Printer's Ink and Merit.

It should be the ambition of every business or professional man to be "the best in town." A Salem dentist presents the idea in the following welldisplayed advertisement in the Statesman of that city:

The Dentist with the Largest Practice in the City wishes You All a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

DON'T GUESS! JUST THINK!

He's the Only One that Uses Printer's Ink!

It meens something to be the leader in a profession or to conduct the most popular mercantile establishment. Any man can get the reputation who But useless one without the other.

Oregon newspapers are devoting colsion of the Direct Primary Law. Why? If unobjectionable candidates are placed in nomination, the law will be found satisfactory to the masses; but if an objectionable candidate butts in and squeezes through with a plurality nomination, he may expect to get it where Kitty wore the beads. And that's about all there is to the Direct Primary

Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the President, will be married in February to Congressman "Nick" Longworth of Ohio. Excited by this announcement, a Baker City, Oregon, citizen proposed to take up a 10-cent collection for Alice from every citizen of the United States and thus make her a wedding present of the insignifican sum of about $800,000. Now Alice is undoubtedly a splendid specimen of the genuine American girl, but there are millions in her class who have not had the opportunity to become daughters of Presidents of the United States. What has Alice done for her country more than these? Alice has never cocked a cannon nor sent a therefore, why should she be Deweyized tamtlies have already nipped the scheme in the bud, while the Baker City idolator is getting the grin-grin from banks the wide, wide world.

DREW THEIR OWN WILLS.

Eminent Legal Lights Who Did So

Many celebrated men have neglected to settle their affairs. Ben Jonson, Dryden and Sir Isaac Newton all died intestate, Bacon Insolvent, and the epigram on Butler's monument in Westminster abbey sufficiently explains why he and many others like him never made a will:

The poet's fate is here in emblem shown. He asks for bread, and he receives a stone.

"Wills," said Lord Coke, "and the construction of them do more to perplex a man than any other, and to make a certain construction of them exceedeth jurisprudentium artem." Ar old proverb says that every man is elther a fool or a physician at forty. Sit H. Halford happening one day to quote the saying to a circle of friends, Canning humorously inquired, "Sir Henry mayn't he be both?" At any rate, experience teaches that lawyers who draw their own wills sometimes make great mistakes. Sir Samuel Romilly's will was improperly worded, Chief Baron Thompson's will became the subject of chancery proceedings, while the will of Bradley, the eminent conveyancer, was actually set aside by Lord Thurlow,-London Standard.

FOREIGN ETIQUETTE.

Some Things Harmless Here Would

Be Bad Form Abroad. There are some points of foreign etiquette which are absolutely inexplicable to the British mind, and, indeed, it is very doubtful whether the nations to which they are peculiar can themselves effer any explanation. Why, for instance, is it bad form if you visit a Frenchman in his own room to lay your hat on the bed? The fact remains that it is universally considered the worst of manners. Again, in Germany, if you are walk ing in the garden with a lady and it occurs to you to pick a flower for her acceptance, be careful to pluck also e leaf or two to make the nosegay com-

To Spite His Wife. A Parisian actor who formerly made a good income in his profession is now earning his living as a cab driver. He has taken this step to spite his divorced wife. Wherever he went she put a lien on his salary. The actor found that the only occupation in which his wife was helpless against him was cab driving, because he drew no wages and had to pay for the hire of the cab. He says he is making a good living and is quite
