Arrested for Bootlegging.

J. J. Matuly, a special agent of the Government, has been in this vicinity the past week investigating the whiskey business.

Saturday he arrested Wm. Porter and George W. Cox of Siletz on the charge of introducing whiskey on the Siletz Reservation.

Wednesday evening Deputy U. S. Marshal W. B. Griffith arrived from Portland, and a hearing was had before United States Commissioner C. H. Gardner. Cox was found not guilty, and Porter waived examination and was bound over to the Federal Grand Jury with bond fixed at $1000. Attorney C. E. Hawkins appeared for the defendants.

The facts in the case are: Mr. Porter and Mr. Cox are neighbors residing on the Siletz above the Agency about 15 miles. Cox resides on a homestead. They came to Toledo for groceries and other supplies. Among the supplies they wanted liquor, and as this town is dry, Mr. Porter went to Newport and purchased whiskey for himself and whiskey brandy and alcohol for Mr. Cox. He brought it to Toledo and Cox boxed his liquor with his groceries and had it hauled to Siletz by Porter. On the road just this side of Siletz Porter was met by Mr. Matuly who found Porters jug of whiskey. He arrested Porter and drove him on to Siletz where a search was made and Mr. Cox's liquor was found. All of Cox's liquor except a quart of alcohol was destroyed.

Several other arrests will probably be made.

Toledo kicked off to Yaquina, Cronise returning the punt, and Yaquina getting possession of the ball on Toledo's 10 yard line. By heavy line smashes through left guard and tackle, Emmerick, was sent over the line for a touch down in the first two minutes of play. Cronise kicked goal. Cronise made a successful attempt at a drop kick for goal from Toledo's 30 yard line, making the score 10-0 at the end of the first half. During the last half neither side scored, most of the playing being in the center of the field.

Cronise and Emmerick played the game for Yaquina, Cronise punting and tackling and Emmerick's carrying the ball being features of the game.

For Toledo Goodell at full back and Weber at left half played good football. Toledo's lack of team work and weak interference were responsible for their being unable to score. Considering the fact that this was their first game and that they had never been together to practice, it is regarded that the boys made a good showing.

Following is the line up:

TOLEDO	YAQUINA
Newton-Hoefflein	e Pruet
Goodell	fb Bump
Robbins	q Cronise
Weber-Hawkins	lhb Emmerick
Ofstedahl	rhb Hoefflein
