The Oregon Cow.

The convention of the Oregon State Dairy Association Dec. 12th and 13 continues the most interesting subject of state-wide importance. In fact, its scope will be much wider than this state, and speakers from abroad include Professor B. D. White of Washington, D. C., connected with the Dairy Department of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry; Joseph E. Wing, of Mechanicsburg, Ohio, an address on "The dairy cow at home and abroad;" H. L. Blanchard, of Hadlock, Washington, "Practical Dairy Suggestions." Appreciating that these addresses and discussions will be equally valuable to those interested in the dairy business in Washington, since conditions surrounding this great industry are identical in the two states, the Oregon Association has extended a most cordial invitation to creamerymen and farmers from Washington to attend the convention at Portland. A butter wrapper, one of the very latest dairy appliances perfected, will be shown in the Exhibit Hall, and various dairy machines will be in actual operation with electricity as the motive power.

Though dairying is rather monopolizing public attention now, the apple growers of the state who have made such marvelous showings in their respective sections at the fruit fairs, and who later received such flattering comment through window displays in Portland's store windows, are planning an even greater success by combining next year in an event to be known as an "All Oregon Apple Show." They want to get in training for the great race at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition in 1909.

Oregon people are thoroughly aroused by the great prize offer made by the Portland Commercial Club for articles on this state printed in papers outside of the Pacific Northwest, and are working to earn a share of the $5,000 in gold which is to be distributed in a series of eighty prizes, every one of which is worth the winning. The first is a small fortune in itself, $1,000; the second is $500 and from that they range down to $10. The very large number of prizes mean correspondingly liberal chances for contestants. There is no entrance fee, no red tape. The contest closes Dec. 31, 1907. Paper or other regular publication containing the competing article must be submitted in full.

A Home Made Happy by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

About two months ago our baby girl had measles which settled on her lungs and at last resulted in a severe attack of bronchitis. We had two doctors but no relief was obtained. Everybody thought she would die. I went to eight different stores to find a certain remedy which had been recommended to me and failed to get it. When one of the storekeepers insisted that I try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did so and our baby is alive and well today. (Geo. W. Spence, Holly Springs, N. C. For sale by O. O. Krogstad.

A large number of foreigners, especially Italians of the laboring classes are leaving this country and returning to their homes across the sea. Each one is taking from $500 to $1000 with him and it will be a long time before any of that money finds its way back here. If there was a duty of $100 a head placed on all foreigners landing in this country it would help out the money shortage and benefit the laboring man very much.—Forest Grove Times.

Again we are in receipt of a communication for publication which we cannot publish. As much as the article meets with our approval and we think would be sanctioned by nearly if not all of our readers, it must go to the waste basket because the author's name is withheld from us. The rich who give monkey dinners and buy counts and dukes for their daughters to play with—why don't they put their money in banks to keep them from failing? Why appeal to the poor masses to come to their rescue? The rich splurge on the money the many poor put in the banks. But for that many of them would have to do some honest work.—North Yamhill Record.

Ripe strawberries, blooming roses and other midsummer luxuries are a few of the nice things the people of Lincoln county are still enjoying. While the citizens of the eastern states are shivering around the stoves wading through snow, and hauling out grain and hay to their stock, the Lincoln county farmer is picking his apples, plowing, etc., never stopping for a moment to think this is winter. His stock is not eating the feed he put in the barn last summer, because they do not require it, there is plenty of good grass yet. He will probably feed his stock one or two months in the late winter or early in the spring. The eastern farmer works all summer to put up feed enough to winter his stock, then works all winter feeding it out, consequently he is busy the whole year. Why don't they come to Lincoln county and enjoy life.
