

Mrs. F. Wright, of Oelwein, Iowa, is another one of the million women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A Young New York Lady Tells of a Wonderful Cure:

"My trouble was with the ovaries; I am tall, and the doctor said I grew too fast for my strength. I suffered dreadfully from inflammation and doctored continually, but got no help. I suffered from terrible dragging sensations with the most awful pains low down in the side and pains in the back, and the most agonizing headaches. No one knows what I endured. Often I was sick to the stomach, and every little while I would be too sick to go to work, for three or four days; I work in a large store, and I suppose standing on my feet all day made me worse. "At the suggestion of a friend of my mother I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is simply wonderful. I felt better after the first two or three doses; it seemed as though a weight was taken off my shoulders; I continued its use until now I can truthfully say I am entirely cured. Young girls who are always paying doctor's bills without getting any help as I did, ought to take your medicine. It costs so much less, and it is sure to cure them.—Yours truly, ADELAIDE PRAHL, 174 St. Ann's Ave., New York City."—$5000 for full original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

POPULAR NORTH BEACH.

Excursion Steamer T. J. Potter Goes Into Service June 27.

Those who are planning their vacation this year will be interested in knowing that the popular excursion steamer, T. J. Potter—queen of river boats—goes into service June 27, and that she will leave Portland, during the season, every day from Tuesday until Saturday inclusive. To see the beauties of the picturesque and mighty

Columbia from the decks of the Potter is a treat never to be forgotten. For speed and grace nothing in river or lake service in the entire West equals this side-wheeled beauty. Five hours from Portland and one from Astoria, through the famous fishing waters of the Columbia, past scores of salmon traps and nets and as many white-winged fish boats, lands the passengers at Ilwaco, where close connection is made for beach points with trains of the Ilwaco Railway & Navigation Company, whose cars stand on the wharf awaiting the steamer. The beach is 27 miles long, two hundred yards wide at low tide, and so hard that carriage wheels scarcely leave a mark. It is an ideal place for driving, riding, wheeling or walking, and the surf bathing is unsurpassable. The excellent hotels and boarding houses provide good accommodations at prices ranging from one dollar to three dollars per day. The round trip rate from Portland to Astoria is $2.50; to Ocean Beach points, $4.00, good until October 15th. On Saturdays, during July and August, round trip tickets are sold to beach points at $2.50, good for return passage leaving the beach the following Sunday evening. The Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company has just issued a new summer book, (free for the asking) which tells all about the delightful resorts of the valley of the Columbia river. This can be obtained from any agent of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company or by writing A. L. Craig, general passenger agent, Portland, Oregon.

Wanted Their Money's Worth. Both McEnery Stuart, the Southern author, was taken suddenly ill when giving a reading in a church in New Haven, Conn., and was obliged to stop and return to her home in New York. The church refused to pay her.

In the Imperative. While the boys of a classroom were giving a grammar lesson, the teacher said: "John give me a passive verb." "Who?" answered John. "Now make it active," said the teacher. "Back up," replied John.

BEAUTIFUL TEETH.

Better for a Woman Than Riches, Dress or Intellect.

Did you ever notice that, when anyone describes a pretty girl, he generally begins by saying she has a beautiful set of white teeth?

Well, that is natural, because a fine set of teeth is the most conspicuous characteristic of the face. A winning smile, adorned by even, brilliant teeth, carries a woman farther than riches, dress or intellect.

And, on the contrary, think a moment of the shock you get when you see a woman, or a man, with a yellow revolting set of teeth, or great holes in the mouth where good teeth ought to be.

Dr. W. A. Wise, the famous dentist of the Failing building, Portland, Oregon, said to the reporters yesterday that it was beyond his comprehension why any one in the Northwest now should neglect the teeth for a day longer. The big cost of dental work in the past has been reduced. The expense now, at such large and modern equipped offices as Wise Brothers', is extremely moderate—a more formidable than getting repairs made to any article of regular wear in the household. And the pain has been banished. There is no pain. For your own comfort, go and have your teeth put in order. For your looks' sake, don't neglect your teeth any longer. If your teeth are worn out, have a new set fitted; or, if a few of the old ones are gone, have them replaced, and begin to enjoy life again. Your friends will like you better, and you will like yourself better. Do it now.

By Way of a Lesson.

"One of our cars ran over another man last night" announced the superintendent of the street railway line.

"Well," replied the president, "after awhile the people will learn that the only safe place is aboard the car and that 5 cents is a small price to pay for safety."

EFFECT OF ANÆSTHETICS.

Patients in Dentist's Chair Often Act Queerly Under It.

"As I entered the dentist's office," said a woman the other day, "I saw a man sitting in a chair rocking violently and with a wild look of misery written on every feature. Next him sat a demure looking trained nurse. After a few minutes, during which we all three sat and pined each other, the dentist entered, dressed for out doors, and he beckoned the man. The unfortunate wretch responded and then we knew. The doctor never draws teeth himself, but takes such patients as have need of that gentle art to a brother dentist, who in his turn makes a specialty of drawing, always administering gas for it.

"The nurse turned to me with a smile. 'I wonder what he will do when he comes out of it?' she said, meaning the anaesthetic.

"Why, what do you mean? I asked. 'Don't you know?' she answered. 'My patients always say or do something silly either when they take it or when they come out of it.'

"I was interested at once and begged her to tell me some instances.

"Why, let me see," said she. "To begin with, women always yield to the influence of an anaesthetic more easily than men do, possibly because they are not so strong-willed. Anyway, women make better patients. They are less trouble and so afraid of pain or even of death.

"In almost every case I have had the women rather welcome chloroform, although almost all of them fight either, and I don't blame them. After the first whiff a woman will almost invariably make love to the doctor, calling him all the sweet things she ever knew and demanding his affection in return. Then she quiets down and the operation begins. When coming out of it if she is a particularly sweet and refined woman she will use the most villainous language and carry on generally in a manner calculated to shock a new nurse almost out of her senses.

"Now, on the other hand," she continued, "the woman who ordinarily uses Bihlengate (and there are quite a few) will babble of childhood's days, angels' faces and peaceful green fields. This seems strange, but it is nevertheless true. Of course, we seldom tell them what they have been saying or doing. It wouldn't do —" she broke off. "Ah, here comes the dentist and his patient. See how wild he looks. You just ask the doctor what he did. See if it wasn't funny."

"The doctor came in, ushered his patient into the operating room, spoke a few words to the nurse and followed his patient.

"I came for something to relieve my patient," she said to me in explanation. "She had a violent toothache."

"The doctor returned with a small package, which he handed to the nurse. He then spoke to me, saying that he would be ready in a few minutes. When I turned I found the nurse had gone.

"Usually I am not in a hurry to get into a dentist's chair, but, being a woman and a curious one at that, was anxious to hear what that man had said or done when under the influence of the anaesthetic.

"Did you notice that man?" asked the dentist as he carefully filled my mouth with cotton. I tried to look as intelligent as my gaping mouth would let me. "He has just taken gas to have a nerve killed and taken out," continued the doctor. "When he was returning to consciousness he pulled a great roll of bills out of his pocket and insisted upon throwing them all over the place, giving them to everybody he met in the halls and acting generally as a millionaire philanthropist gone mad. After he had quieted down a little he told me confidentially that he experienced the finest jag he had ever had in his life. And the funny part of that remark is that neither I nor anybody else that knows the man has ever known or heard of his taking a drop of liquor. In fact, he has always asserted that it was strictly against his principles to touch liquor in any form. This is surely a funny business."

"And shaking his head mournfully," continued the woman, according to the New York Times, "the doctor proceeded to make things lively for me."
