned from bitter experience that the Boers cannot be ousted from their strong positions by frontal attacks, but have not yet discovered the way to do the trick. There'll come a time some day, however—unless "the powers" should intervene.

The Independent at Hillsboro is in receipt of a letter from gentlemen who propose to establish at that place a condensed-milk factory, provided the farmers in that vicinity furnish at a central depot the milk of 50 cows at the beginning and increase the number to 1000 by the end of the first year. The offers for a site and building to be deeded after the factory runs three years have been received by the promoters of this proposed industry.

The Tillamook Headlight reports that the cheese made in Tillamook county last year brought in from the outside $74,000; butter, $100,000; beef cattle, $50,000. No wonder the Tillamook farmers are among the most prosperous in the state.

Ex-Governor Churchill, of Arkansas, a life long democrat, recently declared himself for expansion in these words: "I am a loyal democrat, but an American citizen and I stand by the flag and the soldier who is fighting for it. Expansion is a democratic doctrine and we cannot honorably recede from it. I do not see how any southern man can take any position other than for expansion. 'Imperialism' means nothing and is simply used to scare the ignorant. Our flag is planted in the Philippines, and no one is going to haul it down; and there it will remain as a beacon light to all Asiatic nations."

For The Babies.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures coughs and colds, preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquefies the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences.
