The Fourth at Toledo.

A large crowd from all the nearby towns and from nearly every locality in the county helped Toledo celebrate the Fourth. It was one of the best celebrations ever held in the county, the rougher element usually so conspicuous on this occasion was not here, everybody was here for a good time and from all appearances they had it.

The program as arranged was carried out to the letter. The forenoon was devoted to exercises at the grove in the east end of town. Judge B. F. Swope delivered the address and as usual held his reputation as an eloquent, patriotic speaker. Otto O. Krogstad read the Declaration of Independence, and songs and music composed the exercises.

The afternoon was devoted to sports, beginning with a ball game between Elk City and Siletz teams. It was a hard game, Elk City winning in a score of 4 to 1. Next came the races of all sorts.

A good display of fireworks on the hill near the City Hall and a dance in Woodmen Hall at night concluded the celebration.

Special mention is due the Toledo band who furnished excellent music during the day. The boys were assisted by Billy Ford and other musicians from neighboring towns.

Elk City 3; Corvallis 4.

Corvallis baseball team came over to Elk City last Sunday and in a hard contested game defeated the Elk City boys by a score of 4 to 3. The launch Grace took a large crowd of fans to witness the game.

Do Toledo people want mail on the noon train? Newport is now getting that service and it seems that Toledo can have the same for the asking. It's up to us. The noon service would be a through mail transferred to the C. & E. trains from the Southern Pacific. It would be a convenience to our people to get our outside mail several hours sooner.

Sam Center night watchman at the Altree Sawmill, became ill Sunday morning early and started to walk home. After walking but a short distance he became faint and sat down beside the track and fell to sleep. By his failing to reach home for breakfast his son Newt started for the mill to ascertain the cause, and on finding his father lying near the track supposed he was dead. A few moments afterward Mr. Center awoke and was assisted home. Mr. Center is afflicted with stomach trouble and those sudden sick spells are not uncommon, although not usually so severe.
