A Good Reason.

"The man you see over yonder gets awfully on my nerves."

"Why?"

"He's my dentist."—Baltimore American.

Giving Dad Away.

"Kid, what does yer dad work at fur a livin'?"

"He don't work at nothin'. He's a p'liceman at one o' the railroad deepos."—Chicago Tribune.

Discriminating Comment.

"Does your representative in Congress entertain much?"

"No," answered the caustic constituent. "He doesn't entertain. He only amuses."—Washington Star.

Vaguely Understood It.

Sunday School Teacher—Clarence, do you know the meaning of the word "amen?"

Little Clarence—Yes'm. It means "ring off."

One View of It.

"Pa!"

"Well?"

"What is conscience?"

"A thing that we always believe ought to bother the other fellow."—Cleveland Leader.

False Pretenses.

Mrs. Hyup—I was so disappointed in Dr. Pullem!

Mrs. Hyer—In what respect?

Mrs. Hyup—I understood he was a great bridge whist expert, but he was only a dentist.—Puck

SOMETHING FOR EVERYBODY

A sash is the engagement present of the Japanese lover.

The pedigree of some Arab horses may be traced back for 2,000 years.

For short spurts, the salmon is the fastest swimmer of the fish tribe.

The best piece of fur in the world is in the cloak of the Empress of Russia. It is worth $80,000.

Phonographic records of eminent actors are used in the Viennese schools in teaching declamation.

With accommodations for 500 persons, a huge ale store at Burton-on-Trent, England, is being made into a skating rink.

Cimarron is the latest town to contract the slogan habit. The one chosen is: "Simmer on, Cimarron."—Kansas City Star.

Felled at Amersham, near Harrow, England, a walnut tree measured twenty-four feet round, weighed ten tons and the trunk realized $245.

The United States annually exports more wheat, including wheat flour, than any other country in the world—146,000,000 out of 646,000,000 bushels.

The Mexican government has completed arrangements with the Krupps to establish a plant for the manufacture of Mauser bullets, smokeless powder and gun cotton.

As a laborer the Japanese has ceased to figure in the future of Mexican industry. It is believed the policy of the Japanese government, announced some time ago, of forbidding the emigration of the laborer of that country to Mexico will be continued for many years to come and that the administration of the policy will be such as to render the embargo absolutely effective.—Mexican Herald.

An Atchison man thinks he is entitled to the Carnegie hero medal. His daughter, a princess, had company in the parlor; the young man was her heart's desire, worked in a bank and always wore good clothes. But the father walked boldly into the room and sat down, and he had on his barn clothes, too. His daughter gave him such a look of scorn it stopped his watch, but he stayed anyway.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

The Times enters a protest against the present method Groton takes with tramps. At present they are given a loaf of bread and can of salmon or piece of cheese and directed to the lockup, where they find the door open to receive them. They build a fire, make themselves at home and go whenever they like. If this continues Groton will be the tramps' headquarters and the village at their mercy.—Groton (Vt.) Times.

The great controversy which now agitates South Norwalk, Conn., over the question whether a lobster swims forward or backward recalls the famous definition of a lobster in a certain French dictionary—"a red fish which swims backward." Six words, containing three gross errors. It is to be hoped that the contestants of South Norwalk will not refer to that dictionary as an authority for settlement of their dispute.—New York Tribune.

When Andrew Carnegie offered to build seventy-eight libraries for New York City on condition that the city would provide the sites and books, it was estimated that the municipality would not have to spend more than $2,000,000 to carry out its part of the contract. Controller Metz recently reported that the city has as yet only secured fifty-five sites and in purchasing these has overrun the original estimate. He figures that by the time the city gets the remaining sites the cost will be $3,387,535.

It has recently been discovered that the leaves of the fern plant, which grows almost anywhere, is an excellent preservative for packing articles of food, fruit and even meat. It is said that on the Isle of Man fresh herrings are packed in ferns and arrive on the market in as fresh a condition as when they were shipped. A number of experiments have demonstrated that potatoes packed in ferns keep many months longer than those packed in straw. In fact potatoes packed in fern leaves are as fresh in the springtime as when they were first dug in the fall.—Eternal Progress.

Famous poets make interesting wills. Browning's was written in his own beautiful hand, with the initials of all the nouns substantive in capitals, after the olden use, and the attesting witnesses were "A. Tennyson" and "F. T. Palgrave." Matthew Arnold's, also referred to, was remarkable for its brevity. A baker's dozen of words were deemed enough: "I leave everything of which I die possessed to my wife, Frances Lucy." This, however, because no executor was appointed, had to be set aside for letters of administration; but the result was the same. These two famous wills form, with Shakespeare's, the most notable trio perhaps ever handled by probate in this country.—London Chronicle.

Solving the Milk Problem.

"We're thinking of keeping a cow," said Mrs. Lapsling. "A neighbor of ours has a big vacant lot where we can pasteurize her."

Didn't Look It.

Upgardson (at the party)—Who is that gloomy looking fellow talking to the hostess?

Atom—That's the leader of the famous Joyville Clee Club. I thought you knew him.

That Earthquake.

"O, George!" exclaimed Mrs. Ferguson, wildly, "do you think it disturbed the foundations of the house?"

"I'm sure of it, Laura," yawned George, only half awke. "I could feel the bed rock."

Benches.

First Thespian (as they trudged wearily along)—I've had meh share of hard luck, but, by Jupiter, I've never yet been in the poorhouse!

Second Thespian—Well, I have. Zounds! I've played to many a one!"

Looking Where He Was Going.

"So the mule kicked you, Sam?"

"Yas, sah; good an' hard, sah."

"But why did you turn your back to the animal, Sam?"

"I wanted t' see where he was sending me, boss!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Hardened.

"Doesn't it seem strange that Mr. Roosevelt suffers from none of the pestilential influences that surround him in equatorial Africa?"

"Not at all. For seven or eight years before he went there he was thrown into almost constant association with politicians, and his system became immune."

Cheap Riding.

Uncle Zeke (back from the city)—You talk about cheap ridin'! I rode twenty miles on a street k'yar, an' all it cost me was a nickel.

Uncle Jed—Gosh! That ain't nothin'. When I was thar last year I rode to the top of the tallest buildin' in town an' it didn't cost me a blamed cent!—Chicago Tribune

A Pleasant Surprise.

"She married the old fellow for his money and he hasn't got any."

"Wasn't she dreadfully disappointed?"

"Not a bit. She's got it."—Baltimore American.

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup the best remedy to use for their children during the teething period.

Reward of Duplicity.

"Tommy, do you know where little boys go that tell lies?"

"You bet I do! That's the way most of 'em get to go to the ball games."

Well, from $200 Down.

Wifey—I do really need a spring bonnet.

Hubby—How much?

Wifey—Well, I could get one for from $10 up.

Hubby—I'd rather know from how much "down."

His Exasperating Way.

Mrs. Kawler—Your husband has such a calm, even temper.

Mrs. Crossway—Yes; but when we have a slight difference of opinion about something or other he can say: "Well, dear, we won't quarrel over a little thing like that," in such a calm, even, superior, maddening sort of way that I just want to fight him!

It is a mother's duty to keep constantly on hand some reliable remedy for use in case of sudden accident or mishap to the children. Hamlins Wizard Oil can be depended upon for just such emergencies.
