AFTER THE RAIN.

Where April goes threshing the hollows
And whipping the paths of the plain,
Sweet May is the reaper that follows
The musical flail of the rain.

Frank Walcott Hutt in May Lippincott's.

Kiss is a noun, it is a name; proper noun because it's the proper thing to do when they are ready and the heart is willing; plural number because two perform it; common gender because it possesses a delicate infatuation for the human race and agrees with the parties performing the act. Kissing is closely connected with "bus" which is a good old backwoods expression meaning a kiss that is highly enjoyed by two greenhorns who have powerful lungs to perform the act with. In this case bus means one kiss; rebus means kiss again; pluribus means a number of kisses; hornibus means to be caught by the old folks; meribus means to steal a kiss; symplibus means to kiss the bands instead of the lips; blunderbuss means to kiss an old maid by mistake, and omnibus means to kiss all present including the mother-in-law.

"Father, what do printers live on?"
"What makes you ask such a question, Billy?" "Because you said the other day that you had taken our home paper for three years and never paid a cent on it." "Mary Jane spank that child."
