

Summons.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Lincoln County.

Austin Rosebrook, Plaintiff, vs.

Thos. L. Olson and Lina L. Olson, defendants.

In the Name of the State of Oregon: You and each of you, the above-named defendants, Thos. L. Olson and Lina L. Olson, are hereby cited and required to appear in the above-entitled court and answer the complaint of the said plaintiff filed therein on or before the 8th day of July, 1901, that being the first day of the next regular term of the above-entitled court and the time or date prescribed in the order for the publication of this summons, and on which you are required to appear and answer the complaint of the said plaintiff filed against you in the said entitled court; and you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, as herein required, for want thereof the plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sums specified therein and the relief demanded in his said complaint, to-wit: For a judgment against said defendants, Thos. L. Olson and Lina L. Olson, for the sum of One Hundred and Seventy-five Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of 7 per cent per annum from the 29th day of December, 1899, for $30 attorney fees in this action, and for his costs and disbursements herein. The period of time prescribed for the publication of this summons upon you is six weeks from date of first publication, to-wit, Friday, March 15, 1901, and the date of last publication is Friday, the 26th day of April, 1901. This summons is served upon you by publication in the Lincoln County Leader by order of the Hon J. F. Stewart, county judge of Lincoln county, State of Oregon. The date of the said order for service by publication is Mar 15, 1901.

B. F. Swope, Attorney for Plaintiff.

CAUGHT A DREADFUL COLD.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1658 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale by O. O. Krogstad, Druggist.

You cannot enjoy perfect health, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes if your liver is sluggish and your bowels clogged. DeWitt's Little Early Risers cleanse the whole system. They never gripe. Krogstad, the Druggist.

From east to west Oregon is 370 miles across, and 270 miles from north to south, giving it an area of 95,000 square miles. The acreage is greater than that of all the New England states, West Virginia and Delaware added, or greater than the aggregate of New York Pennsylvania and Delaware, or Iowa and Ohio, or Illinois and Louisiana, or of the total area of England, Scotland and Wales. There is plenty of room in Oregon for those who are seeking homes and investment in the great and growing West, and there are abundant opportunities for profitable returns for investment of capital and the intelligent application of labor.—Albany Herald.

OREGON APPLES.

A reporter of the New York Sun recently visited a retail fruit store which caters to New York's most exclusive trade to learn something about fruit. Among other things which the proprietor told him were the following interesting statements about apples:

"If you want a rare fruit and don't mind expense, buy apples. Hothouse grapes and winter strawberries are common enough, but I give you my word, half the time we can't get first-class apples at any price. Some of them look well enough, at first, but they haven't a good flavor, and they rot while you stand looking at them. I don't know what's wrong. The old orchards are played out and the new ones haven't been planted to take their place, and the trees that are bearing don't get proper care."

"Why, I can remember when delicious, juicy, sound apples were a drug on the market. Every one kept a few barrels of apples in his cellar, and, with a little sorting, the fruit was good all winter. I'd like to see you try that now. We don't even buy barrels of apples for our trade. It doesn't pay. The apples will not keep until the barrel is emptied. Look at those Pippins. We've had them three days and they are specked and unattractive already."

"The only good apples we get come from Oregon. They are packed in small quantities in boxes, and they keep fairly well. We've handled 1000 boxes of them this winter and we get from 50 cents to $1 a dozen. What would our great-grandfathers have thought if they had been asked to pay $1 a dozen for apples? I've paid 25 cents apiece for apples in Europe, and we'll reach that record here before long if something isn't done to improve our orchards."

"It's a pity for more reasons than one that apples are getting scarce. A physician was talking about it in here just the other day. He will have apples no matter what he has to pay for them, and he says they are the most wholesome fruit any one can eat. His children are allowed to have all the apples they want, and he says that if all children were allowed to eat apples whenever they felt like it there wouldn't be half so much sickness among them."

"Maybe that's one of the reasons children used to be healthier than they are now. I remember when I was a youngster I always had apples in my pockets, and so did every other boy, but we didn't often see candy. Then in the evening at home there was always a big silver bowl of shiny apples on the sitting-room table, and everybody in the family ate at least one or two during the evening. That sort of thing would bankrupt a millionaire nowadays."

TESTIMONIAL FROM OLD ENGLAND

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. William Savory, of Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years, being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." Sold by O. O. Krogstad, Druggist.
