NO PENALTY.
Now, everything that Russell did he did his best to hasten. And one day he decided that he'd like to be a Mason; But nothing else would suit him, and nothing less would please. But he must take, and all at once, the thirty-three degrees. So he rode the—ah, that is, he crossed the—I can't tell; You either must not know at all, or else know very well. He dyed in—well, well, never mind! It only need be said That somewhere in the last degree poor Russell dropped down dead. They arrested all the Masons, and they stayed in durance vile Till the jury found them guilty, when the judge said, with a smile, "I'm forced to let the prisoners go, for I can find," said he, "No penalty for murder in the thirty-third degree!"

J. L. HYDE, County Treasurer. Dated at Toledo, Oregon, this 5th day of April, 1901.

Once I was young, but now I am old, and I have never seen a girl who went back on her mother who ever came to be worth a one-eyed button to her husband. It is the law of God. It is not exactly in the bible, but it is written large and lawful in the lives of many misfit homes. If one of you chaps ever run across a girl with her face full of roses who says to you as you come to the door: "I cannot go for thirty minutes yet, for the dishes are not washed," you wait for that girl. Sit right down on the door step and wait for her, because some other fellow will come along and carry her off, and then you lose an angel. Wait for her and stick to her like a burr to a mule's tail.—Bill Arp.
