Religious bodies great and small, seem to be experiencing a baptism of sacred enterprise. They are mobilizing their forces, as if making ready to enter the coming century under that invisible Leadership which rides forth "conquering and to conquer." There is a notable decline of controversy, a growing passion for unity, and an urgent demand for the application of truth to life, or for bringing all human affairs into harmony with the higher spirit. The sense of stewardship over the Lord's goods is placing large and willing offerings at the disposal of church extension boards or in the treasuries of educational and philanthropic institutions. Best of all, perhaps, is the spread of good-will and neighborly helpfulness among all classes.—Youth's Companion.

In some of the flower gardens in Grants Pass, says the Courier, the crocuses are blooming. Some varieties of the little wild flowers have been in bloom for two weeks, ever since the last of January. The weather has been mild and spring like, just a little more so than we generally expect at this time. This winter has been different from the ordinary in the copiousness of the rainfall and the smaller amount of frosty weather. These balmy days give us the spring fever. We would like to do nothing but walk around with a camera and record the beauties of the landscape.

A company has been formed at Linden, Ind., whose aim is to put up a factory that will manufacture cellulose dynamite, fine art paper, varnish, kodak films, card box packing, patent leather finish, linoleum, imitation silk, waterproof cloth, face powder and glue—all from cornstalks. If the enterprise is a success other factories will be established in different parts of the country. It can readily be seen what this will mean to the farmers, for every acre will produce from three to four tons of stalks, and the price paid will be about four dollars a ton. The machinery for this one establishment will cost $1,000,000.

Tardy Justice.

Many a thrilling story is told in the official reports of a Congressional Committee on Claims. The Phillips claim is an illustration. It seems that on December 21, 1866, Fort Kearney, under the shadow of the Bighorn Mountain, and then two hundred miles from the nearest telegraph line, was besieged by Sioux Indians, under Red Cloud, who greatly outnumbered the garrison.

A detachment of seventy-eight soldiers, who had gone out to relieve a wood-train a few days before, had been massacred within four miles of the fort, and the Indians, stimulated by this victory, were pressing hard to complete their deadly work.

At this juncture, John Phillips, a scout and trader, volunteered to take a message to Fort Laramie, two hundred and twenty-five miles away. It was the only hope of relief. With the scantiest supply of food for himself and horse, he left the post at midnight and rode across a country uninhabited by white men, and most of the way covered with snow. He had to travel by night and hide by day. The temperature was twenty degrees below zero much of the time.

Immediately upon the receipt of his message, troops were forwarded from Fort Laramie, and the garrison at Fort Kearney was soon relieved. For this remarkable feat, from the effects of which Phillips never fully recovered, the government did not directly reward him, and now, in behalf of his widow and child, said to be in straitened circumstances, a bill has been introduced and favorably reported by the Senate committee.—Youth's Companion.

FOR THE BABIES.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures coughs and colds, preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquefies the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences.
