

By Our Formula

We produce in Hood's Sarsaparilla a medicine that has an unapproached record of cures of Scrofula, eczema, eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism, anemia, nervousness, that tired feeling, loss of appetite, etc.

The combination and proportions of the more than twenty different remedial agents contained in Hood's Sarsaparilla are known only to ourselves, so there can be no substitute.

This medicine makes healthy and strong the "Little Soldiers" in your blood,—those corpuscles that fight the disease germs constantly attacking you.

The Professor.

The professor was writing something in a small notebook.

"Making an addition to my visiting list," he explained to the doctor.

"Your visiting list?" queried the other.

"Yes; this is a record of the close calls I have had in dodging automobiles."

Not Her Affair, but—

The grocer's boy was lumbering up the kitchen stairway with his arms full of packages.

"Boy," said the mistress of the house, somewhat sharply, "are your feet clean?"

"Yes'm," he answered, still climbing the stairs. "It's only me shoes that's dirty."

Home Tonic for Old People.

Wonderful results, eventually restoring full physical vigor, are obtained from the following: To one-half pint good whiskey add one ounce syrup sarsaparilla and one ounce Toris compound, which can be procured from any druggist. Take in teaspoonful doses before each meal and before retiring.

Pollen Travels Far.

The pollen from the pine forests often forms a yellow coating on lakes or on the ocean, as far as 200 miles from the shore, and has been mistaken by peasants for showers of sulphur. The pollen grains of the pine are provided with yellow vesicles, which buoy them up in the air very much on the principle of a box kite.

Stiff neck! Doesn't amount to much, but mighty disagreeable. You've no idea how quickly a little Hamlin's Wizard Oil will lubricate the cords and make you comfortable again.

No Trouble About That.

The druggist's clerk handed him his porous plaster.

"You want to read the directions carefully," he said, "so as to know what to do when you're ready to take it off."

"I never take 'em off," answered Mr. Wipedunks. "I always wear the things till they drop off."—Chicago Tribune.

GIRL GROWS UP LIKE MAGGIE

Had Remained a Child for 23 Years, When Awakening Began.

That there is one Peter Pan the less in real life is due to the striking success of an experiment made by a London physician in the case of Mildred Hart, 23 years old, a Devonshire girl, who never grew up. In this instance the arrested development attracted much attention, a dispatch to the New York Times says.

A couple of months ago this young woman, when the treatment began, was to all intents and purposes a dull, backward child hardly thirty-three inches in height, with lanky, scanty, dry hair, a bulky forehead, a broad flat nose and pale complexion. She sat all day, even in summer, shivering before an open fire. Her limbs, hands and feet were cold and harsh to the touch. The anterior fontanelle or soft spot on the head, which in a baby becomes closed in the first few months of life, could still be felt. She was uninterested and unobservant, and could speak only three or four words. Her teeth were the teeth of childhood. Her appetite was very poor, and frequently she took no more than half a pint of liquid food a day. Treatment was begun two months ago, twelve grains of thyroid extract being administered each night.

Her condition now, after two months' treatment, is as follows: In height she has increased more than two and one-half inches. Her skin, which was harsh and dry, is now moist, warm and natural. Her nose has taken on a more natural shape and her dull expression has been literally lost. Her hair, which was scanty and dry, is growing fast and has a more natural appearance. She has cut several fresh teeth, and her lack of appetite, which used to be a source of worry, has been replaced by constant hunger.

The most wonderful change, however, is her mental condition. She has acquired a most extraordinary loquacity. It seems as if she had been listening and storing up words from babyhood. She could not possibly have learned her present relative vast vocabulary in the last few weeks. She evidently knew the words before, but was unable to reproduce them until the thyroid extract stimulated her into activity and developed her hitherto latent powers of speech. The slight increase in weight which has taken place in two months shows what hunger her system must have had for the hitherto missing thyroid secretion.

If the ordinary individual takes the extract of thyroid, he rapidly loses weight, since the slightest excess in this peculiar substance causes a rapid breaking down of the tissues of the body. In this case, however, twelve grains taken daily did not make an excess, but only supplied the amount that nature had been craving for years.

Advice to Smokers.

Here are a number of don'ts for smokers, some of which no doubt will surprise a good many men: Don't smoke directly after a meal. There is the most irresistible craving to smoke, but it is wiser to wait a half hour or an hour. Don't smoke out of doors in a high wind or in cold, frosty weather. In the former case it is dangerous, and in the latter it cracks the lips and prevents proper breathing. Don't smoke with the cigar or pipe held at the corner of the mouth. This excites the secretion of more saliva than when the cigar or pipe is held straight in front. And, above all, don't get in the bad habit of expectorating frequently when smoking. It is quite unnecessary and merely a habit and harmful.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Behind the Times.

Four artillerymen were looking around the picture gallery in the Metropolitan museum the other day, but they did not seem particularly interested. When they got to Meissonier's "Friedland—1807" two of them, one a sergeant, paused for a second look. The sergeant went close to the canvas and gazed intently at the Old Guard in the background.

"Those guys are carrying old-fashioned Springfield rifles," was the only comment he made.—New York Sun.

Instantaneous Relief for Croup.

Croup can be cured in one minute, and the remedy is simply alum and sugar. The way to accomplish the deed is to take a knife or grater and shave off in small particles about a teaspoonful of alum; then mix with twice the amount of sugar to make it palatable, and administer it as soon as possible.

Polite in Extremity.

The courteous self-control of the well-trained boy is pathetically illustrated by a story from Punch:

Mother—Oh, Bobby, you naughty boy you've been smoking! Poor darling, do you feel very bad?

Bobby (who has been well brought up)—Thank you, I'm dying.

It is considered a breach of manners to answer a friend's letter under a week. A business letter should be answered by the next mail; a love letter, never.
