Ona

And still it rains! We would greatly appreciate a glimpse of "Old Sol" once more. If the rain continues a few days more the remainder of the hay crop in this vicinity will be completely destroyed. The farmers who succeeded in getting their hay in the barns before the rain are to be congratulated.

Mrs. Wolfenburger and little son, of Hillsboro, are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Commons of this place.

Born—July 25, 1909, to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Twombly, a son. The mother is in a critical condition. Dr. Minthorn of Newport is attending her.

The following program was rendered by the Ryan school Friday afternoon.

Walter Weber went to Toledo the first of the week and purchased a team. Upon reaching home Mr. Weber saddled and mounted one of the horses, he was scarcely in the saddle when the animal began to plunge and rear finally landing upon her back, injuring Mr. Weber about the head. Mr. Weber has quite recovered and declares his intention of teaching the fractious horse better manners in the future.

Ambrose Cook returned Tuesday from Portland. Mr. Cook and his father H. H. Cook went to Portland to purchase new machinery for their sawmill on Elkhorn Creek. The Ona country has long felt the need of a sawmill, as the distance makes the hauling of lumber from Alsea or Yaquina Bay very difficult and expensive.

J. L. Rexford was at Ona on business the first of the week.

Mr. Covert came in from Dallas to harvest the hay on his ranch on North Beaver. Mr. Covert will move his family onto the ranch sometime in August.

Harlan

We are having some more of Oregon's gentle mist. The hay that was cut is mostly in the barn and we have more cut ready for the rain but that is all right it is making prize gardens and juicy fruit.

The Big Elk and Little Elk teams played ball Sunday to the tune of 21 to 3 in favor of Little Elk. Big Elk you will have to practice up and get your team together when you play ball.

Miss May Cook was up to see the Big Elk boys scalped.

Miss Althea Brown also was over from Drift Creek to see the game.

Most every one in the neighborhood turned out to yell for the boys but they didn't have their best batlers so had to go down to defeat.

Tom Kelly and Dudley Hadden have come back from Fall creek. Mr. Hadden is on his way home to Lin county.

Art Ramsdell was up from Elk

City to help the Little Elk boys out. He played behind the bat and is a very good catcher.

Buyers of real estate seem to be plentiful but their hasn't been any more deals made yet. Mr. Stoner and Mr. Mowrer have had buyers looking over their places but haven't come to terms yet.

Frank Davis is moving out. He has rented the Wiley Norton place in Blodgett Valley. He is going into the dairy business.

The bears and cats are killing lambs and kids in this section since the good dogs are gone, so you see you never miss the water until the well runs dry.

Waldport.

Dr. J. B. Olmsted and party enjoyed a trip to the Yachats last Sunday although the rain prevented part of the sport. The doctor got too close to the waves and received a good drenching.

A number of Portland boys have been in camp near Keady's. They are John Rathjen, Harry, Everett, George and Eldon Trogen and James King. They enjoyed their outing and only returned home when necessary to report again for work.

Work on the Olmsted residence is progressing favorably and the doctor is planning another building to be commenced just as soon as the present one is finished. He will go to Portland sometime soon to purchase water pipe to be laid in the new additions.

Tuesday's Commercial Club program was a lively one. Mr. Jerro favored us with a number of instrumental and vocal selections and Dr. Olmsted gave us another of his interesting talks on public improvements. The club paper was read by Prof. Earl Brown. A sidewalk committee was appointed and $55 was raised by subscription for building additional walks.

Mr. C. F. Fisher and family, of Portland, arrived Saturday evening. They came in a large touring car over the Alsea route. They spent nearly a month in the Alsea Valley and will be in Waldport three or four weeks. They report a very enjoyable trip and up to date have not been compelled to ask for any assistance whatever over the mountain roads.

C. R. Evens returned Sunday from a trip to Toledo. As soon as Dick reached the sandspit a mile from town the lookout reported that Evens was coming with fire in his eye. Those who ventured to approach learned that Dick had been "fleeced" while in Toledo and had not been able to locate his false teeth which he had carefully placed on the window sill upon retiring. He thought they had fallen out of the window and been carried off by a dog who would probably not know how to properly feed the teeth. Dick had been home some time and the teeth had missed seven meals when Dick's wife discovered them in his vest pocket.

A. L. Finley and wife, of Portland, returned home the 22nd.

Mrs. Ella Watt, of Salem, has been spending a short vacation in Waldport.

Thirteen is an unlucky number but it represents the lots sold by the Realty Company last week.

Dr. W. H. Cooley of Salem, has purchased a lot near the school house and will build during September.

Thirteen new members were initiated into the Artisan Lodge Monday evening and there is another class for Saturday night.

Prof. B. J. Hawthorn, of Seal Rocks, was up to his homestead near Canal creek last week.

Squire Farrar, of Salem, who is occupying his cottage at Seal Rocks for the summer was a Waldport visitor last week.

Mrs. C. E. Linton offered the Artisans the use of her goat for the initiatory exercises Monday evening but the class was too big for one goat.

