J. L. Hyde,
County Treasurer of Said County.

Joint Installation.

Abe Lincoln Post, G. A. R., and Abe Lincoln W. R. C., held a joint installation Tuesday night, followed by the usual supper and campfire. The following officers were installed:

Post—H E Collins, post commander; J H McNeil, junior vice; F M Wadsworth, chaplain; T P Fish, adjutant; H R Sturdevant, quartermaster; C A Dick, officer of the day.

Corps—Rose Schenck, president; Rebecca Dick, senior vice; Jennie Fish, junior vice; Ina Sturdevant, secretary; Ada Soule, treasurer; Elma Hyde, chaplain; Matilda Espy, conductor; Mary Arnold, guard; Mabel Bethers, Lavilla McNeil, Anna Hurley and Mamie Wakefield, color bearers. A number of the officers-elect were unable to be present, and this marred somewhat the installation ceremony, especially of the Post. As usual, the Corps carried off the honors. Its officers were installed by Captain Ham Sturdevant of the Post, who was the envy of all his comrades. It was a pretty and impressive ceremony. Captain Ham fairly covered himself with glory and the officers of the Corps demonstrated that they had been faithfully preparing for the occasion.

Then came the talk part. Messrs. Wadsworth, Sturdevant, Collins, Waggoner and Powers of the Post responded to "warm" and repeated calls—especially the former—while Mesdames Wadsworth, Schenck and Soule did the talking for the Corps. Several non-combatant guests were present and were honored by invitations to mix in the oratory. Rev. John Doran's remarks were especially pleasing. James McDonald, J F Stewart and George Bethers also contributed some good words.

It is needless to say the supper was elegant and ponderous. The Relief Corps always has this part of the program just right—unless too much of a good thing may be considered a failure. The affair has been declared by many to have been the most enjoyable of the season.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of the Goat Breeders' Association held at Little Elk on Jan. 24, 1903, at 1 o'clock, for the purpose of holding a goat show in Lincoln County.

JAS. McDONALD, President.

A full line of shoes for ladies and gentlemen at prices that can't be beat in Toledo. T. P. Fish.

James O'Connor, the French count of Portland, was among the arrivals Wednesday night. He is now representing the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society of New York.

J G Plank came up yesterday from Newport, accompanied by Willard Tucker, a son of our former townsman, Albert Tucker. The gentlemen are looking over Mr. Plank's homestead on Mill creek today, which will soon be decorated with a new house and other improvements.

Jim Derrick is convalescent.

Commissioner George King of Winant is in the city to-day.

L O Olsson of Newport had business in the city last Saturday.

J S Meek, a drummer, of San Francisco, was doing Toledo on the 13th.

R u in nead ove a suce? iff u r cum an c mee. Next door to barber shop.

The Toledo saw mill started up for a short run on the 12th, with a full crew.

Commissioner Frank Stanton went up the road on official business this morning.

Mrs. Arthur Casteel of Yaquina was among the eastbound passengers Monday morning.

John Fogarty, Jr., of South Beach passed through Monday morning en route to Portland.

Thomas Ferr and son Francis were in the city Wednesday. Mr. Ferr now registers from Winant.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leese returned to Corvallis Monday, after a couple of days' visit with Toledo friends.

Miss Mollie Blower of Mill 4 was in the city Wednesday night attending the entertainment at Woodmen Hall.

Jas. Caynaw of Otis had business in Toledo in the front of the week. He will read THE LEADER for the coming year.

Ches Morrison writes from Lebam, Wash., that he is getting $3 per day and plenty of rain and mud, which suits him pretty well.

Rev. John Doran will conduct services at Eddyville Sunday morning and evening, Jan. 25, and at Elk City Monday evening, the 26th.

A meeting will be held at the schoolhouse in Toledo on Saturday, the 21th, for the purpose of levying the school tax for the coming year.

The celebrated W. B. Stetson "Tiger" brand hats, $2.50 to $5. Macdonald & Hall Bros. of Siletz sell them. They are the finest in the market.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bellinger departed Monday for their home at Peudleton. They had been visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Lane of Siletz.

That tailor first door south of the barber shop is always busy. He guarantees a perfect fit on every garment and is thoroughly up-to-date. Prices reasonable.

Fred Chambers came in from Portland last night, to remain about a month. He is head cook on the Dayton, a quarters boat for government harbor and river surveys.

