Number 27

A Lincoln County High School.

Feeling the need of a school to teach the higher branches of education above the common school 8th grade, the Directors of the Toledo school upon a vote of its patrons, last year established District High School, in which were taught the branches of the 9th and 10th grades. This school was conducted in the city hall which was fitted up temporarily for the purpose, and the work was placed in charge of Prof. J. Wilson, a prominent school worker from Monmouth. The school last year proved an unqualified success, and at the annual meeting of the school patrons this year, it was unanimously agreed to continue the work of the school and to enlarge its scope.

This year the school will be conducted in the new school building, which will be fitted up in proper shape for the work. The work of the 11th grade will be added this year, and next year the work of the 12th grade will be taken up, thus completing the course of the County High School work.

Another teacher will be employed as soon as will be necessary, and the school will be kept up to modern work. The cooperation of the teachers of the county is earnestly requested to help along this higher school work. It is the desire of the district to make this school one that will include the high school work in the county, thus furnishing a preparatory school for Lincoln county pupils without having to leave the county.

To pupils from other parts of the county that are desirous of attending school here the District board will lend its aid in securing cheap board, and the Board cordially asks and invites inquiries from any prospective pupil.

One hundred and forty tickets were sold at the local C. & E. office yesterday morning for the excursion to Corvallis and Albany. This excursion was run on account of the All Benton School Fair at Corvallis and Ringling Bros. circus at Albany. The officials of the railroad, to accommodate those going from Toledo, had a coach left here the night before. Artist George M. McBride got busy and painted two inscriptions "Toledo's in; come and see!" and "Toledo's on the Map" which were placed on each side of the coach. That's good advertising; just "As good as Hood River" can do. Toledo's baseball team went to Corvallis to play the Corvallis team. They played and here is the result: Corvallis, 4; Toledo, 3.

At a meeting of the Development League held at the City Hall last Saturday night, the preparatory steps were taken to secure government aid for dredging of the two bars on the Yaquina river, making a deep water channel from Toledo to the sea. At the proper time a memorial to Congress will be made by the lumber and other interests, showing the great importance of this work. Meantime arrangements have been made to have Senators Fulton and Bourne, and Representatives Hawley and Ellis meet with a committee of the League and the people and look over the commercial interests and the river. It is earnestly hoped that an appropriation forwarding this important work can be secured during the early part of the coming session of Congress.

C. & E. Surveyors for Detroit.

In confirmation of the report that extension work on the Corvallis & Eastern railroad will shortly begin, a party of 14 surveyors equipped with all the necessary paraphernalia for operations, left Albany this morning for Detroit and the present terminus of the C. & E. line.

This party of surveyors will commence work over the old survey made 17 years ago across the mountains and after running another preliminary survey will return over the route and permanently locate the line. The party is in charge of Surveyor Anderson of Minneapolis, who has but lately come to Oregon, to engage in the work of re-surveying this projected route over the Cascades into Central Oregon. The party which left Albany this morning was made up in Portland. Eight of the men have been waiting in the city for the past few days until the remainder of the party arrived from the metropolis. These arrived here last evening and the entire party left at once for the mountains.

Besides the surveying party which left here this morning there is another crew of surveyors already in the field who are working toward what is known as Hogg pass. A third crew is working southeast from Detroit and endeavoring to ascertain an easier grade over the summit. A fourth crew is said to have left Shaniko yesterday and is making a preliminary survey in the direction of Sisters in the foothills on the east slope of the Cascades.

The energy with which parties are being sent into the Eastern and Central Oregon country to make surveys of the possible routes, is encouraging to residents of this section as well as those living east of the Cascades. At Prineville and the adjacent section the people are said to be all excitement over the prospect that a railroad will shortly be extended into that district. They say that by the time the next season arrives they must have some means of railroad communication with the outside world that the great amount of grain stuff produced may be more easily transported to market.—Albany Herald.

One of the pleasant features of the Oregon State Fair has always been the camping life in the oak grove just outside the Fair Grounds. The number of campers annually would form a good-sized community. The tented city is marked off into streets, and lots, which are furnished free of charge, must be reserved before the fair. Albert Tozier, the "mayor" of the tented city, who has superintended this department for many years, has recently returned from an eastern trip, is making arrangements with prospective campers now. He stated that five hundred camping sites had already been spoken for. As there are accommodations for only 1200 tents all persons intending to take this delightful outing should apply to Mr. Tozier at once for space. All the sites along the two main "streets" are already taken, and little signs, announcing that "this place is reserved by Mr. _____" are seen nailed to almost every tree. There is an abundance of good water on the grounds, and a grocery store close at hand. Wagons from the Salem dealers also visit the grounds daily. There are enough stalls for the horses, although Mr. Tozier says that one stall must be made to serve for two animals, in order to accommodate everybody. Mr. Tozier also notifies the campers that they will have to buy their firewood this year. There will be persons on the grounds with wood for sale.

Boost the Colonist Rates.

Portland, Or. Aug. 26, 1907. The Portland Commercial Club once circulated 327,000 leaflets in thirty days. The Club will begin next Thursday the circulation of 400,000 somewhat similar prints in twenty days. The central feature of this leaflet, a copy of which it is desired shall accompany every letter that goes out of Portland and vicinity, is the colonist rates which begin September 1st, and continue until October 31st, and should by this time be familiar to our readers.

The National Irrigation Congress at Sacramento September 2-7, is attracting much attention. A rate of one fare for the round trip has been made from Portland and all points South, and a fare and a third into Portland from the East. Stop-over privilege, without extra cost, will be allowed for the Oregon Irrigation meeting at Grants Pass, September 10th, 11th and 12th. Governor Chamberlain is President of the National Association, and the state will send a splendid delegation.

There is great interest throughout the entire Northwest in the visit of Secretary Taft. He lands in Portland on the evening of September 5 and remains here all day the 6th. The public will be given a chance to hear him at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Armory. A rate of a fare and a third has been made from Roseburg and points North, and from Pendleton and points West.

To Better Fish Conditions.

Announcement is made by the Gold Hill Chamber of Commerce that an Anglers' Association will be organized in that city on September 14. The purpose of the organization is to better the fish conditions in Oregon waters. In its circular of information the Chamber of Commerce says:

Heretofore there has been no organization. The Master Fish Warden, has asked for needed legislation. Individuals have labored for improved laws, but there has been no concerted action. Now the deplorable state to which we have arrived demands that an organization be effected that shall ask for new laws that may be voted upon by Initiative and Referendum in June, 1908, or at the next session of the Legislature. Committees will be appointed to take charge of this work.

The following distinguished persons will be present: Governor Geo. E. Chamberlain, Hon. H. G. VanDusen, Master Fish Warden of Oregon, Hon. J. W. Baker, State Game Warden, Hon. H. L. Kelley, Jr., Supt. U. S. Fish Hatchery, Trail, Oregon, Hon. R. D. Hume, Webberburn, Oregon.

Subjects to be considered: Obstructions in streams, fish ways, net fishing, fish hatcheries, stocking of streams, game fish. All persons who can present papers upon any of the above subjects are requested to notify the secretary of the title of their paper. Other subjects will receive attention should time permit. Governor Chamberlain has appointed a committee of seven to consider the conditions at several points along Rouge River. This committee will meet with the Governor for the first time on Sept. 14, at Gold Hill.

Two delegates may be sent from each Anglers Association or Rod and Gun Club, one from each commercial body, one from each city and one may represent each County Court in the State of Oregon.
