A Roseburg man killed his beifellow with an ax one night last week because he could not endure the latter's snoring. It may be a hard case for a jury to decide.

The Thaw, Raef and Binger Hermann trials keep the Atlantic and Pacific coasts pretty well in balance. Regardless of results, "Our Binger" must be scheduled as an Oregon attraction.

It is estimated that Americans spend $100,000,000 annually for flowers. In this item of expense Americans are entitled to a credit mark. Beautiful, fragrant posies are worth all they cost.

Headed off by Harriman.

The Portland Journal of last Friday evening tells an interesting story relative to an attempt a few months ago by the Co-operative Christian Federation to secure an option on the Corvallis & Eastern railroad with a view to transferring it to one of the transcontinental lines—presumably the Gould system. Our former citizen Wallis Nash, now of Portland, is attorney for the Federation, and in this capacity went to New York to make the deal. It was announced at the time that he had been successful, but, according to the Journal's story, Harriman stepped in quietly and made a higher bid to H. E. Huntington, the principal stockholder of the C. & E., which the latter accepted. A. B. Hammond, president of the road, was ready to close the deal with the Federation, but his agreement was apparently ignored by his associates in the company.

Hell Proper.

An illustrious American warrior is authority for the assertion that "War is hell." and there is war in the Willamette Valley—war upon San Jose scale, moss and other enemies of Oregon fruit. Hence the odor of brimstone, which is boiled in making the solution with which the trees are sprayed. No sinful soul that ever went to the lake of fire was more certain of destruction than is the hapless scale insect that falls victim to the lime-sulphur bath. If man could see this diminutive insect and understand his language as the shower of spray falls about his defenseless head, beyond a doubt the last audible despairing cry would be, "This war is hell."—Oregonian.

Tetter, Salt Rheum and Eczema.

These are diseases for which Chamberlain's Salve is especially valuable. It quickly allays the itching and smarting and soon effects a cure. Price 25 cents. For sale by O. O. Krogstad.
