"We see by our dispatches" that President Roosevelt got caught in a shower the other day, with the natural result of wet garments. Too bad! The mishap probably completes his ineligibility for "a second elective term."

President Roosevelt is credited with fathering the idea that the idle rich "ought to be knocked in the head." While the idle rich are to some extent a nuisance, it's the busy rich such as Rockefeller, Harriman et al who are the logical targets for the big stick.

A couple of Portland citizens report that they felt a slight earthquake shock in that city early Monday morning. Monday morning is the time-honored period for delusions, dark-brown tastes, inward disturbances, etc.—so we are informed. That is about the extent of Portland's earthquake.

Mrs. William McKinley, widow of President McKinley, died Sunday afternoon at her home in Canton, Ohio. An invalid for thirty years, she made a reputation for patience and cheerfulness which endeared her to thousands of acquaintances and gave her a place in the respect of the nation excelled perhaps by no other woman.

Register Eddy of the Roseburg Land Office directs attention to the fact that not all of these tracts are open to settlement and entry. Some are unsurveyed, and therefore open to settlement only; some are railroad land, some school land and some are embraced in entries made prior to the original withdrawal.

"I was, sir."

"Did you take cognizance of the bar-keeper at the time?"
