Our Good Neighbors

From a Mountain Home.

CHITWOOD, Or., June 11, 1903.

Jack frost took a slight nip on some of our beans the morning of the 5th inst. Tomatoes near were not hurt.

Bees swarming and sheep shearing give us lively times.

Our range seems cleared of the bears and "varmints" for the present. Still we keep a sharp lookout for signs.

Garden and hay are growing fast. Prospect of a good crop, but it will be late.

I am late in season, but a few thoughts may be beneficial to some of our roads yet. It is time for us to quit filling up mudholes with brush and loose dirt, for it will be bad as ever before next spring. Take three poles from 6 inches to one foot in diameter (according to the solidity of the soil), lay one in the middle and parallel with the road and one near where each wheel should go; cut poles eight to ten feet long and at least three inches in diameter at small end; level the poles so they will lay solid, then cover with the poles close together. Don't stop to notch down or level, no matter how uneven or rough, so there is a good air chamber underneath. Cover the poles with at least six inches of dirt and 1 foot in middle; level the surface and it may be necessary to pack the dirt a little on each side of a large pole. This will make a smooth, dry road as long as the air chamber lasts. The road to knowledge is truth, and it must be traveled by faith. We now show our faith by our works.

Harvey Parks had the misfortune to cut his right hand last week. The cut was deep, but is healing.
