Boost Toledo.

Toledo is situated in the commercial center of Lincoln county on Depot slough, an arm of Yaquina Bay, eight miles from the ocean. It has railroad and water transportation facilities. It is situated in a good dairy, fruit and stock-raising section, and Toledo is growing rapidly. It has two large sawmills—one running now and the other will be in operation within a few days—whose combined output will be about 80,000 feet of lumber per day. We have one of the best little towns in Oregon; we have the best climate in the world; we have the best soil, water, fish, timber, fruit and vegetables; we have good churches and schools; we have progressive, rustling business men, and we have about 600 of the most contented and happy people on earth, so why should we not toot our own horn and let others know of our good fortune in having such a thriving little town.

A great many know there is such a place as Toledo, but there are still a greater number who have never heard of such a place and we should all make an effort to "put them wise".

We offer excellent opportunities to manufacturers, dairymen, farmers and fruit-raisers, and if every citizen who is interested would contribute his share to advertising we would soon be one of the largest and most prosperous towns in Western Oregon. Let us all put our shoulder to the wheel and boost.

A Mammoth Edition.

The Oregon Daily Journal last Sunday issued a mammoth edition to commemorate the fifth anniversary of its existence. It contained 12 sections and 160 pages. It is a great story of the advancement of the whole Oregon country, profusely illustrated with half-tones. One entire page is devoted to scenes in Lincoln county. In the section describing the counties of Oregon, it says of Lincoln county:

Lumber, diversified farming, stock-raising, dairying and fruit culture are the principal industries of Lincoln county. Its land area is 1,008 square miles and its population 5,000. It has nearly seven billion feet of standing timber. Its manufacturing are valued at $100,000, farms $700,000, and farm products 200,000. It produced last year 100,000 pounds of butter and cheese, 27,000 pounds of wool and 30,000 bushels of potatoes. Grain-raising is not carried on to any great extent. Lincoln has 200,000 acres of government land open to settlement. The average price per acre of wild land is $3 and improved land $15. There are a number of resorts in the county, the chief of which is Newport, where pleasure seekers in large numbers congregate during the summer months for rest and recreation. Yaquina Bay and Alesha Bay are patronized to some extent by coasting vessels and must within a few years become busy and prosperous points. Toledo is the county seat.

Reports from every source of the heavy travel from the East to the Coast makes us wonder why Lincoln county is not making an effort to advertise and induce some of these many thousands of home-seekers to visit and locate with us. We have as many or more inducements to offer these people than any other location in the state. Why not get busy and tell them?

Think of eating mush and milk in Portland with milk 10 cents per quart—skimmed milk at that. Cream is 20 cents per pint.

While a Butte, Montana, woman was hanging clothes on a line, the ground gave way beneath her and left her hanging to the clothes line. It seems that there was an old mine underneath, the timbers of which gave way, leaving her in rather a peculiar position.

Attack of Diarrhoea Cured by One Dose of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

I was so weak from an attack of diarrhoea that I could scarcely attend to my duties, when I took a dose of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It cured me entirely and I had been taking other medicine nine days without relief. I heartily recommend this remedy as being the best to my knowledge for bowel complaints.
