Saved His Comrade's Life.

"While returning from the Grand Army Encampment at Washington City, a comrade from Elgin, Ill., was taken with cholera morbus and was in a critical condition," says Mr. J. E. Houghland, of Eldon, Iowa. "I gave him Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and believed saved his life. I have been engaged for ten years in immigration work and conducted many parties to the south and west. I always carry this remedy and have used it successfully on many occasions." Sold by O. O. Krogstad.

The surveyors for the Oregon Coast & Eastern railroad passed on south of this place Sunday. Listen, and you will soon hear the train whistle.

The sawmill is running steady now. Sounds like something doing.

There are a good many campers coming in.

Some of the boys are fishing and making pretty good catches for the commencement.

There is no teacher as yet employed to teach the school for the fall and winter term at this place.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.

When Mamim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise, instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by O. O. Krogstad.

Called Him "Lawyer."

Some time ago in a Mississippi court, a colored man sued a neighbor for damages for killing his dog, says the Minneapolis Journal.

Colonel Bland, the attorney for the defense, called Sam Parker, a colored gentleman, to the witness stand to prove the dog was a worthless cur, for whose destruction no damages should be recovered.

"Sam did you know this dog?" asked the colonel, beginning the examination of the colored man.

"Yes, sah, I wer' pussionally acquainted with that dog," answered Sam.

"Well, tell the jury what sort of a dog he was," commanded the colonel.

"He wer' a big yaller dog," was the reply.

"What was he good for," came the next question.

"Well," said Sam, "he wouldn't hunt, he wouldn't do no guard duty; he jes' lay around an' eat. Dat what make 'em call him what they did."

"Well, sir, what did they call him," pursued the attorney.

"Dey call him 'Lawyer,' sah," was the reply.

Old Chronic Sores.

As a dressing for old chronic sores there is nothing so good as Chamberlain's Salve. While it is not advisable to heal old sores entirely, they should be kept in a good condition, for which this salve is especially valuable. For sore nipples Chamberlain's Salve has no superior. A FEAT INDEED

Susie had tried the teacher's patience sorely, and when the latter looked up and saw the little girl chewing gum, with her feet sprawling into the aisle, she said,

"Susie Jones, take that gum out of your mouth and put your feet in!"

A NEW ACCOMPLISHMENT

Miss B— has been told that she possesses a willowy figure, and she often assumes poses that will display it to the best advantage. One day she was startled by the following question from her seven-year-old niece: "Aunt Sally, why do you make so many gestures with your hips?"

SISTERS IN MODERATION

Tommy is a lonely little boy who has no brothers or sisters. He is very fond of three little girls named Ethel, Maud and May. One evening his mother was listening to him say his prayers, and she was rather surprised to hear him add to his petitions: "Dear Lord, please send me an Ethel, a Maud, and a May."

After he had finished his mother tried to explain to him that they were too poor to have a large family like that. Tommy listened attentively, and then without a word flopped down on his knees again and offered up this supplementary petition:

"Dear Lord; Mother says we can't afford an Ethel and a Maud and a May, so don't send 'em in a bunch. Just send us an Ethel, and when we can afford the rest, I'll let you know."

Bowel complaint in Children.
