

Spring Medicine

There is no other season when good medicine is so much needed as in the Spring.

The blood is impure, weak and impoverished—a condition indicated by pimples and other eruptions on the face and body, by deficient vitality, loss of appetite, lack of strength, and want of animation.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Make the blood pure, vigorous and rich, create appetite, give vitality, strength and animation, and cure all eruptions. Have the whole family begin to take them today.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used in our family for some time, and always with good results. Last spring I was all run down and got a bottle of it, and as usual received great benefit." Miss BEULAH BOYCE, Stowe, Vt.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

Another Falling Out.

Sharpe—Did you catch on to them?
Wheaton—Oh, I tumbled all right.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube re-opened to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

French Auto Train.

The characteristic feature of the automobile train invented in France is the principle that each car propels itself; the propelling force only is furnished by the locomotive. The latter, therefore, as it has no pulling to perform, but only to supply power, can be built proportionately very light.

Oregon Blood Purifier is rightly named, because it purifies the blood and tones up the body.

A Terrible Discovery.

He—What? You can't go to the opera with me to-night? You promised to. She—I know, but it is impossible. "Ha! I see it all! You love another!" "Oh, no—no, indeed." "Then you have determined to trample on your own heart and marry some man for his money. Aha! You shrink! You expect him to call this evening! Perfidious!"

"Please, please don't. It is not so."
"Then why don't you go?"
"I—I can't get my new coat on over the sleeves of my new dress."

Newest Fashionable Pet.

Strange are the pets that London, "fashion" compels its followers to keep, and various as they are strange. A new Cuban poodle was the rage a few months back. A special canary follows. Now it is a fish again, and the strangest of fish at that. The goldfish will have to look to its laurels, otherwise it will most certainly be superseded in popularity by the devil fish, a most quaint-looking reptile, for which, a leading dealer states, there have been innumerable demands of late.

The real home of this fish is Mexico, and owing to its being somewhat rare the cost of a devilfish is considerably higher than that of the goldfish, which can be bought for a few pence, while the price of its rival varies from five to ten shillings. A curious characteristic of the devilfish is that it almost invariably remains at the bottom of its bowl or tank, and it is most unusual to see it swimming about. Unlike its golden-scaled relation, it does not demand a frequent change of water in its home, but will live quite well in the same water for weeks together, while its taste in the matter of food is not hard to please, for a devilfish likes nothing better than a very small worm. As a general rule London dealers sell these fish by pairs.—London Daily Mail.

A Good Story.

When Representative Morris Sheppard, of Texas, was nominated for Congress as the successor of his father, he was but 27 years old, and his opponents lost no opportunity to make capital of his youth. In joint debate, one day, one of Sheppard's opponents proceeded something like this:

"Why," he said, "it is ridiculous to think of sending a mere boy to Congress. It is a time and place where we need mature men with mature minds. It reminds me of the old darkey who thought the end of the world was at hand and who got down on his knees to pray.

"O Lord," he pleaded, 'come down and save this sinful world. And come yourself, Lord; don't send your son. This ain't no time for boys.'"

After the Tips.

"How attentive your waiters are to that ostrich," remarked the lion to the cashier of the Jungle restaurant. "I never saw monkeys so polite before."

"Yes," replied the beautiful tigress, who acted as cashier, "they were reading in the 'Jungle News' this morning that ostrich tips are very valuable."

MEETING "OLD EPHRAIM."

In an article entitled, "After Big Game in Wyoming," a writer in the Pall Mall Magazine tells of an exciting meeting between himself and a large grizzly bear. The interview was somewhat unexpected on both sides, and it lasted only a minute or two; but while it did last it occupied the undivided attention of all the participants.

I chanced to be riding ahead, says the author. "There's a bear!" whispered Jack, as a big gray head appeared over the fallen tree. What followed in the next few minutes takes longer to tell than it did to happen. As I sprang down from the saddle to shoot, an enormous grizzly of the largest kind jumped up on the trunk of the tree, behind which he had been feeding on a dead elk.

As I pulled the first trigger he sprang down, all claws, hair and teeth, and charged straight at us. The shot was a clean miss—over his back as he jumped down; and here was grizzly not thirty yards away, on a downhill run, and obviously intent on getting first blood.

The second bullet went home, right in the center of the broad, furry breast, as we afterward ascertained. He turned a complete somersault, and lighting on his feet again, came on, apparently uninjured.

My rifle was now empty, and there was no time to reload. The next few seconds were a kind of nightmare. I turned and jumped at the saddle, but my horse, seeing the bear close behind me, swerved and bolted before I could mount. Grizzly, now only a few yards away, was rising to strike with a gigantic, clawy, sinewy paw that could, with a single blow, break a buffalo's back or tear out all his ribs.

With a cold thrill down my back I also swerved and bolted up the hill for all I was ever worth in what Jack afterward described as ten-foot strides. He, meanwhile, with unloaded rifle thrown on the ground, sat on his horse fifty yards away, and emptied his six-shooter at the bear without apparent effect.

