Number 30.

LOCAL IN BRIEF.

Henry Nupson, R. E. Thompson and W. A. Thompson, all of Preston, Minn., were among the arrivals Wednesday evening. These gentlemen are energetic and responsible business men and represent considerable capital. The first-named was formerly sheriff of Fillmore county, Minnesota, the second is a member of the state senate, while the third represents a real estate, loans and insurance company. They were met at Albany by O. O. Krogstad, who will accompany them on a tour of inspection over the Coe lands, which have been mentioned in these columns several times during the past few months. The gentlemen are looking for business investments and, if satisfied with the result of their investigation, will provide the above-mentioned lands with substantial occupants. There is reason to believe their visit will result in much good to Lincoln county.

Mrs. Dora Clark, who has been visiting at the home of her brother, Mayor H. W. Vincent, for several months past, departed Monday morning for her home at Watertown, N. Y. A community is stirred by the presence of genial, christian women like Mrs. Clark, and the best wishes of her Oregon friends will always be with her.

Mr. Dubois also owns large tracts of timber lands in Polk, Lane and Clatsop counties. The forests of the east are rapidly disappearing, and he is thinking of bringing several of his sawmills to Oregon. Mr. Jones will point out the good locations and assist him in his investigations. Wide-awake business men and capitalists like Mr. Dubois are needed, and the fact that they have their eyes focused on Lincoln county is most encouraging.
