have been relieved of female troubles by Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine.

The letters of a few are printed regularly in this paper.

If any one doubts the efficiency and sacredly confidential character of Mrs. Pinkham's methods, write for a book she has recently published which contains letters from the mayor of Lynn, the postmaster, and others of her city who have made careful investigation, and who verify all of Mrs. Pinkham's statements and claims.

The Pinkham claims are sweeping. Investigate them.

THIRTY YEARS OF CURES

As to Divorce.
"Mamma," said little Ethel, "Mrs. Gayley's husband isn't dead, is he?"
"No, dear."
"Then what's she going to be married for?"
"Never mind, dear. You can't understand such things."
"Oh, I know," exclaimed the little girl, "it's just like getting vaccinated. It didn't take the first time, did it?"

CANCER

Sufferers from this horrible malady nearly always inherit it—not necessarily from the parents, but may be from some remote ancestor, for Cancer often runs through several generations. This deadly poison may lay dormant in the blood for years, or until you reach middle life, then the first little sore or ulcer makes its appearance—or a swollen gland in the breast, or some other part of the body, gives the first warning.

To cure Cancer thoroughly and permanently all the poisonous virus must be eliminated from the blood—every vestige of it driven out. This S. S. S. does, and is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated, obstinate blood troubles like this. When all the poison has been forced out of the system the Cancer heals, and the disease never returns.

Cancer begins often in a small way, as the following letter from Mrs. Shirer shows:
"A small pimple came on my jaw about an inch below the ear on the left side of my face. It gave me no pain or inconvenience, and I should have forgotten about it had it not begun to inflame and itch; it would bleed a little, then scab over, but would not heal. This continued for some time when my jaw began to swell, becoming very painful. The Cancer began to eat and spread, until it was as large as a half dollar when I heard of S. S. S. and determined to give it a fair trial, and it was remarkable what a wonderful effect it had from the very beginning; the sore began to heal and after taking a few bottles disappeared entirely. This was two years ago; there are still no signs of the Cancer, and my general health continues good.—Mrs. R. SHIRER, La Plata, Mo."

THE COURAGE OF HORSES.

They Become as Oblivious to Danger as a Man.

It has often been remarked that by constant association the horse readily imbibes many of the characteristics of his master. Nowhere has this been more manifested than in the armies of the world. In times of war the horses seem to take as deep an interest in battles as do their riders.

One of the most curious sights to be seen in a cavalry charge is the various riderless horses galloping in the line in perfect order. At the charge of Balacava the front rank of one regiment was composed to a great extent of riderless animals, their masters having dropped one by one. It would seem that in the excitement of the moment the horses lose all conception of what is happening around them and probably fall to notice the fall of their riders. The return of riderless horses to camp is an almost certain sign of defeat. When a cavalry charge is successful the horses will, as I have said, all keep together, even though they have lost their riders. But when a force is routed the first news of ill omen to those in the rear will be the return of the horses with empty saddles and stirrups dangling free. To illustrate the callous feeling these animals have under fire, a case which happened at Ladysmith during the siege may be cited. A farrier sergeant was engaged in shoeing an officer's horse in the open ground behind the stables of a hotel, and had already put one or two nails in the shoe when a shell came screaming through the air. The next moment the missile burst five or six yards away from where the sergeant and the horse were standing and the splinters flew around both, but failed to touch either. When the smoke had cleared the horse was to be seen with its foot still in the man's apron, quite undisturbed by the incident.—Pearson's Magazine.

BIRDS THAT LIVE IN COLONIES.

South African Feathered Creatures Develop the Social Instinct.

The social weaver birds of South Africa build their nests in colonies under a common umbrella-like roof, probably woven for defensive purposes against the intrusion of snakes. The gardener, one of the bower birds, constructs its highly decorated nest with adjoining ornamental spaces, apparently for the purpose of furnishing an attractive meeting place for social intercourse with its fellows. The spotted collar bird—a cousin of the crow—prepares its artistic bower, a sort of assembly room ornamented with shells, pebbles and other bright-colored bric-a-brac, where in due time festive gatherings are held, and much apparent mutual admiration attends the strutting and dancing of the males.

The European lapwing also carries out its taste for social intercourse to the extent of holding dancing parties, described by Hudson. At these the birds, who live in pairs, are joined by a third, and all three, keeping step, begin a rapid march, uttering resonant drumming notes in time with their movements. As the march ceases the leader stands erect, while the others bow before it, and the visitor returns to its own quarters to receive a return call from one of the other two, when the quaint performance is repeated.

Original if Not Accurate.

This is a genuine extract from a schoolboy's recent "Essay on Nelson."
"Oh! Harding, kiss me again," were the buteful words of a heroic mortal who won a grate battle with one eye and a wooden leg. Before the bloody context this motto was uttered by him, "The queen expects every man to do his duty." Nelson was a brave man but his morals was not respectable. Once a lady whose name was Mrs. Hamblington, nursed him, and he said, "Oh, heavens heavens why do I love." When he died the queen met him in a boat and he went to St. Paul's and was buried. This is a marvelous lesson to me and all schoolboys. Do your duty to your parsters and masters and then even with a single leg you can say, "with this simple thing I will do my duty." As Nelson himself said "Even though you are only man you can do your duty."—Scottish Leader.

Every one should accumulate so much money that when he retires from active life he may hope to be heard of in connection with raising some new kind of mushroom or orchid.

Free Ice Fountains.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Church Temperance society, in New York, supports 12 free ice water fountains in the tenement house districts. They are in operation from May 1 to October 1, and many letters have been received telling of the constant stream of children with pitchers, draymen and others who have enjoyed them. The great increase this season in the price of ice makes it prohibitory for the poor, and therefore the fountains will prove even more of a blessing than heretofore. It costs $200 to erect one of these fountains, and the society desires to extend the system.

From War to Peace.

A Wise Printer.

An exchange tells of a printer, who, when his fellow workmen went out to drink beer during the working hours, put in the bank the exact amount he would have spent if he had gone to drink. He thus kept his resolution for five years. He then examined his bank account and found he had on deposit $521.86. In the five years he had not lost a day from ill health. Three out of five of his fellow workmen had become drunkards, were worthless and were discharged.

One point in growing turnips is to plant the seed on ground that has been well cleared of weeds. If the young plants can escape the weeds until the leaves are well out, half the danger of loss is then over. No plant is hardier than the turnip and the plants only require a good start to ensure a crop.