I glanced nervously over my shoulder as I ran, and then saw that the fight was done. Grizzly, obviously mortally wounded, having missed his blow, was blundering on down-hill, not knowing where he went. Even an old king of the divide, weighing a thousand pounds or so in sinewy, muscular flesh and bone, could not long withstand the effects of a half-inch expanding bullet, propelled by five drams of black powder through a good rifle barrel.

A BOYS' COOKING CLASS.

Thirty-two stalwart young men, some over six feet high, have formed themselves into a cooking class, which is probably the only institution of its kind in the world.

All of the boys belong to the Orange, N. J., high school, and the cooking class meets after school hours. Inquiries have come from England concerning it, and similar classes are to be started there. The class has been in existence over a year, and the pupils are athletic young fellows who have no idea of taking the places of cooks, but who want to shine at summer camps, where the gentler sex is not present.

Good, plain, old-fashioned fare is prepared and the dishes are made up in the most appetizing manner. Every kind of vegetable and fruit that grows in the garden, bread, biscuit, old-fashioned buckwheats, stews, roasts and soups are prepared by the boys.

The fact that the good things cooked are eaten by the chefs, sitting comfortably at a table where the lady teacher does the honors, is one of the reasons why the boys enjoy their novel lessons, and a larger number of boys than can possibly be instructed are clamoring for admission.

A Discovery.

They had been discussing the baby's ears, eyes and nose.
"And I think he's got his father's hair," said the joyful young mother.
"Oh, is that who's got it? I noticed it was missing," said the girl who knew her before she was married.—Exchange.

PE-RU-NA,

A VALUABLE PREPARATION,
WRITES DR. KEMBALL.

RACHAEL KEMBALL, M.D.
334 Virginia St., Buffalo, N.Y.

Most of the Ailments Peculiar to the Female Sex are Due to Catarrh of the Pelvic Organs.

Rachael J. Kamball, M. D., 334 Virginia St., Buffalo, N. Y., is a graduate of the University of Buffalo, class 1884, and has been in the practice of medicine in that city since then. She writes as follows:

"My conviction, supported by experience, is that Peruna is a valuable preparation for all catarrhal affections. I have taken one bottle of Peruna myself and just feel fine. I shall continue to take it."—Rachael J. Kamball, M. D.

Peruna has cured thousands of cases of female weakness. As a rule, however, before Peruna is resorted to several other remedies have been tried in vain. A great many of the patients have taken local treatment, submitted themselves to surgical operations, and taken all sorts of doctor's stuff, without any result.

The reason of so many failures is the fact that diseases peculiar to the female sex are not commonly recognized as being caused by catarrh. These organs are lined by mucous membranes. Any mucous membrane is subject to catarrh. Catarrh of one organ is exactly the same as catarrh of any other organ. What will cure catarrh of the head will also cure catarrh of the pelvic organs. Peruna cures these cases simply because it cures the catarrh.

Most of the women afflicted with pelvic diseases have no idea that their trouble is due to catarrh. The majority of the people think that catarrh is a disease confined to the head alone.

This is not true. Catarrh is liable to attack any organ of the body; throat, bronchial tubes, lungs, stomach, kidneys and especially the pelvic organs.

Many a woman has made this discovery after a long siege of useless treatment. She has made the discovery that her disease is catarrh, and that Peruna can be relied upon to cure catarrh wherever located.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Chronic Sores Eating Ulcers

A Constant Drain Upon the System.

Nothing is a source of so much trouble as an old sore or ulcer, particularly when located upon the lower extremities where the circulation is weak and sluggish. A gangrenous eating ulcer upon the leg is a frightful sight, and as the poison burrows deeper and deeper into the tissues beneath and the sore continues to spread, one can almost see the flesh melting away and feel the strength going out with the sickening discharges. Great running sores and deep offensive ulcers often develop from a simple boil, swollen gland, bruise or pimple, and are a threatening danger always, because while all such sores are not cancerous, a great many are, and this should make you suspicious of all chronic, slow-healing ulcers and sores, particularly if cancer runs in your family. Face sores are common and cause the greatest annoyance because they are so persistent and unsightly and detract so much from one's personal appearance. Middle aged and old people and those whose blood is contaminated and tainted with the germs and poison of malaria or some previous sickness, are the chief sufferers from chronic sores and ulcers. While the blood remains in an unhealthy polluted condition, and the sore will continue to grow and spread in spite of washes and salves, for the sore is the outward sign of some constitutional disorder, a bad condition of the blood and system, which local remedies cannot cure. A blood purifier and tonic is what you need—something to cleanse the blood, quicken the circulation and invigorate the constitution, and S. S. S. is just such a remedy. It counteracts and removes from the blood all the impurities and poisons, and gradually builds up the entire system; and when the blood has been purified the healing process begins and the ulcer or sore is soon entirely gone. S. S. S. contains no mineral or poisonous drugs of any description, but is guaranteed

Wheeling, W. Va., May 28, 1903.

Some years ago while at work, I fell over a truck and severely injured both of my shins. My blood became poisoned as a result, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they closed up the result would be fatal. Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying. It took only a short while for the medicine to cure up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctor intimated I would be, neither have the sores ever broken out again, and some 12 years have elapsed since what I have described occurred.