James Anderson left yesterday morning for Portland, where he hopes to obtain relief from inflammatory rheumatism. He will place himself under the care of a well-known specialist.

A birthday party was given at the residence of Thos. Horning on the 12th. The occasion was the birthday of Miss Mand Horning. Quite a number of the young folks had an enjoyable time until a late hour.

W H Tuttle, who had been visiting his half-brother, F W Canfield, returned Tuesday to his home at Portland. He is in love with this country and expects to come back some day and settle down for life.

W. I. Christy, the well-known C. & E. cat builder, has been conducting a car hospital at Blodgett this week, assisted by Will Start. The cars out there are afflicted with piles, we understand and Mr. Christy was sent out by the company to treat them.

Justice of the Peace Gus Weber of Beaver Creek was in the city Wednesday, accompanied by his little son Herman, aged 17, and 6 feet in his socks. Mr. Weber says the Beaver creek country beats the world on potatoes, and himself and neighbors are open for orders.

Dr. J. D. Wetmore made his first trip to Siletz Monday in the capacity of contract physician. The Doctor is emphatic in his praise of the excellent system and sanitary conditions existing in the Indian training school, hospital, etc., as a result of Superintendent McArthur's energy and efficiency. In his years of experience in hospital work in Chicago he says he has never encountered more striking evidence of the right man in the right place. A strong endorsement, indeed.

Fun at Woodmen Hall.

The "doins" given at Woodmen Hall Wednesday evening by Syringa Circle No. 21, Women of Woodcraft, was well attended.

The opening feature of the entertainment, and by far the most pleasing, was the doll drill by 16 children—8 little misses and 8 boys. The lullaby song by the little ladies and their expressive drill were very captivating, being pronounced by the appreciative audience "too cute for any thing." The boys part in this number consisted of a military drill in infant(ry) manual. It was very instructive to young papas and clearly defined, and demonstrated how the rising generation should be trained to become good citizens. Children brought up in the manner illustrated will vote as their forefathers shot.

The second number on the program was the farce "Off the stage." The characters were well delineated by Mrs. B. F. Swope, Mrs. C. H. Young, Miss Anna Alexander, Messrs. George McCluskey, Eli Gaither and C. E. Hawkins. There was an awful mixup in the plot of this farce. Everybody wanted to commit matrimony or go on the stage, or both. The heavy man in the play was a theatrical manager, Marcus Brass—whose chief mission in life appeared to be attending to other people's business. He was ably impersonated by C. E. Hawkins, whose years of practical experience has capacitated him for any old character. His acting was euphonious and egregiously apropos. After lots of trouble, "Anointed love," "like a gentle spirit brooding over all," appeared on the scene, peace reigned and the curtain went down on "Off the stage" to rise upon "Our Aunt Robertina." This comedietta was good. Mrs. R. A. Arnold, Mrs. C. H. Young, Miss Hattie Gillette, Messrs. Otto Krogstad, R. A. Arnold, Cliff Corno and Willie Peterson comprised the cast. Miss Gillette as Aunt Robertina, and Cliff Corno as Cousin Robert, created lots of fun, while Mr. Krogstad as the rather nervous old gentleman, Mr. Aspen, did his part in a highly edifying manner.

The new Woodmen Orchestra rendered good music and is a valued addition to Toledo Woodcraft.

Born—January 11, 1903, to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Altres, a son. Clarence is in perfect health—notwithstanding rumors to the contrary.

Our new devil has put THE LEADER "down" in several instances this week. Our extreme modesty and our regard for the patron saint of all printers prevent us from correcting the error. This will be understood by our contemporaries.

Mrs. Carl Knudson of Oyster City was severely burned Wednesday by her clothing catching fire, it is thought from the stove. With rare presence of mind she ran and jumped into a little stream near the house, but was badly injured before the flames were extinguished. George King reports that she is bearing up well under the intense pain.

F W Canfield hands us a copy of the Arlington (S. D.) Sun containing an account of a terrible wind storm which occurred at that place on the 6th inst. A barn 40x160—a stout structure with a stone basement—was totally demolished. Two men, one a relative of Mr. Canfield by marriage, were struck by flying timbers and instantly killed. Forty heads of cows and several hogs were also killed in the wreck. Much other damage less serious was inflicted by the storm. The moral is plain: Come to Lincoln county, Oregon.
