The New York World

Thrice-a-Week Edition

Read Where'er the English Language is Spoken

The tickets are now made up and the most interesting Presidential campaign the United States has known since 1860 has begun. And is the most important too.

Which will it be, Parker and Davis or Roosevelt and Fairbanks? Nobody knows yet, but the Thrice-a-Week World will tell you promptly, fully and truthfully every movement of the hot and thrilling campaign. The real newspaper now prints facts rather than hopes, and it has always been the effort of the Thrice-a-Week World to tell the thing that has happened exactly as it happened. Thus you can judge for yourself and form your opinion.

There is also a great war going on in the East, where the World has a brilliant staff of correspondents in the field, and their reports are found regularly in the columns of the Thrice-a-Week World.

The Thrice-a-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and THE LEADER together one year for $1.75.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50

A Question of Tacks.

Any reader of this paper sending 25 cents in silver, by postal note or in one and two-cent stamps, will be sent The Daily Journal one month; or The Sunday Journal two months; or the Semi-Weekly Journal three months or the Weekly Journal four months, and in addition a match safe filled with tacks, postage prepaid. Address The Journal, Portland, Oregon.

Read the Market News in The Oregon Daily Journal

Nothing is omitted which concerns the interest of buyers and sellers in the live stock, grain, provisions, produce and financial markets—the markets are comprehensive and in every way reliable.

The Journal in addition carries every day a full and truthful report of the world's news and presents many special features of deep interest to the average reader. The Journal's woman's page, the illustrated sporting news page, the Journal stories and comic pages and other good things make it a very popular family newspaper, clean and bright from A to Z and year's end to year's end. Semi-weekly, 104 issues, one year, $1.50 Weekly, $1. The issues of the Semi-Weekly and Weekly Journal also contain the market news and all of the features of the Daily Journal. The Tramp's Taste.

Tramp (at the kitchen door)—Can you give me something to eat, lady? Lady—There's the wood pile. Tramp—I can't eat wood, lady. Lady—You can saw it, can't you? Tramp—I'd rather eat it, lady. Good morning!—Detroit Free Press.

A Woman's Tears.

A shrewd observer says that "sometimes a woman cries just to get herself petted," a circumstance which shows that there may be a method in grief as well as in madness.—Bridgeport Telegram.

Well Answered.

An American woman who had been told by a Britisher that America was deficient in antiquities and curiosities remarked, "The antiquities will come; as for our curiosities, we import them."

Holding His Own.

"Stingy, isn't he?"
"You've said it! Why, he holds fast to everything he gets his clutches on and even bolts down his diane!"

All Have Troubles.

"Everybody worries about money."
"Oh, I don't know. Some men are so rich!"
"That's just it. Poor men worry because they can't get money, and the rich man worries for fear that it will get away from him."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Their Hatred of England.
Fernand de Lesseps used to tell how a Frenchman came to his aid when he was struggling against Palmerston's opposition to the Suez canal. The man who was a total stranger, walked into his office one day and drew out of his pocket a wallet stuffed with bank notes. "Monsieur," said he, "I beg the privilege of being allowed to subscribe toward the railway of the island of Sweden." "But, monsieur," said Lesseps, "it is not a railroad; it's a canal. It's not an island, but an isthmus. It is not in Sweden, but at Suez." "I don't care what it is or where it is," said the capitalist, "so long as it worries England. Put me down, I say."

But Lesseps had little reason to make fun of this episode if the picture his own son draws of him be true. Becoming incensed at some attack made on him in the British parliament and being inadequately provided with means to express his rage, his mind suddenly reverted to his linen collar, which was of English make. He tore it from his neck, dashed it upon the floor and danced on it, all for hatred of the island it came from.

Routed by Puppets.

Toward the close of the reign of Elizabeth, when the Spaniards were frequently hovering about the southwest coast of England, a party from their ships landed in the neighborhood of where Falmouth stands today, with the intention of burning the borough of Penryn. It chanced, however, that that same evening some strollers had set up in Penryn market place a representation by puppets of certain incidents in the life of Samson, including his victory over the Philistines.

At the point of Samson's onset upon these with the jawbone of the ass the strollers beat drums and sounded trumpets indicative of an alarm, and the Spaniards, who were at that moment about to rush the town, believing it to be full of soldiers, bolted for their boats.

This probably occurred in 1595, when there was a Spanish squadron on the coast, which landed troops and burned Penzance.

Sport on the Kafue River.

A trader in ivory and rubber writes as follows of sport on the Kafue river, in Africa: "Every morning at daybreak we got up and scanned the plains with our glasses for game. Often our boys called us first to say that a herd of water buck or hartbeest was grazing in sight, especially if the camp was out of meat. The river was full of fish—barbel, bream, pike and tiger fish. The bream were by far the best eating, but the tiger fish and big barbel gave the best sport. Spoon bait, with strong pike tackle and a stiff bamboo rod, was all that was required, and, trolling behind a dugout paddled by natives, we could soon make a bag. The tiger fish fight gamely and, breaking water repeatedly, very often succeed in shaking the hook from their mouths. Barbel run up to eighty pounds weight, and a heavy one can tow a canoe along the surface at some speed."
