Cantata "The Flower Queen."

Matinee and evening performance of the beautiful cantata, "The Flower Queen" by the pupils of Miss Harkle-road at the Woodmen Hall, Toledo, Friday afternoon and evening June 5, 1903.

The matinee is especially given for children and those who find it inconvenient to attend at night.

It will be in every respect the same as the evening performance, the hall being darkened and the light effects the same as at night. Matinee prices, adults 20 cents, children 10 cents; evening prices, adults 25 cents, children 15 cents. There will be a dance after the cantata Friday evening at the usual price.

ARGUMENT.

The flowers all meet together in a secluded dell to choose a queen, the aspirants for the crown being the crocus, dahlia, sweet pea, dandelion, sunflower, rose, lily, violet, etc.

A recluse who is tired of the world happens at their place of meeting and overhears their argument and when the choice is referred to him selects the rose as "Queen of the Flowers." A. A. Fuller representing the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, will take the part of the recluse.

From them he learns the lesson that it is better for him to return and take his part in the affairs of the world than to retire alone and live a life of selfishness.

JOHN A. OLSSON,
Newport, Ore.

A large audience attended the session of the Teachers Institute at the courthouse last night, which was really a first-class entertainment. The opening number was a vocal duet by Mrs. Maybel Bethers and Miss Verna Ross. As usual, these local favorites were well received. Prof. F. D. Haroun followed with a vocal solo, the closing number being a vocal solo by Sheriff Ross. Each musical number was vigorously encored. It is seldom that so much of a good thing spices an evening's entertainment. Prof. E. D. Ressler's lecture, "The School in its relation to the Family, the Church and the State," was a pleasing, scholarly paper, containing valuable suggestions. The address by Prof. Haroun on "That Bad Boy and that Bad Girl" appealed strongly to the parents and young teachers present, who will certainly treasure the rich grist of "pointers." The Institute will close tonight at the courthouse. State Superintendent J. H. Ackerman is down for an address, which will, of course, be an intellectual treat.

By the way, don't forget the Woodmen Carnival at Corvallis June, 10, 11, 12 and 13. It will be a long time before the people of Lincoln county will have an opportunity to see anything of the kind so near home and at so little expense.

Hans Olson is daily expecting the arrival of some old Minnesota friends who are looking for a new home. He says they have money enough to buy Lincoln county. Here's hoping.

Tariff Tips.

Grover Cleveland seems to have a remarkable capacity for not learning by experience. He sagely repeats the advice of 1892—to make Tariff reform the issue, as if nothing had happened during the past twelve years. With Mr. Cleveland, Tariff reduction is the sacred solvent for everything. He can think of no sacrifice too great for the nation to make to secure Tariff reform. He seems to have genius for curing the "evils" of prosperity. Well, he certainly has demonstrated that his doctrine will do this. He did it successfully in 1893, and if the people will only give him a chance he will do it again in 1904. For curing the evils of prosperity, demand for labor, high wages and extension of business, he can be trusted to produce results every time.—Gunton's Magazine.

There will be no Tariff tinkering in 1903-4; there will be no Calamity Tariff in 1905. The enemies of the American system are welcome to enjoy the painful precedents of 1893-6. The American public are not dating economic legislation from 1894; they prefer the gait that was struck in the year 1897, when something struck Calamity in the enactment of the Dingley Tariff. Bosh fooled the folks in 1893; but you cannot fool most of the people twice with the same article. A veneer of mush and molasses does not make bosh more palatable.—Boston "Journal"
