MRS. WYGANT.

The old-fashioned social given by the losing wing of Syringa Circle Wednesday night at Woodmen Hall was enjoyed by a large number of the exponents of Woodcraft and a few invited guests. With but few exceptions the style of the costumes were decidedly ancient and several members of the Circle looked worse than a Davenport cartoon. The program was very appropriate and pleasing. The songs were the good old gems which always manage to get a little nearer to the heart than anything classic or up-to-date. Miss Maud Harkleroad, Mrs. George Bethers and Messrs. E. W. Gaither and C. E. Hawkins constituted a very satisfactory quartet. Miss Harkleroad rendered a couple of solos in captivating style. It was the first time many of our citizens had the pleasure of hearing her. Eli Gaither was Johnny-on-the-spot again and sang like a pair of love-struck bobolinks. Miss Ethel Lemmon and Dr. S. S. Thayer were called upon for recitations. The doctor wasn't exactly prepared, but happened to have the famous "Hoch der Kaiser" poem in his pocket and it did good service. Miss Lemmon was just as natural as life in her recitation about a girl who said "No" twice, but didn't mean it, and finally said "Yes." Mrs. Annie Hawkins, master of ceremonies, called Messdames John Ofstedahl and J. J. Gaither to the front of the hall and with a few appropriate remarks presented each with a handsome emblem pin as a reward for their success in securing the largest number of new members for Syringa Circle in the contest a few weeks ago. The recipients of the honor were pleased but speechless. One of the uncommon features of the affair was a race by several members of the Circle, with Mrs. Albert Waugh and Mrs. C. H. Young left in the finals. The former won by a narrow margin and received a setting hen as a prize. Al Taylor and Jim Gaither won the three-legged race and each was awarded a horse. The other pairs were Bob Collins and H. E. Peterson and E. S. Vant and George McCluskey. The former pair was going some, but fell in the stretch. The refreshments consisted of chicken and egg sandwiches, doughnuts, cookies and coffee and seemed to be appreciated. It was a rather late hour when the good time closed with one round of "cause, remedy and effect."

Dr. M. M. Davis of Yaquina was in the city Monday.

Ira Miller and daughter, Miss Lulu, were visitors from Newport last Saturday.

Charlie Montgomery, one of the Siletz merchants, had business in the city Monday.

Harry Eyer, the Chitwood postmaster and merchant was a county seat visitor last Sunday.

C. & E. Agent and Mrs. Bert Boles of Yaquina made Toledo a brief call Tuesday morning.

Tom Jackson, one of the Republican wheel horses of Siletz, had business in the city Wednesday.

Owen Graves, No. 3 of the Yaquina Bay Life Saving Station, was a county seat visitor Tuesday.

George Chambers made a business trip into the Salmon river country the latter part of last week.

Frank Jones returned last Friday evening from Portland, where he completed a course at the Business College.

W. B. Stevens, the well-known Albany merchant, passed homeward Tuesday morning from a visit at the Resort city.

Master Mechanic Walch and Fireman Ira Reeder of Yaquina went through to Albany Tuesday morning in charge of a locomotive.

Earl Landreth returned Wednesday from a visit with Ira Miller and family at their farm home between Yaquina and Newport.

Robert Chambers of Nortons had business in the city last Sunday. He has gone to Albany, to be absent until some time next month.

Mrs. C. G. Copeland and daughter Esther returned Monday evening from a visit at Portland. They went to their home at Siletz next day.

THE LEADER has just received a new supply of letterheads, envelopes, cards, etc. Now is the time to place your order for some up-to-date printing.

Assessor Howell returned Monday evening from the east end of the county, having completed his work in that section. He is visiting Toledo taxpayers this week.

Oliver Altree will soon have the planer installed in his sawmill and other improvements and conveniences added. He now has about 300,000 feet of logs on hand.

Lee Williams, one of the tall Elks of Newport, was in the city all day last Saturday getting acquainted with the streets, preparatory to the grand stampede of the herd that night.

J. F. Stewart has been all bunged up with rheumatism during the past week. It is an ailment that seems to become more common as our population increases by the influx of easterners.

Foreman Gannon and crew have put the Fourth street approach to the railroad track in good condition with a stone base. The improvement will be appreciated by teamsters next winter.

The Ladies' Aid Society had a pleasant session Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Samuel Center. The hostess served choice refreshments, and business and pleasure were blended admirably.

Cene Young and Jim Derrick departed Monday for the Sugarloaf country to search for one of those famous lost mines which you read about. We hope they'll find it, bring it back and put it in circulation.

Shedd Rosebrook keeps his parents pretty well informed as to his movements—or the movements of the battleship Wisconsin—through the newspapers. The Honolulu Advertiser states that the big fighting ship left that port for Yokohama May 28. The paper speaks highly of the conduct of the crew while ashore and also praises the band, of which Shedd is a member.

Captain Robert Jones of Marshfield went through Tuesday morning en route to Portland. The Captain left Coos bay at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon on the Roberts, reached Newport at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning and probably arrived at Portland about 5 o'clock that evening. Coos bay to Portland in 24 hours is pretty fair time, but it might be shortened three or four hours. The question of a regular boat between Coos and Yaquina bays is being agitated to some extent.

VISIT OF THE ELKS.

A Herd of the Antlered Animals at Large in Toledo.

On May 14, 1804, the Lewis & Clark expedition, numbering 30 persons, left the mouth of the Missouri on its long journey into the unexplored wilds of the far west.

On June 13, 1903, 40 brave men left the shores of the Willamette to explore the haunts of the noble Elk in Lincoln county. They certainly showed tact and wisdom, for it was "In the good old summer-time" all along the line. These pilgrims left Albany in a special car, with a band of their own, to visit the scattering members of the herd. Arriving at Toledo, they found quite a number browsing around, with heads and tails in the air. They had a pleasant time renewing old acquaintance.