L. V. Colvin returned Friday from a business trip to Toledo where he secured an agency for the Ferro Marine engines.

C. D. Wilson, of Chitwood, paid us another visit last week and secured a number of additional views for his post card work.

Dr. C. E. Linton was called to the Yachats Thursday to attend a woman who was accidentally shot in the foot. He reports that the wound was not serious.

Joseph Jerro, of Portland, has been delighting the Artisan lodge with some very pretty music on his accordion. Mr. Jerro also has a good voice and his songs were appreciated.

The Band furnished the music for the dance Saturday and as was expected there was a large crowd in attendance. The dance broke up promptly at twelve o'clock.

Kernville

Mr. Martin of Wilimina is looking over our county. He thinks everything looks much greener than in the Valley—he can't mean the people—see?

Mrs. Miller is in from Portland looking after her interests. She will take her team, buggy and two cows back with her. She says Lincoln is the best place yet.

There are a lot of campers coming to enjoy the cool ocean breeze.

Jesse Farrin has changed his mind and concluded that he can find no better place than here, so will build a house and settle down and be a first class farmer, he says you ought to see his farm and what he can raise there. Look out for him and some of his produce at the fair this fall.

Henry Koshlib and Chas Larson have built some fine boats, the one built for Mr. Stone will take the prize.

G. S. Parmele and sons are building a barn 42 x 64 it will hold one hundred tons of hay. Ask them why they are building such a big barn. They will say, we have to have the room to hold the hay. Last year they built a barn that holds twenty tons.

We all join in sending our congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Hayden on the arrival of the Editor Hayden Jr. May he be blest with health and remain long in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynd are among us again. Their home is near Portland and they came in in a one horse, rubber tired buggy. That speaks well for our road.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne are here from Toledo, visiting her son and wife Mr. and Mrs. Nelse Andersen, also calling on old friends who are glad to welcome them back. Mr. Payne is having a lot of improvements made on his farm in the way of building and clearing.

The old gentleman Tharpe who bought the Depoe Charley land at the foot of Devils Lake, has it laid off in town lots and will soon start building the town. Good!

Mrs. Stouk and son have come in and are talking of building a small house, bungalow fashion.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone made Mr. and Mrs. Brigent a visit.

Mrs. Stephen is recovering slowly. Merchants Bones and Parmele, are still hauling in supplies. Parmele's team brought another load from Newport this week.

Otis

P. S. Wheeler is in from Fall City to harvest his hay on land leased of H. T. Curl.

John Muir, Jr., is home again. He has traded off that high-strung pony for a gentle little gray.

L. M. Oviatt of Sheridan is visiting with his son, B. E. Oviatt, and J. T. Dickens.

The ball game between Otis and 7-9 Sunday was in favor of Otis by a score of 7 to 16. A game is arranged between the same teams on the old Upper Salmon River diamond at the upper end of Long Prairie.

It is reported that Dr. Davenport and Mr. West have desolved partnership in the dairy business.

The game between Otis and Grand Ronde is not yet settled for the 25th.

Mrs. B. E. Oviatt is laid up with the measles, and is under the care of her mother, Mrs. S. J. Dickens.

F. S. Murray is cutting his tide hay on land leased of William Dick.

L. J. Bobb is cutting and raking hay for John Baxter.

Messrs. Dickens, Royse and Oviatt have their grass hay all in the shock.

Peter Bobb was down to Parmele's sawmill this week and got a new hay rack built.

Billie Bowers accidentally killed their pet lamb with a hammer, while trying to drive it out of the garden.

Mose Killam has moved back on his place on the hill which had been leased for a number of years to A. S. Thompson.

Mrs. Miller came in to her ranch from Portland this week.

Messrs. Dicks and Bob are hauling hay off Dick's tide land.

Three Kinds of Success.

There are three kinds of success for a Fair and Festival.

The first when two men meet after the result of the enterprise is known and one says to the other, "Was it a success?" and the friend replies, "Oh yes, I suppose so—it all went off pretty well." We all know that kind of "success" spells failure.

Another kind of success is when the answer comes "Well, pretty well, on the whole—some things did first rate, but people did not take much stock in the others, and there wasn't much interest taken beforehand to get ready." That sort of success is first cousin to failure for that kind of game isn't worth the candle.

The third sort of success is recorded in this fashion. "Well, it was good all round. The folks were fairly surprised to see what had been got together. The stock was fine, the fruit and vegetables were just surprising, and, as for the people the wonder was where they all came from. The youngsters had a fine time, and there were all kinds of fun with the shows and games.

Which of these three kinds of success is to wait on our Lincoln County Fair and Festival depends simply and solely on the people of the county themselves. Associations may be got together. Executive and other committees may do their very best, sparing neither time nor money. Money may be subscribed, and every paper in Oregon may display our advertisements. But unless everybody in Lincoln County takes it up as his own or her own interest, neither the pleasure nor the profit to us all will result. The best kind of success awaits us when we all pull together and only so. We all know what came of it when the feast was prepared, but as for the guests that were bidden they all, with one consent, began to make excuse.
