Among those women who have come into recent note by careful management of great wealth, is Miss Helen Miller Gould, daughter of Jay Gould, and sister-in-law of the extravagant Count de Castellane. Miss Gould's work for the soldiers and sailors of the Spanish War is still fresh in the memory. Much that is unfamiliar regarding her gifts and her methods of giving is told by Mrs. Sarah K. Bolton in the March Delineator. Miss Gould is one who dislikes notoriety and, therefore, one whose gifts often go unrecorded.

If ever there were a time when we needed to thing of what we can have without money, it is now. We think so much about money. We talk so much about money. We say we can do nothing without money. That is not so. We can be saints without money; we can have peace of conscience, peace with God, joy in God, we can have Heaven without money.—Margaret Bottom in the February Ladies' Home Journal.

Since balloting began for United States senator in the state legislature nearly one-half the republican members have shown a willingness to elect almost any good republican except Mr. Corbett. The latter's supporters, however, seem to be determined to stay with him, even if it results in no election. The choir will please sing "Blest be the Tie that Binds."

If the Oregon legislature should fail to elect a United States senator it will be an easy matter to saddle the blame onto the democratic members. They could accept the price offered by one of the wealthy republican candidates and elect him without further delay.

Mrs. Carrie Nation and her followers are still on the war path in Kansas. Edward Markham should jar loose in blankety-blank verse and tell us what he thinks of "The Woman with the Hatchet."

Another good theme for Edward Markham would be "The Man with the Sack." He could get the necessary pointers from Oregon, Montana and Nebraska.

A Wonderful Offer to Women.

We have received word of a most remarkable offer which is to be made to women by The Delineator, of New York.

Taking the fact that next year begins a new century, The Delineator offers to distribute $17,500 among 1901 women. The plan is so cleverly arranged that a woman living in a small town or village, has just as good a chance to win one of these 1901 prizes as a woman living in a city—because the prizes are given for the number of subscriptions secured in a town in proportion to the population of that town, instead of being given simply to those who send the largest list of subscribers—which, of course, are most easily obtained in big cities. Another clever feature of the plan is, that all the cities and towns of the United States and Canada have been arranged in seven classes. The cities of the greatest population are grouped in Class 1, and as these cities are not very many, the prizes offered are twenty-eight; the highest prize being $500, and the lowest $5.00. The total amount of prizes given away in this class is $1,000. The remaining smaller towns and villages fall into six other classes, and as the number of towns in a class increases, because, of course, there are more small towns than large ones, the amount of prizes given away to a class increases, so that in Class 7, there will be $1,000 distributed among 601 women.

Furthermore, to everyone who fails to win one of the 1901 prizes there will be paid an extra commission on subscriptions, provided they equal one out of every two hundred subscribers of the town from which the commission is sent.

This is altogether a very liberal offer, and one which the famous old Delineator is well qualified to make good. From our point of view, we do not see why such an offer needs to be made by the publishers of The Delineator, for we believe it is already a very high and a million times better. It is among the best of the offers of American women has come in this year, and it is from its practical advice that we get our details and the matters.

Eat and Run.

There isn't a man who would be seen running through the street munching a piece of pie. Why not? Because it would mean dyspepsia and stomach trouble. Not at all; but because it wouldn't look well. As a matter of fact many a business man snatches a lunch in such a hurry that he might as well take it on the run. That is one reason for the prevailing "stomach trouble" among men of business.

There is a certain remedy for diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It is Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The worst cases of dyspepsia and catarrh of the stomach have been cured by this medicine. It cures where all other means have failed to cure.

"I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach trouble," writes Clarence Carnes, Esq., of Taylorstown, Loudoun Co., Va. "It did me so much good that I didn't take any more. I can eat most anything now. I am well pleased with it. I hardly know how to thank you for your kind information. I tried a whole lot of things before I wrote to you. There was a gentleman told me about your medicine, and how it had cured his wife. I thought I would try a bottle of it. Am now glad I did, for I don't know what I would have done if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness. They stimulate the sluggish liver and cleanse the system of impurities. They should always be used with "Golden Medical Discovery" when there is need of a laxative.

A CONVINCING ANSWER.

"I hobbled into Mr. Blackmon's drugstore one evening," says Wesley Nelson of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism with which I suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as they all failed. He said: 'Well, if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by Krogstad, druggist.