At 7 p. m. the band gave a splendid concert for the opera house, to the delight of the lesser ones and the entire satisfaction of all.

At 9 p. m. the opera house was thrown open and there assembled a curious throng of animals, the Elks predominating.

Brother Davis, M. D., of Albany was escorted to the throne to be master of ceremonies of the social session. He at once called the session to order and three fine selections were furnished by the band. Dr. Davis then appointed his police for the evening. (Police, you know, are to keep order.) Brother Clyde Fox of Summit gave a very fine selection on the piano.

Pursuant to an old and well-established custom the police did their duty well. At this time Brother Eli Gaither was delegated to act as secretary of the meeting. The duty of the police was to bring before the master of ceremonies anyone caught disobeying any of the rules of the order.

Then came the address of welcome to the visiting Elks by Brother Ben Jones of Toledo, who gave a very graphic account of the introduction of the Elk—as far-reaching as is the east from the west. He paid a glowing tribute to the noble animal, with its fleetness of foot, quickness of eye and gentleness of disposition, that brought rounds of applause. Brother Bilyeu of Albany responded with a well-chosen and logical address, which was also received with warm demonstrations of approval.

Brother Burggraf then rendered a solo and was promptly fined $1.25 for not knowing when to quit.

Brother Neiss gave an inspiring solo—chorus by the audience—entitled "In the Good Old Summer-time."

Brother Ross rendered a fine solo, accompanied by Brother Clyde Fox upon the piano.

Brother Eli Gaither gave a solo entitled "Little Black Me," that was full of pathos and feeling.

Then the fun commenced. Culprit after culprit was arrested and as promptly fined—some for omission and some for commission. All were commission men before the bar. If any were forgotten, they expressed no regrets. The "pair o' docs" was very clever indeed. The police arrested Brother A. A. Fuller and arraigned him at the bar—not for what he had not done, but for what he had done.

The master of ceremonies, in a few well-chosen remarks about Brother Fuller's fine baby girl three weeks old, told him he ought to be ashamed of himself; that he merited a fine, etc., but would order that the secretary should pay him a sum of money with which his little daughter Florence might procure a souvenir of the occasion. The money was paid, Brother Fuller expressed his gratification and said the little daughter should have the present, with the name and number of the lodge presenting the same. Then the entire assembly was invited to the banquet room, where "the tables fairly groaned" with the good things prepared by a committee consisting of Brothers Lee Wade, Fred Stanton and Hurley Lutz. The English language is inadequate to fully describe the menu. Think of every thing good, and you have it.

After supper came more songs, two-steps three-steps and no steps at all.

At 5 a. m. of the 14th all took the train for Newport. After spending a very enjoyable day there they departed for home at 5 p. m., leaving many well wishes and hopes of a return visit in the future.

That tailor first door south of the barber shop is always busy. He guarantees a perfect fit on every garment and is thoroughly up-to-date. Prices reasonable.

Grant King and family returned Sunday evening from Corvallis, where they attended the Woodmen Carnival. Grant reports a way-up time—even if it was somewhat expensive.

Superintendent Con Sullivan of the C. & E. came in with the Elks last Saturday, but evidently got a little bit timid and went on to Newport. Really, the Elks are not as wild as they look.

The Racine, Rite Dedrick's new launch, made a trial trip to Yaquina Monday in charge of Engineer Enos. The boat caused but little trouble and showed all the speed that had been predicted.

H. K. Luggar, an old resident of Yaquina, came in Saturday evening with the Albany Elks, of which herd he is an honored member and a towering monument of sobriety and culture. In fact, it is said the Elks insist upon Mr. Luggar accompanying them on all their excursions on account of his dignified bearing, yet mild and gentle disposition.

The directors of the Toledo Cemetery Association desire to build a sidewalk from Toledo to the cemetery this season and also improve the grounds. This will require some money, and all owners of cemetery lots who are delinquent are urged to hand the amount to T. P. Fish as soon as possible. This is an important matter—one in which every citizen should be interested.

Commissioners Stanton and King made an official trip last week over the Siletz bay-Newport road—and the spots where the road ought to be. If this road is ever completed it will be one of the most important roads in the county—not more important, however, than the Toledo-Alsea bay road, or one that sometimes figures in dreams, connecting the county road across the Yaquina from Toledo with the Big Elk country. We'll probably have all of them some day if a little selfishness is smothered.

Geo. McCluskey has forsaken—temporarily, at least—the honorable and well-paid vocation of teaching the young idea how to shoot and become editor and proprietor of the Reporter. While years of experience cause us to doubt the wisdom of Brother McCluskey's act, we hope he will meet with that degree of success merited by his integrity and honest endeavor to mould public opinion along unselfish and broad-minded lines. No honest man will score an utter failure, notwithstanding the cynical construction of the old adage: "Do others, or they'll do you."

GEORGE BETHERS.

J. W. Hobbs of Eugene, deputy internal revenue inspector, paid Toledo an official visit Wednesday. Mr. Hobbs is recognized as one of the most valuable men in the service; therefore his territory has been increased. We believe, however, there was no increase in salary; but Mr. Hobbs is not kicking. He values more than mere cash the privilege of visiting Yaquina bay.

Judge C. M. Brown will deliver an address on Odd Fellowship at the M. E. church next Sunday evening, in recognition of the birth of the order in America. All Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are requested to meet at the hall at 7:30 and proceed in a body to the church.

The annual school election Monday afternoon resulted in the election of G. B. Croson as director and C. E. Hawkins as clerk. The board of directors was authorized to fence the school grounds and make other improvements.
