Siletz Items.

Louie Fuller returned from Portland Saturday.

Negotiations are in progress for an M. E. church bell.

Will Soule is having some veterinary work to attend to in Siletz.

Hall Brothers have about 150 fir logs in the boom and are still at work.

Superintendent McKoin is negotiating for a team of horses.

David John and Henry Johnson made a business call to Toledo Monday.

Rev. T. B. Ford, D. D., is reported seriously ill in his room at Los Angeles.

Miss Mabel Kreiger visited her parents near Toledo Saturday, returning Sunday.

Harold Anderson and one of Neils Andersen's boys came in from Portland Monday.

Mrs. Watts, Mrs. Alexander and Otis DeLaurier have been on the sick list this week.

Fred Chambers and Rev. Bryant brought in two nice large strings of trout Tuesday.

Remember that Wolverton Orton has the full-blooded O. I. C. hogs. He sold a beauty last week.

Roy Bryant, in response to a peculiar feeling or impression, visited the county seat Saturday and Sunday.

Bruce Butler has moved all his belongings to his place on Sam creek and will make it his home hereafter.

The Epworth League workers are earnestly engaged in a temperance crusade. Many have signed the pledge.

Andrew Winkler had Rev. E. H. Bryant survey a tract of land Monday preparatory to filing on the same Thursday at the county seat.

Miss Cecile Clay has been relieved from school work for a few days and is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Adams.

Miss Pearl Hall was a Toledo visitor Sunday, also visiting the summer resort. The souvenirs of her trip to Newport in the form of rhododendrons were beautiful.

Our merchants in response to an order by Superintendent McKoin have posted in their places of business the wholesale and retail prices of all staple articles carried by them.

Several of the employes are living in hopes of attending the St. Louis Exposition by the 1st of July. We cannot go, but intend attending the chittim exhibition at the Lewis & Clark Fair in 1905.

Superintendent McKoin is busy these days making things present a clean and neat appearance around the school buildings. The children have their individual gardens in splendid order. Flower beds and house plants are in abundance.

A letter from T. J. Buford states that he has obtained what he so long desired—control of the state of Oregon and Washington in the organization of the Lions lodge, and his headquarters will be hereafter in Portland. Mary and Guy are with him.

Government seeds would do some good. Send word to Roosevelt.

Drilling of the fire department at the Indian school occurred Tuesday.

Many of our citizens are busy cutting their wood contracted for by the Government.

Representatives of the Allen & Lewis and Pacific Coast Biscuit Co. were interviewing our merchants Monday.

Charlie Depoe left for Portland Monday in response to a call to the bedside of his daughter, who is dangerously sick.

Major Ludson's wife is very sick. Dr. Parker performed an operation successfully Monday and she is reported improving.

Otis DeLaurier has constructed a new approach to his residence. It does not present as level an appearance as it might, but is very convenient.

The Republican and Democratic nominees for justice of the peace and their deputies are earnestly engaged in work-up their interests for the election on June 6.

Hall Brothers purchased some bear skins and other furs that are superb of John Garner and Stewart Rooney. They made a shipment of 51 pieces a few days ago.

James F. Templing of Roseburg has obtained possession of the Kitty Evans place at $20 per acre. Mr. Hamilton was associated with Mr. Templing in prospecting here.

Mrs. C. G. Copeland has been in Portland for the past week purchasing a supply of summer goods. Fred Chambers has re-papered the residence during her absence.

At Hazard's pavillion in Los Angeles, where the general conference of the M. E. church is being held, the decorations consist of 15,000 calla lilies, with smilax and frieze work about the stage.

Arthur Bensell is creditably filling the position of industrial teacher at the training school in place of E. T. Hamar resigned. While painting one of the buildings Monday he fell a distance of about twenty-five feet and miraculously escaped injury but left his finger marks down the freshly painted boards.

Another Candidate.
Having been requested by many friends both inside and outside of the party to become an independent candidate for the office of County School Superintendent, I have decided to run for the above named office as an Independent Republican.

Should the electors of Lincoln county entrust to me the functions of this important office, I pledge myself to devote my entire time and ability to it without favoritism or partiality to anyone.

H. D. BARBER.

If you wish to register, you'll have to hurry, as the registration books close Monday night. Of course, you may vote if you don't register by rounding up half a dozen qualified citizens to vouch for you and "swearing it in," but it is much easier to register. Don't be lazy. Register.

An Oyster City Event.

The social dance given at Oyster city last Friday night was a grand success, the main feature being a prize waltz. The prizes were: first lady, hand mirror; first gentleman, necktie, which were won by Mr. Cox and Mrs. Hanlon. Mr. Glass of Toledo gave the prizes. Second gentleman, silk handkerchief; second lady, box of paper and envelopes. Won by George Lewis and Mrs. King. Prizes given by Frank Lane of Newport. Third gentleman, meerschchaum pipe; third lady, bottle of perfume. Won by B. N. King and Miss Ryan. Given by Stewart & Vant of Toledo. Fourth, cash prize, given by the managers of the dance, and pompadour comb, given by Henry Lewis of Toledo. Won by Mr. Ryan and Miss Huntsucker.

Same Thing Over Here!

All nature responds gleefully to the irresistible effects of the coaxing climate and while crops of all kinds mature slowly and, therefore, fully, through the long summer season, the woods reflect the helpful climatic influences also, and trees and shrubs of all kinds exhibit a luxuriant growth not to be seen in any other part of the United States. In riding through the country at this time of year an unequalled panorama presents itself at every turn in the road. A picture taken at one point in the country road will bear no resemblance to one taken at a point not 50 yards distant from the first, and this can be repeated with endless variety—all averaging so high in magnificent diversity as to make of the Willamette valley a veritable picture gallery, whose every exhibit proclaims Nature to be the enthusiastic artist.

And all these characteristics, to be observed everywhere in this part of the state, will be especially noticeable in the Lewis and Clark grounds next year. Those who have been so fortunate as to visit the Park in Portland will recall the great variety of native trees which grow in such endless profusion. This characteristic of the park will be a pleasing feature of the Lewis and Clark grounds, with the added attraction of a panorama more elaborately beautified, and which is not to be compared for a moment with the location and natural surroundings of any other exposition ever held in the United States.

In the woods adjacent to the Champeog monument on Monday a party of visitors noted growing on a flat of ground no larger than an ordinary dooryard beautiful specimens of red fir, alder, willow, ash, laurel, cedar, dogwood, oak, hazel, serviceberry, vine maple, hard maple, wild currant with its scarlet flowers in full bloom, blackberry vines climbing over decaying logs, and strawberry blossoms here and there struggling for supremacy with the luxuriant grass.

With this scene reproduced over and over again, as a background for 1500 picnickers celebrating a great historical event, and the air "vocal with the silvery melody of Nature's choicest songsters," not to speak of an occasional Mongolian pheasant, whose expressions of exultation seemed to proclaim his belief that he was a part of the festivities, while near by the "Beautiful Willamette," whose banks were bordered by "Spring's green witchery," was "softly calling to the sea," the visitors were enabled to appreciate what it is to be citizens of the most magnificent commonwealth in the Union.

Of all their experiences the climate and scenery of Oregon will be one of the greatest attractions and make the most lasting impression upon the thousands of eastern people who will visit the Lewis and Clark Fair next year. And climate and scenery are not to be ignored, for they contribute not only to the comfort of life, but a temperate and decent climate is one of the principal factors in a guarantee against industrial and commercial failures.—Salem Statesman.
