lies in keeping the skin protected as well as cleansed. Just washing is not enough—that only leaves the delicate surface more exposed to the irritation of dust and germs; to merciless attacks of sun and weather. After washing, apply Robertine and experience its delightful refreshment. You will admire the line-less softness it imparts to face, neck and arms. It not only stimulates a radiant glow, but protects the skin from becoming coarse. Prevents burning, tan and freckles.

Anti-Treating.

Sixty five men of Kelso have formed a society whose object is to discourage "treating." These men pledge themselves to buy their own "drinks" and their own cigars, and agree that they "will not treat any person or persons to any cigars, liquors, soda, lemonade or any other beverage," nor will they allow others to "treat" them. This applies every where except when entertaining guests in their own homes, and except as applicable to "lady friends" as the agreement calls them.

It is a good scheme and one to be commended. Not only is it a measure of economy, but it is, of course, a step towards temperance. Drinking begins in association.

Unasked, not one young man in a hundred would drink. The thought of entering a saloon and imbibing liquor would never enter his head. With most men, drinking is much like eating olives, an acquired taste. Few there are, if any, who have a natural craving for liquor. In others the liking is latent, and something never to be developed, doubtless, except by the importunities of associates. The man who goes out by himself on a lonely "spree" is a rarity. Drinking is founded on association, and in America intemperance is based on "treating." If this practice could be eliminated, one cannot doubt that temperance would gain.

The society at Kelso has excluded "lady friends," by which, we suppose, it means women, from its agreement. In the West that can be safely done. In the East, if the reports of Chicago ministers be reliable, it could not be. Still, it is usually wise to except women from almost everything. She generally has her own way, and if she wants mere man to "treat," he's going to do it.—Tacoma News.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Safe Medicine for Children.

In buying a cough medicine for children, never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it, and relief is always sure to follow. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and there is no better medicine in the world for these diseases. It is not only a certain cure for croup, but, when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this medicine is given as directed. It contains no opium or other harmful drugs, and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by O. O. Krogstad.

The Oregonian is taking up the question of homicides in Oregon, which appear to be on the increase, and alarmingly so. Well what's the use, anyway to bother arresting the murders, putting the taxpayers to a lot of expense in trying the cases, when juries acquit murderers on the plea of insanity and the governor turns them loose if they happen to get into the penitentiary? That is the rotten system that is in vogue, and how long the people will stand it we do not know. Probably not before other citizens have been shot down or murdered in cold blood and the murderers are acquitted or paroled.—Tillamook Headlight.

Bad Stomach Trouble Cured.

Having been sick for the past two years with a bad stomach trouble, a friend gave me a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They did me so much good that I bought a bottle of them and have used twelve bottles in all. Today I am well of a bad stomach trouble.—MRS. JOHN LOWE, Cooper, Maine. These tablets are for sale by O. O. Krogstad.

The Albany Brewing company will go out of business the first of the year. J. W. Hobbs of Eugene, deputy internal revenue collector was here yesterday to cancel stamps on beer already put into kegs and barrels. In making reimbursements to the government he has to destroy the contents of the barrels and kegs. Just how much will be turned loose is not known, but it is evident the sewers of Albany will be strongly impregnated with the odor and flavor of beer for some time.—Albany Herald.

Notice to Road Districts.

The County Court will at its January 1908, term appoint a road supervisor for each road district and it is earnestly requested that the voters of each district meet and recommend some suitable person for such appointment. When petitions are filed with the Court asking for appointment of more than one person in a district, the one having the largest number of signers will be appointed. By request of the County Court. The poet's lip curled scornfully. "But this isn't blank verse," he explained. "Blank verse has no rhyme in it, whereas here rhyme is rife, 'Mirky-turkey,' 'pumpkin-bumpkin,' 'frolic-colic'—don't you see?" The editor, however, still insisted upon declining the manuscript. "I called it blank verse," he said to spare your feelings. It was a much stronger word, really, that I had in mind.—Louisville Courier Journal.
