JOHNSON ITEMS.

Mrs May Burton of Salmon river took suddenly ill a few days ago, and died in a few hours. Her husband was away, and no one at home but her oldest girl and little boy. Particulars not known.

Mr. Davenport of Tillamook made Johnson a friendly call last week. He is blasting rock on the beach, he thinks he has struck gold.

E. F. Hardin has returned to his home on Schooner creek. He proke his wagon, on the road up Salmon river and had to leave his load by the road and come after another wagon and team.

Charley Bones has returned to his claim. He has been teaching school near Camas Washington.

C. Gordy and wife are home again on Drift creek.

Masters Walter and John Crowley are visiting Mr. Stephens. The woods are ringing with the sweet music of hounds and rifle shots. results next week.

Walter Crowley and Ralph Winters came down to haul the bridge irons up to the new bridge.

A thing is never worth while doing if it does not do us some distinct good, if it does not make us better, whether spiritually, mentally or physically. — March Ladies' Home Journal.

Johnny Writes a Letter.

My name is Johnny. I live near Johnson post office. And Mr. Editor I thought I would write you a letter. I went to school to Miss Parmele and learned to write so I guess you kin read it. I want to tell you I dont think Drift creekers need be skeered bout barbed wire fences. Cause that Tillamook feller staid all knight with us so poor that I guess if he didnt have his clothes on he would make a scel-ton. And he's a dentist, and he's dig-in in the bank and he's an old batch-elor. I hear that Miss Chattern was goin to teach our school and if the superintendant kums I know that taht her bean, kaus that tother boy said he is a grate big feller. There is so many girls here I told pap I wusent goin to go and he said all right Johnny, you can do as you please. My! that tickled me, and then as I thought I'll throw my hat up and yell hurra, I said, well pap how is that? He said, "You can take a licking or go to school, just as you like." I guessed I'd go to school, cause I know pap. Now I want to tell you. There's Ball's four girls, and no boys. There's Stephens four girls, Parmele's too girls, White's five girls, Hardins one and me. Do you think I oughter go? Besides that Tillamook man said he is going to bring in a family with three girls. Now bout that Tillamooker. He staid all night and told pap how he was just blowin money outen the rocks, and next mornin he tuck out some money and said "how much do I owe you?" and pap said, "You kin jist blow me open, some logs some time." He's a good feller all right cause he's goin to bring in a black-smith shop and a steam engine and a lot of goats and cattle and dogs a bunch of them—some sheppard, some bird, and a lot of hounds. I wish I had a gun and didnt hav to go to school. If you can read this maybe I write again. JOHNNY.

Roosevelt on Citizenship.

The Constitution of the United States of America has put a new meaning into the word citizenship. The high ideals of the fathers of our country have laid the foundations of good citizenship in such a way that the industrious, high-minded, ambitious men and women of all nations have flocked to our shores. The present prominence of our nation among the nations of the world and its new fields of usefulness and power have given to American citizenship a fresh inspiration toward true living and great accomplishment.

The high sentiments of our Chief Executive, in his address, "The New Citizen," printed in the Youth's Companion, are fitting—ly published in the Washington's Birthday Number. George Washington, by his pure life and wise conservatism and ambition for the new country, fairly won his title of Father of his country. Theodore Roosevelt, the best exponent of our twentieth century activity, has equally high ideals for the nation; and in this address and in his life he lays particular stress on the individual, his stewardship, his usefulness in home and public life. Washington and Lincoln led our nation over its most difficult paths. It has been left in recent years for such men as Theodore Roosevelt to embody the highest ideals of private and public citizenship.
