STEWART & VANT

OUR SILETZ FRIENDS

Died—At 7 a. m., August 6, in Toledo, Mrs. Mary Reed, aged 32 years. Mrs. Reed was married in Albany, Or., in 1891 to Albert Reed. To this union has been born six children, only two of whom are living. A daughter, Miss Esther, is attending the school at Chemawa. Funeral services were held in the M. E. church in Siletz Sunday at 3 p. m., and she rests in the Siletz cemetery. Her husband, son and daughter and Mesdames Lavina Felix and Abbie John, sisters, were present. Many were the offerings of sympathy in the form of floral designs. It was a very sad occasion, as the funeral of a mother always is. The motherless children and bereaved husband and relatives have the deepest sympathy of the community.

A reception will be given Saturday evening in the parlors of the school in honor of Major J. J. McKoin's return from St. Louis. We are very much pleased, and the girls at the school are rejoicing that the lace designs sent to the St. Louis Fair were not inferior to any there. Later—Major McKoin has been detained by official business and cannot arrive until the 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. Raisinan have arrived in Siletz with a portion of their household goods and will occupy the former residence of Charles Montgomery. We are very glad to welcome these newcomers, and sincerely trust they will be pleased with their surroundings.

FLOWERS AND BLOOD.
A superstition dating from olden times exists to the effect that roses and flowers generally attain greater beauty in soil fertilized by blood, especially by human blood, than elsewhere. Persons who have visited Newmarket, England, know of the so-called "bloody flower of Newmarket," which is found nowhere else than in the old moat, now filled up, and in which, according to tradition, a very large quantity of human remains is interred. These flowers bloom in June and July and by the bloodlike hue of their blossoms suggest the name which has been given to them.

AN ANCIENT AQUEDUCT.
The ancient Roman aqueduct at Nimes is generally considered the most perfect of Roman relics. It consists of three great tiers of arches, the lowest having been used as a bridge and the uppermost as an aqueduct. It rises about 120 feet above the level of the river. The Pont du Gard, as it is called, is believed to have been built under the supervision of Agrippa, the Roman general, about fifty years before Christ.

MODESTY.
Modesty is one of the sweetest and most desirable qualities one can possess, and yet too much modesty hinders advancement. When this quality is overdeveloped it antagonizes aggressiveness, without which no great success can be attained.

FOOD AND THE FACE.
She—That new boarder who came today has a beautiful olive complexion. He—Well, after she's been here a few weeks I guess she'll have a prune complexion.—Yonkers Statesman.

HYGIENE.
Johnny—Maw's always talkin' about a hygienic diet. What is a hygienic diet? Tommy—It's any kind of diet you don't like.—Chicago Tribune.

BRIEF LESSON IN FLATTERY.
To flatter a woman tell her she is beautiful; to flatter a man tell him he is working too hard.—Philadelphia Record.

IGNORANCE IS THE PRIMARY SOURCE OF ALL MISERY AND VICE.—Cousin.
