The Expert's Report.

On pages 4 and 5 of this issue will be found the complete report of W. H. Moore, the expert accountant engaged by the County Court to expert the books of the county officials of this county. The report, as will be seen, is complete in every detail. It speaks well for the financial management of the county. The outstanding warrants of the county has been decreased from $47753.95 on October 1, 1904, to $38170.10 on November 15, 1907. Should all the unpaid taxes be paid Lincoln county would be out of debt by several thousand dollars.

The offices of the Clerk and Sheriff have paid the county in fees and other collections more than is required to pay the salaries of those officers. We doubt that there is another county in the state whose offices will make so good a showing.

Waldport Items.

It has been some time since your paper has received a letter from here.

Our town has improved quite a lot in the last eight or ten months, and there is still more talk of improvement.

Ernest Everson intends building a new house. When completed he expects to follow in the steps of R. P. Goin.

The new shingle mill is almost completed. They will soon be turning out shingles for shipment.

The Oregonian claims that a seagoing boat cannot come into Alesha Bay. If so, how does S. Elmore get his fish out? The last trip of the Eve, she came in on low water and the Captain reported plenty of water.

The Waldport band took an excursion up the river last Sunday, and had a pleasant trip, and the music was appreciated by the settlers along the river. They give a dance every Saturday night, and furnish their own music. They will give a masquerade ball the 14th of February. They have a full band of 19 pieces. The cost of the instruments is close to $1000. They are fine set of instruments, and we are in hopes that the rest of the towns of Lincoln county will follow suit. Mr. William Keady is the instructor. He has made fine progress and the boys are working hard.

Walter Dodge has returned from a business trip to California. He intends to take up dairying and stock raising on a ranch up the river.

Mrs. Gault has returned from Toledo, where she suffered quite a sick spell. We are glad to see the old lady back again looking so well.

Coria Smith has a fine real estate office under way.

Walter says he does not have to go across the bay to see his intended.

In the matter of incorporation a petition is being circulated and almost every voter is signing it.

Dr. Minthorn makes his regular weekly trips. His services are much appreciated.
